AEC Backs Long-Range Plan, Cause of Current Dispute

BY FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy believes U S atomic know-how is moving ahead so rapidly that before long it will be dollar-foolish to build surface warships with fuel oil engines rather than nuclear power plants

It is supported by the Atomic Energy Commission which in effect touched off the current dispute between the Defense Department and the Navy

Many months ago, it was learned AEC Chairman Glenn Seaborg suggested to Secretary of Defense Robert S McNamara that nuclear power costs were coming down and that the Pentagon should give thought to wider application fo atomic power to surface vessels

Navy Has Strong Backing

The Navy may have lost the first battle—but with powerful backing on Capitol Hill it may yet win the war

Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth s abrupt resignation announced Monday appears the tipoff that McNamara probably will deny the Navy permission to install nuclear engines in a new aircraft carrier for which Congress last year voted $280 million

The Navy is not talking about the studies it made to support its bid for the new carrier and beyond that for all future warships heavier than 8,000 tons

Lost Major Factor

But certain members of Congress are aware of the Navy findings, and the matter may come out on the public record if hearings are held

Cost is a pivotal factor both on the issue of the carriers future as a weapon either conventionally or atomic-powered and the longer range matter of building warships of various kinds with nuclear power plants

The United States some years ago made a start on a nuclear surface fleet but the Pentagon changed direction when costs began getting out of hand The 85,000-ton Enterprise world's first and only nuclear carrier ran up a bill of $474 million

Encouraging Progress

But Seaborg reported to McNamara that technological progress had been so marked that four nuclear engines installed in the new carrier could furnish

Heart Ailment Causes Death Of Adm. Kirk

Naval Hero of 40 Years Also Served In Diplomatic Posts

NEW YORK (AP) — Adm Alan G Kirk 74, a naval hero who spent 40 years in military service and then went on to high diplomatic assignments, died today in Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center

Kirk

Kirk entered the hospital Sept 1 for treatment of a heart ailment

He resigned last April as ambassador to Nationalist China because of ill health He had held the post for almost a year

Served in Russia

He later served three years as ambassador to Russia and for a brief period as director of the countrys Psychological Strategy Board

Kirk left a distinguished and action-packed naval career when he began his diplomatic assignments

When Allied soldiers stormed into Sicily in 1943, Kirk led a task force that landed a division in less than half the scheduled time and without the loss of a single ship

In the invasion of France on June 6, 1944 Kirk commanded the huge U S Naval task force that landed Allied troops and supported them by bombarding enemy installations on the Normany beaches

For his part in the invasion of Sicily Kirk was invested as honorary Knight Commander of the Bath and received the U S Legion of Merit

Other honors which he held included the Army Distinguished Service Medal and the French Legion of Honor

Probers Told of Mafia Terrorism In Florida Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate probers heard testimony today of Mafia terrorism in central Florida s gay playland — killing and racketeering too carefully managed by a national crime syndicate for any local police force to crush

Police Chief Neil G Brown of Tampa told the Senate Investigations subcommittee there have been 23 gangland slayings" in the Tampa area since 1928, only one of them solved

Brown said the killings show "how the Mafia uses murder to discipline its membership, to revenge itself against violators of its code and to otherwise eliminate opposition to its criminal activities and goals" and how difficult it is to get witnesses to talk

Of 145 homicides other than gang killings between 1958 and the end of 1962, he said, only four remain unsolved, and every homicide in the 1960-62 period has been solved

Brown appealed for federal help for the police of all states and cities in the war on organized crime in which, he said there are too many frustrations now

Moroccan Tanks, Planes, Artillery Reported to Cross Border by 60 Miles

ALGIERS (AP) Algiers Radio claimed today that Algerian forces have recaptured two desert outposts taken by Moroccan troops Monday

The Algerians said Moroccan troops supported by tanks planes and heavy artillery swept up to 60 miles over the border Monday in the area of outposts

The Algerian government never officially admitted that the two places fell to the Moroc

radio announcer said in a triumphant voice

Our forces have cleared the invader from Hassi Beida and Tinfouch

The broadcast said the Moroccan forces were bringing in heavy reinforcements It also said that some of the Moroccan troops were airlifted to the fighting area in planes piloted by American airmen members of a U S military training detachment with the Royal Moroccan Air Force

The clash occurred in an area 300 miles across the Atlas Mountains from Marrakech Morocco where Mrs John F Kennedy is visiting this week U S Ambassador John H Ferguson indicated in Marrakech that the border clash would not curtail Mrs Kennedy s stay which is to last until Wednesday or Thursday

Tank, Plane Attack

The Algerians said that bitter fighting continued throughout Monday but Moroccan authorities in Rabat said that all fighting ended after their troops occupied the two outposts early in the day The Moroccans said there were no casualties

The Algerians claimed their forces still held both places despite a tank onslaught and strafing and bombing from Moroccan planes They did not mention any casualties

Foreign Minister Abdelaziz Bouteflika of Algeria told a news conference that Algerian forces were poised to launch a counter attack to drive out the invaders

The order to attack will not be given Bouteflika said until all efforts to reach a negotiated settlement have failed

In a radio speech from Marrakech King Hassan II said Morocco is experiencing grave events that it neither sought nor wanted but it would defend its dignity and the integrity of its frontiers

Heller Urges Quick Reduction in Taxes

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A tax cut now might avert a recession next year President Kennedy's chief economics adviser said today

Walter W Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said the proposed $11 billion tax slash wouldn't absolutely rule out a recession, but it should be equal to the task

Heller in a prepared speech to the Civic Alliance of Milwaukee, said the proposed tax cut will create two-to-three million extra jobs, and more than $30 billion to the gross annual product, and add as much as $7-to-$8 billion to corporate tax profits before taxes

Protest Telegram Sent by Democratic Committee Member

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 00 yearly income would get a cut of $202

administrations $1 billion tax cut bill ran into rough going before the Senate Finance Committee today

Before Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon could even begin his plea for quick action, two Democratic senators protested what they said were intimidation and pressure tactics in behalf of the bill

Sen Albert Gore, D-Tenn, said a telegram sent out by an official of the Democratic National Committee might even be an effort to purge him

Chairman Harry F Byrd, D-Va , said that "recent public statement" which he did not further describe "have the characteristics of pressure propaganda" and were highly unfair to his committee

Gore and Byrd are opposed to the bill

Demands Testimony

Gore demanded that Keel be asked to testify, and said he should be subpoenaed if he did not appear voluntarily Byrd said this seemed to be a reasonable request

Gore read from one of the telegrams received in what he described as a mountain county in Tennessee he said the recipient, whose name he withheld, was told that the tax cut was vital to the 17,496 residents of the county because it would mean an average tax cut of $436 for each family

Gore said many families in the county would not get any such thing The treasury department has estimated that an average family of four with a $10,-

Keel confirmed yesterday that such telegrams were being sent out over the country but said 'we re certainly not trying to intimidate anybody"

Denies Undue Delay

Byrd read a prepared statement denying charges of "undue delay" which he said had been made against his committee

He said 'the facts are' that it took the administration 30 months to draft its tax program after President Kennedy first notified congress it was in the works, and that it took the house eight months to act on it

Surely, he said his committee is entitled to spend some

Probers Try to Learn Cause of Helicopter Crash

NEW YORK (AP) — Investigators probed the burned wreckage of a twin-engine helicopter today seeking to determine why it crashed, killing all six aboard

The 10-ton Boeing Vertol 107 had just lifted off Monday for a seven-minute flight from Idlewild Airport to the East River heliport at the foot of Wall Street in Manhattan when it exploded about 100 feet in the air

It was the first fatal crash in the 10 years that New York Airways has been shuttling passengers between metropolitan airports

Chancellor's Farewell

Germany Needs Help From Abroad For Reunity, Adenauer Asserts

BY CARL HARTMAN

BONN Germany (AP)—Konrad Adenauer bade farewell to the West German Parliament as chancellor today saying his dream of a reunited Germany is possible only with the help of friends abroad

It was a solemn hour for the man who had been West Germany s only chancellor in the 14 years of rebuilding from the ruins of World War II In dark coat and striped trousers he listened soberly to praise from Eugen Gerstenmaier, president of the Bundestag

Thanks of People

'Today, Gerstenmaier concluded "the German Bundestag rises to you Mr Federal Chancellor to announce thankfully to the German people

"Konrad Adenauer has learned the gratitude of the Fatherland"

The Bundestag president read a short letter from President Heinrich Luebke, accepting the resignation of the 87 year old chancellor

Then Adenauer spoke of the dream that never was realized the reunion of West Germany with Communist - ruled East Germany

A solution is not possible between ourselves and our opponents alone' he said but only with the help of our friends and thank God we have friends in the world again"

By opponents, he meant the Russians, who still occupy East Germany and have set up a Communist regime for its 17 million inhabitants

Adenauer said that reunification could be seen on the horizon if Germans are watchful, cautious and patient

"I am convinced that it will come," Adenauer said, "because unity cannot be denied to a people like the Germans when they want to create it in peace"

Adenauer has one more day in office He will remain as acting chancellor until the Bundestag elects Ludwig Erhard the vice chancellor

In a talk with reporters Monday Adenauer had disclosed he felt the goal of reuniting Germany had been set back by warming relations between the United States and the Soviet Union

But in his speech to the Bundestag Adenauer emphasized that it is only friendship with the United States and other countries that gives Germans the right to expect that their country will one day be reunified

Adenauer could look back on his 14 years as Germany's first and only postwar chancellor as an era of raising Germany from the ruins of World War II to a democratic nation of prosperity and military might allied with the West

Kennedy Endorses Hat Observance

President All for Head Gear But Wears Topper Only Rarely

BY ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is National Hat Week, and hat lovers are throwing their soft felts, their sombreros and their high silks joyfully into the air.

For the National Hat Council reported today that Allan Webb, a hat salesman and a close friend of John F. Kennedy since their wartime PT-boat days, has gotten this presidential endorsement. "A man is not well dressed without a hat."

This may sound like a dubious victory, since President Kennedy rarely is seen wearing a hat, although keen observers occasionally spot him carrying one.

But a man from the council said reassuringly: "Kennedy wears a hat more than you might imagine."

And here he produced a picture of Kennedy, well hatted and well dressed. Unfortunately, the caption showed that the picture was taken while Kennedy was President-elect, which is quite a way back for celebrating National Hat Week 1963. But you can't be off with his predecessors.

If the council is on uncertain ground with Kennedy, it is better off with his predecessors.

Pictures show Dwight D. Eisenhower beaming broadly from underneath a broadrimmed hat. . . Harry S. Truman with a light colored semi-Western hat . . . Herbert Hoover wearing a hat almost jauntily . . . Franklin D. Roosevelt waving his hat gaily.

Indeed a hat was almost an FDR trademark, and the one he wore in his first campaign, sweat stained and battered, was later sold for $3,200 at a Hollywood benefit.

One thing seems clear from the old photographs. When campaigning, hats are great for waving purposes.

The poet, Carl Sandburg, has some excellent advice on hats. "Politicians should always have three hats handy at all times," Sandburg said. "One for throwing into the ring, another for talking through, and a third for pulling rabbits out of if elected."

Art Objects Bring in $400,000 at Auction

LONDON (AP) — Gold snuff boxes, portrait miniatures and other small objects of art from the collection of the late Rene Fribourg of New York brought $398,124 at Sotheby's Monday at the opening of the autumn season.

It was the fourth lot of the Fribourg collection to be sold here. The other three lots were auctioned in June for $1,823,752.

Olson Tells Aide He Expects to Run for Lieutenant Governor

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Lt. Gov. Jack B. Olson, who last week withdrew from the race for the Republican nomination for governor, is expected to seek reelection.

David B. Stearns of Whitefish Bay, Milwaukee area spokesman for the Olson forces, said that Olson had definitely indicated to him that he would run for lieutenant governor again. Olson is expected to seek the Republican Party endorsement and the GOP nomination, Stearns said. This means that the GOP probably will have a spirited contest for the endorsement for lieutenant governor. Republican assemblyman Robert D. Haase of Marinette has announced his candidacy and indicated he would stay in the race, regardless of Olson's plans.

Required Instruction Of Teen Drivers Hit

BY J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Over the weekend the National Education Association came out against the practice of state legislatures requiring high schools to provide driver training.

At first glance, this looked something like opposing good manners, good sportsmanship or good health.

It wasn't at all. The NEA, an organization of teachers and school administrators, has no objection to boys and girls learning how to drive safely.

What happened was this: An NEA-sponsored report said the role of the legislatures is to set forth general goals and provide financial support. It said decisions on what to teach should be left as much as possible to local school faculties.

An NEA spokesman said the recommendation was adopted because some state laws require courses on such things as communism and state history and several states require high schools to provide driver training.

Fewer Accidents

The American Automobile Association, which has pioneered in the work, reports that youngsters who have had driver training have fewer accidents and traffic law violations than those who haven't had it.

The Automotive Safety Foundation puts it this way:

"High school driver education offers a tested opportunity to improve the bad accident record of the teen-ager. The program is on a plateau and needs aggressive support so that more youngsters in more schools can have the benefit of training.

"The under-20 group has about 6,400 accidents a day at an estimated cost of about $1 billion a year.

42 Per Cent Enrolled

"They account for only 7.1 per cent of the licensed drivers but 6,600 of them were involved in 13.2 per cent of the fatal accidents in 1962."

Last year about 3.1 million young people reached driving age. Of these, 1.31 million, or 42 per cent, were enrolled in driver education courses. The percentage has been about the same since 1955.

As the nation's population increases so will the number of drivers. However, the number of young drivers will increase more rapidly than those in other age groups.

It's a sobering thought to anyone who witnesses wild driving by young people, or has to pay the extra-high insurance rates that such driving demands.

Chicago Carpenter Fined $4,665 for Not Paying Traffic Tickets

CHICAGO (AP)—A carpenter was fined $4,665 Monday for failing to pay for 235 parking tickets he received in 1960 and 1961.

Frank Saraceno, 32, told Judge Casimir V. Cwiklinski in Traffic Court that he didn't know the tickets had been issued against him until he was brought to court. He was unable to explain how this happened.

Saraceno said he would make a down payment of $200 on the fine, and would devote 50 per cent of his income every month to paying off the remainder. His income was not disclosed.

His attorney told the court Saraceno had sold his automobile and "at this point it doesn't seem economical to own a car."

Today's Etiquette

WANTS HEELLESS SHOES

Dear Louise: Would it be permissible for me to wear flats with my wedding gown? I am as tall as my fiance and if my shoes have heels, I will tower over him. I don't want to look taller in our wedding pictures either. I am also concerned about my going away outfit. I would have to wear shoes with heels and if I wear flats with my gown, people would notice the discrepancy in height.

Davis

Louise Davis Answers:

I hesitate to advise flats with your wedding gown unless you can learn to walk as though you have heels. Perhaps you will settle for dressy shoes with low, shaped heels. I doubt that you would look taller than your bridegroom in the photographs. Try yourselves before a mirror a few days ahead and if your height still bothers you, I'm sure that when the pictures are snapped you can bend your knees just a little. I suggest that you get low heeled shoes for your going away outfit. Then your height will be consistent. During your quick getaway, I don't think anyone will be looking at your shoes. An alternative would be for your bridegroom to wear "elevator" shoes.

Miss Weber Guest of Honor At Showers

Miss Marian Lynn Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weber, 1125 N. Plateau St., has been guest of honor at several pre-nuptial showers. She will become the bride of Robert W. Ferrel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Ferrel, 250 River Drive, Saturday.

A luncheon and miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. L. S. Zeh and Mrs. Larry Ryan Aug. 31 at Mrs. Zeh's home, 715 W. Verbrick St.

Miss Weber was honored at a miscellaneous shower Oct. 18 at the home of Mrs. William Schleisner, 2323 E. Wisconsin Road. Miss Judy Larson acted as hostess for a personal shower Oct. 2. The party was held at Miss Larson's Madison apartment.

Mrs. James Zoelk and Mrs. Richard Miller were co-hostesses for a miscellaneous shower Oct. 6 at the home of Mrs. Zoelk, 421 S. John St., Kimberly.

Your Problems

Ann Produces Solution to Card Signature Problems

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I believe in planning ahead. We are now arguing about Christmas cards.

Landers

All the years we have been married we've had our cards printed with my name appearing first. Example: "Greetings from Dorothy and Dick." My husband says it's time I gave him top-billing for a change and have the cards read, "Greetings from Dick and Dorothy."

I was under the impression that the woman's name is supposed to appear first as a matter of etiquette. Dick says I am wrong about this and it's just a matter of which way you want to do it. Will you please settle the argument in a hurry? — Tired of Fighting

Dear Tired: I do hope these words reach you in time. There are only 84 days left until Christmas.

On printed cards the woman's name should appear first. Since your husband would like his name to appear first for a change (big deal) you could please him by hand-signing the cards. It is correct for the person who signs for himself and another person to place the other person's name first.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A certain woman who works in this office hates me because I have a terrific figure and I eat anything I want while she starves herself to death and looks like a Mack truck.

This woman is always trying to put me in hot water with the office manager. If I am five minutes late in the morning she reports me. If I overstay my coffee break three minutes she reports me. Last night I left ten minutes early because the weather was threatening and I had a chance to ride home with a friend. I received a needle about it the first thing this morning.

My work is top-notch and I'm twice as fast and three times as efficient as any girl in this office. I'm not pinning any medals on myself, Ann, but I just happen to be an excellent typist. How should I deal with the trouble-maker? — Victim of Jealousy

Dear Victim: If you are twice as fast and three times as efficient as any girl in the office two minutes here and five minutes there will not put you in hot water.

Defang the informer by reporting to the office manager any of your irregularities before she gets the chance

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 16-year-old girl who is being pestered to death by a creep who won't give up. To make matters worse my mother thinks this boy is great.

Last week when he called I was not at home. He asked my mother if I had a date for Friday night. She suggested he call me back the next day. I've told her a dozen times not to give him any encouragement. She should have told the pest that I did have a date for Friday. The next day when he called I had to accept because mom had put me on the spot.

I don't enjoy this boy's company. He is so sweet and attentive he makes me sick. He embarrasses me by bringing gifts. I want to get rid of him for keeps but I don't know how. Help! Please!—Pixie Face

Dear Face: Girls who write and ask how to get rid of a fellow don't really want to.

It's flattering to be sought after (even by a creep) so you give him that "go away closer" routine. A girl who wants to be left alone does not accept gifts from a boy nor does she go out with him and blame her mother. "No" is one of the shortest, and most effective words in the English language. You ought to try it some time, Babe.

The Ailing House

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: Last year we had our carport enclosed with wood siding to match the rest of the house siding. Now knots in the new siding are showing as dark spots through the white paint. How can we remedy this condition?

A: The knots were probably not properly sealed before the siding was painted, to prevent "bleeding" through. Remove the paint over the dark spots, and apply a special knot-sealing preparation available at most paint dealers. Or apply a coat of aluminum paint or shellac to prevent future bleeding through. Then touch up with high quality white house paint. Easiest remedy is of course to postpone the knot-treatment until repainting the house.

Q: We want to brighten our fireplace and would like to paint the mortar between the stones. What kind of paint should we use?

A: Use a cement paint, coming in powder form to be mixed with water. Be sure all trace of wax, grease, soot, etc. is removed from the surface before applying the paint and follow manufacturer's label directions carefully.

Continued Education, Skills Stressed in President's Report

Continuing education for all adult women, to improve their knowledge and skills and to prepare them for new endeavors, was given highest priority by the President's Commission on the Status of Women. Education must be recognized as a lifelong process, not just "something for the young," the Commission declared

Four million adult women in the United States have less than 5 years' schooling and are inadequately prepared both to work and to help their children meet daily problems

More than 11½ million adult women have started but failed to finish high school

Completion of high school would qualify women for skilled jobs, but less than half of all women 25 and over are high school graduates

According to Need

Opportunities for adults should be available, said the Commission, for education from the elementary school level through graduate college work. They should be accessible, diversified, comprehensive, and flexible They should:

meet the needs of the woam who can't read;

meet the needs of the college-trained woman working in new frontiers of arts or science;

retrain the woman who lost her job because of automation; refurbish the skills of the woman who, after a full-time stint with home and children, wants to return to employment: or train mature women who wish to enter paid work.

Responsible counseling should both support continuing opportunities for education at whatever point formal schooling ended and provide guidance to the eight in ten women who enter paid employment at some time during their lives.

Single women are likely to work most of their lives.

Many young widows and married women from low - income families work out of the home even when they have young children.

In 1963, over 50 per cent of all women aged 45-54 had paid jobs.

Many a woman takes the first job offered, whether or not it challenges her capabilities. Realistic vocational training would encourage her to seek the most rewarding job for which she is prepared.

Women of minority groups need training for the technical, clerical and manual opportunities in fields just opening to them.

Foresight Needed

The married woman, during the years when she is likely to be a full - time homemaker, should be preparing for interesting and constructive use of her time and talents during the 30 years she is likely to live after age 40

New opportunities for continuing education are currently being provided by community colleges (now being founded at the rate of 1 every 2 weeks); restyled correspondence courses and programed learning for study at home; educational programs broadcast by commercial and educational television stations; and secondary school vocational and technical courses. Colleges and universities must become more flexible as to admission requirements for mature women.

The Commission stressed the need for improvement in the quality of early education for both boys and girls, recommending financial aid by local, State and Federal governments to improve facilities, teacher training, teacher salaries, curricula, teaching methods, counseling and vocational programs at primary, secondary and college levels, and expansion, in numbers and scope, of private and public scholarship and loan programs.

Lacking Degrees

More young women than young men stay in school through high school; it is at the college level that women fall behind. Only 47 per cent of 1962's college fresmen were women. Women today earn only one in three of all bachelor's and master's degrees, only one in 10 of the doctorates—a decline from the 30s when four of 10 BAs and MAs and one of seven PhDs went to women.

Too little is known about why some girls go on for more education while others quit school A Federal program should survey, summarize and publicize research and information about women's education.

Women provide most of the time and attention given modern family life; at various times in their lives, girls and women of all economic backgrounds should learn about physical and mental health, child care and development, and family relationships.

Women should have opportunity for education about sex and human reproduction. Within the context of family responsibilities, courses in home management should be broadened beyond the study of nutrition, textiles and clothing, housing and furnishings to include handling family finances, wise buying of consumer goods, rewarding use of leisure time, and the place of the individual and family in the community.

Timing is particularly important in teaching such subjects: they become relevant when they answer a felt need. When a high school student is looking forward to early marriage, or becomes responsible for the care of younger children or for spending some of the family income, the time is right for education for economic and social responsibilities of homemaking.

COUNSELING SECTION

Competent counseling, important to both men and women in reaching decisions among varying and widening choices, is particularly useful to women whose life patterns are apt to include discontinuties.

Long before their high school years, skilled and imaginative counseling can encourage girls to raise their asperations beyond stereotypes of "women's interests" and guide them to satisfying choices. Able girls of low-income families where parental pressure for education is lacking, as well as capable daughters of families able to finance higher education but indifferent to its advantages, can be motivated to seek additional education. Adroit counseling can also help Negro girls and women gain confidence and become informed about marketable skills and newly opening job opportunities.

Counselers Assist

Women just entering the work force as well as those displaced from jobs by automation or other economic changes, women looking for parttime work either out of the home or at home, and women returning to work after an interval of concentrated homemaking can gain from the advice of skilled counselors. Guidance toward rewarding leisure activities can benefit the employed woman who is retiring and the women whose children have grown.

Skilled counseling is exceptionally valuable to girls who must quit school to assume responsibility either in the home from which they come or in homes of their own, and school age girls who drop out of school because of pregnancy. For them, as well as for wives in families disrupted by separation or desertion, counseling can mean the difference between deterioration or rehabilitation.

Need More Training

The Commission supports the expanded counseling facilities urged by the President's Committee on Youth Employment and the Panel of Consultant's on Vocational Education: few counselors have undergone supervised training in counseling women; present day counseling in general is inadequate.

Directories of existing community and state vocational and educational counseling facilities and information about jobs, specially written for particular age groups, can call attention to changing requirements for employment and to opportunities for intellectual development and maintenance of skills.

Eighteen months of study by a 26-member commission culminated in the report of the Commission on the Status of Women presented to President Kennedy at a White House ceremony Thursday. Participating in the Commission were representatives of broadly varied occupations, religious affiliations and regions of the country. During the formative period of work, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt served as chairman. After her death activities were carried out by Dr. Richard A. Lester, Princeton University, vice chairman, and Assistant Secretary of Labor, Esther Peterson, executive vice chairman.

The results and recommendations of the Commission will be covered in a series throughout the week.

A Lovelier You

Dieting Made Easy

In the recent past, dieting was a pretty uncomfortable experience. A reducer not only had to cut calories, but also had to cut out a good many foods, usually her favorites. So she could satisfy neither her hunger nor her taste buds.

Happily, a diet can now be both easy and delicious to follow, owing mainly to the development of low-calorie packaged foods. Actually their number has tripled over the last few years. Their diversity has been increased, too, and caters to sophisticated palates with such delicacies as chicken ala king, Newburg sauce and black-raspberry jelly.

If you are a would-be-reducer or merely a weight - watcher, you would be "pound foolish" not to make the most of dieters' foods. They are flavorsome and nutritionally sound. Partaking of them, you are deprived of nothing except calories.

Another point in favor of these products is that they lend themselves to variations. Some can be used as substitutes for high-calorie ingredients in recipes. To give just two examples:

For an excellent facsimile of chicken Tetrazini, mix cooked spaghetti (thin) and low - cal chicken ala king; sprinkle with parmesan and bake until brown. As a glaze for vegetables and ham, brush on low-cal apple jelly.

Only be on the alert, and you will find dozens of dieters' foods and dozens of more ways to use them. You will diet, like it and lose!

EAT all you want. Only 39 calories in a whole cupful!

SO GOOD ... SO MANY WAYS!

Decorate Dining Area With Appeal

If you're going to repaint the dining area in your home, don't overlook appetite appeal when you choose the color.

Psychologically, certain colors enchance the enjoyment of of food. Peach and yellow-green are two such extremes — the first, "good enough to eat," the second, quite "distasteful."

Among light colors, the most appetite-enhancing hues are peach, orange, red-orange, clear yellow, and pale green. Blue is fairly satisfactory, but mostly as an effective background for the display of edible products.

Variations among yellow produce the most radical opinions. Goldenrod yellow seems "rancid" to some people; lemon yellow appears more or less "horrid." Yellow-green tints are least desirable of all.

Deep Colors

As to deep colors, brown and tan seem best related to foods. Deep yellow, with a mustard or olive cast, is decidedly undesirable. Deep green and blue are relatively appealing, although dark colors generally are not as appetizing as light ones. Grays and blacks should be avoided — too dismal.

Good easy-spreading interior wall paints are available in a broad color range to suit any taste. But, if you have a special color problem, you can get custom-mixed colors at many paint stores.

Defense Can Bring Out Trump

A bid in an opponent's suit is usually a force to game. In one typical situation it tells your partner not to pass until you have had time to describe your hand. In today's hand, for example, North wants to show his diamonds and hear about South's distribution before choosing a game contract.

Opening lead — ♣ 4

The outcome of the delicate auction was a very reasonable game contract. South would probably make four spades every day of the week and twice on Sunday, except against inspired defense.

East wins the first trick with the king of clubs and continues with the ace. West plays the nine of clubs at the second trick, thus making it clear that he started with three clubs to the queen.

There doesn't seem to be any further nourishment in clubs, but East can see very little hope in any other suit. South surely has the ace of hearts and the king of spades for his bidding, and even if he lacks the king of diamonds he will be able to take a finesse to avoid the loss of a diamond trick.

The only chance is to promote a trump trick for West. For this purpose West has to be given a chance to over-ruff South.

East leads a third club, and South shrewdly ruffs in his own hand. It would be fatal to waste one of dummy's trump honors.

South leads a trump, and East must refuse the first trump trick. East takes the next trump and leads a fourth round of clubs.

Now South cannot shut out the 10 of spades. If South ruffs low, West over-ruffs; and if South ruffs with the king, West's 10 of spades becomes the master trump.

Daily Question

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player bids two spades. You hold: S A 4, H J 10; D 9 4 3, C A K J 7 6 5. What do you say?

Answer: Bid three no trump. Partner probably has the queen of clubs and can win a spade and six clubs in your hand. He needs very little else for game.

Deductions for State Taxes May Go in '64

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Many state, local and foreign taxes which millions of us have been accustomed to deducting on our income tax returns as itemized personal expenses will no longer be deductible beginning in 1964, if the House - passed tax bill becomes law

Porter

This list of nondeductible taxes would include

State gasoline taxes, state or local cigarette taxes, state or local alcoholic beverage taxes, motor vehicle license plates, driver's license fees, poll taxes, admission taxes, occupancy taxes, and transfer taxes.

You still could continue to take itemized personal deductions for sales taxes, real property taxes, state and local income taxes and personal property taxes. But the bill would bar deductions for foreign sales or foreign personal property taxes starting next year.

Stock Up Now

Also any of the taxes which would be eliminated as your personal deductions next year under the bill still would be deductible taxes if paid on connection with your business operation or the production of income.

What might you do in advance of 1964 to limit the impact of these changes on your income tax? Since the taxes I listed above may become nondeductible as personal expenses next year, you might put in a supply of cigarettes and beverages this year while the taxes are still deductible.

Or if you are planning to buy license plates or expecting to get a driver's license in the next few months, you might time your moves so that you'll get the deductions in 1963. If you wait until 1964, these items are likely to become nondeductible.

Under the 1963 tax bill, itemized personal deductions for casualty losses would be hit too.

The casualty loss deduction would not be knocked out entirely as the taxes listed above would be. But the casualty loss deduction would be restricted by allowing the loss for each casualty to be deductible only to the extent that it exceeds $100 for that casualty. In brief, the bill would require you to waste the first $100 of each casualty as a tax deduction.

Again, the new $100 deductible rule would apply to your itemized personal deductions but no tto casualty losses connected with your business or the production of income.

On personal casualty loss deductions, the $100 deductible rule would apply to each casualty, not to each item damaged or destroyed. Say a bad storm simultaneously caused uninsured damage of $500 to your house, $200 to your garage and $400 to your personal property and car — a total of $1,100. You could deduct $1,000 as a casualty loss. Only one $100 would be wasted because all the damages resulted from one casualty.

$100 Floor

The $100 floor would apply to each individual, but a married person filing a joint return would be treated as one person with his wife. Thus, if property which you and your wife own jointly is damaged to the extent of $500 by a casualty, you could deduct $400 on your joint income tax return. If you filed separate returns though you could deduct a total of only $300 because the $500 damage would become a $250 loss for each of you and that loss would be cut by $100 for each of you.

If you use your car half for business and half for pleasure and suffer a $90 casualty damage in an accident in 1964, the new rule would permit you to deduct half, or $45, as a casualty loss. This is the half allocable to business use of your car. The $45 allocable to the half personal use of your car would be nondeductible under the proposed rule.

Obviously, not all of the 1963 tax bill is designed to create new tax breaks for us or to cut our tax rates.

Parents' World

12-Year-Old Should Have Time to Relax and Work

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Eve Jones: My 12-year-old son's teacher is giving his class a lot of homework this year. He makes good grades and he manages to get his schoolwork done. But it doesn't leave him enough time to have a chance to take it easy with his friends and also help at home.

Jones

My husband and I are arguing about which he should give up. I say it's more important for a boy to have some relaxation with his friends, and my husband says that it's more important for a boy his age to take some responsibility at home. What do you think?

MRS. H. G.

It's important that your son have enough time to relax by himself and with his friends and also take care of his school and home responsibilities. With about six hours to spend each day after school before he goes to bed, your son should be able to manage all this—assuming, of course, that both you and his teacher are being reasonable in what you expect of him. Chores on school days should be limited to things like doing the dishes so that he doesn't need more than a half hour to get his jobs done. And two hours on homework should be enough if he has good study habits.

Help him set up a rough schedule and remind him when it's time for him to do his work.

Dear Eve Jones: Whenever my daughter isn't with her friends or doing her homework or her regular chores, she's sewing. For a girl of 13, she has remarkable talent.

She can cut out a pattern when she comes home from school and have a finished skirt to wear to school the next day. And last summer she helped me make new curtains and slipcovers for the entire house.

I don't see what's wrong with letting her do as much sewing as she likes. I think it's better for her than watching TV. She makes good grades and her teachers like her, and she has some very nice friends. She knows some boys, but none of her friends date and neither does she.

But my son who's in college said that this has become an obsession and I should do something to stop her. Even if I should, I don't know how to. What's your opinion?

MRS. B. U.

You probably don't need to worry about her sewing unless she's using it to avoid meeting other reasonable responsibilities and challenges. And it doesn't sound as if that's happening right now.

By the way, your son should re-study some of his psychology. If this were some kind of disturbance, it would be called a compulsion, not an obsession.

Overwhelming Approval Given Outagamie Airport

Supervisors Vote 44-11 on $1,143,648 Greenville Job; Work to Begin in 48 Hours

BY DICK LYNEIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Outagamie County supervisors this morning gave overwhelming approval to contracts for construction of a new county airport in the Town of Greenville. The roll call vote was 44 to 11.

By its action, the county board approved contracts of $802,496 to Fox Valley Construction Co. for general construction, $132,238 for Azco, Inc. for plumbing, and $118,914.27 to Langstadt's Inc. for electrical work.

Supv. Mark Catlin, airport committee chairman, told the county board, "Grading can begin within 48 hours."

Save $473,000

Catlin, while appealing for the votes which allows construction to begin, said the bids represent a savings of $472,000 on the original estimates by Ralph H. Burke, Inc., Park Ridge, Ill. consulting engineers, who prepared the airport plans.

Catlin stressed that, by approving the contracts, the construction work will allow the county to build a replacement airport for the present facility at Ballard Road and Northland Avenue.

He said the county has approval from every public authority to go ahead with this stage of construction.

Site Is Best

Catlin made a reference to the long-standing feud between Winnebago and Outagamie counties as to which airport should be declared the regional "feeder" airport for North Central Airlines service.

"It is my firm opinion," he said, "that we have the best available site in the entire area for a regional airport, from as far south as Fond du Lac to north of Green Bay. Nowhere is there a better physical site.

"What is to be a regional airport in the feeder system? Your guess is as good as mine. The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) hearings to determine this have been purely investigative in nature. No regional airport, in fact, exists today.

"We have consistently maintained the position that commercial airline service can be maintained both at the Oshkosh (Winnebago County) and at the Appleton (Outagamie County) airports. Airport service is essential to both communities, but we have established that this area is far superior in total airport demand for services.

"Oshkosh could never adequately provide regional airport service for the area stretching as far north as Kaukauna. This," Catlin stressed, "is undisputed by everybody but the Oshkosh interests.

"Technically, we are doing what we must do to provide for the future as developed in the Burke plan."

Financial Situation

Catlin told the board the county should act now on building the new airport "because we are faced with a pleasant financial situation we must take advantage of. We are receiving a substantial advantage in bids because we are at the close of the construction season.

"We had expected to save only about $300,000 of Burke's estimate, but we find ourselves with a $473,000 savings instead."

In a financial report, Catlin pointed out the airport fund has $90,470 in cash and the investment fund has $2,182,779 for a total of $2,273,250. A total of $526,749 has been spent so far on the project.

Total Expenditures

Total spent includes $71,699 for consulting engineers and surveys and participation in State Aeronautics Commission and CAB hearings; $56,450 for engineering, and $449,416 for the purchase of land.

Included in the $526,749 spent is the original $50,000 appropriation for the airport committee.

The major runway will be 5,200 feet long and 150 feet wide.

Appleton Bargaining Unit Denies Requests by Union

Wage Demands for Employees Estimated to Cost $50,000

Wage increases, and most fringe benefits requested by Teamsters Local 563 for unionized municipal employees met with a flat denial Monday night from the common council's personnel committee.

It was estimated the union's 1964 package, submitted to the city last week, would cost from $50,000 to $60,000 if adopted. The committee's turndown of most of the union demands has set the stage for future all-out bargaining sessions.

Robert Schlieve, business representative for Local 536 which has an estimated 100 members in the department of public works and sewage treatment plant, said this group was disappointed. Ald. E. V. Krueger (11th), committee chairman, indicated the committee's reaction to the union requests was "a statement of position—not a proposal".

No Proposal

There was indication the committe is in no position at this time to make the union any kind of a counter-proposal because department budget requests are not in. As a result, the committee does not know of there will be "daylight" for any salary or fringe increases.

Schlieve told the committee it would be expected to engage in collective bargaining "in good faith." He requested that Local 563 be recognized as the exclusive bargaining agent for employees in the street-sanitation and treatment plant departments.

Asks Recognition

Krueger, principal spokesman for the committee, said it was necessary to consider all city employees, not just those members of the union. He emphasized that any changes granted unionized workers would be passed along to other employees, citing the city has 430, excluding those under jurisdiction of the board of education.

(The board of education has included funds in its 1964 budget for $150 across-the-board pay raises for teachers, which would be in addition to automatic increments as per the board's salary schedule.)

Speaking for the committee, Krueger told the union bargaining team that:

- It could not recommend a wage increase or changes in salary steps at this time. He contended that Appleton city employees are now "head and shoulders above those in other Fox Valley cities."
- There was no need to change the compensation city workers receive when called out

7 Talks Slated at Fox Valley Center For Civic Leaders

The Fox Valley Urban Program will sponsor a Civic Leaders' Conference on Urban Problems at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center Oct. 28 through Dec. 9.

University professors and members of the Urban Program will give a series of seven lectures drawing a political and social profile of the Fox Valley, typical urban problems and problems that may be anticipated locally, and possible courses of action for community leaders.

The conference was designed for Fox Valley civic leaders, who have received invitations. Other persons also may attend.

Expected Problems

In the opening lecture Oct. 28, "Windows on the City," Gilbert James, assistant professor of sociology at the Fox Valley Center and a staff sociologist on the Fox Valley Urban Program, will discuss various ways of looking at the city, with emphasis on social and geographic organization. He will suggest the social problems that may be expected in the Fox Valley as the population increases. James is coordinator of the lecture series.

Daniel Schler, professor at the University of Missouri and a community development expert, Nov. 4 will outline the functions of the University Extension in the solution of local problems.

School Boards Plan Meeting

350 Delegates to Attend Convention In Kimberly High

KIMBERLY — The fall meeting of the Wisconsin Association of School Boards will be Thursday in the new Kimberly High School with about 350 delegates expected to participate, according to Ray Hamann, superintendent of schools.

Tours of the school will be conducted by high school students from 6:30 to 8 p.m. after which two meetings are planned. Administrators will meet in the student commons with Harold Wentzel, president of the Wisconsin School Boards Association and the Kimberly school board, as chairman.

Also represented will be W. C. Kahl, first assistant state superintendent of public instruction. George Tippler, executive secretary of the WSBA, will present the legislative report after which a group discussion will be held on major issues in education today. Administrators will be divided into three groups for general sessions with reports to conclude the meeting.

Custodians Meet

Custodians are to meet in the small lecture room for a discussion on temperature controls, univents and the Kimberly heat pump unit. Conducting the meeting will be Howard Harper, representative of the DeGelleke Co., Brookfield, Wis., and Robert L. Paynter of the Sauter and Seaborne Architectural firm, designers of the building.

The meeting also serves as the official convention for teachers of rural schools in Outagamie and Winnebago counties, according to Henry Van Straten and Miss Edna Palecek, county school superintendents. The affair will conclude about 10 p.m. with the Kimberly Legion Auxiliary serving coffee and refreshments.

Board of Education Rejects Proposal For Heating Test

Question Legality, Ethics of Job Being Done Without Bids

A proposal to have the consulting mechanical engineer for the proposed Einstein Junior High School test and balance the completed heating system was rejected Monday by the Appleton Board of Education.

The board questioned the ethics and the legality of the proposal.

Since the job normally done by the contractor will cost more than $1,000, state law requires it be done on a bid basis, board member Franklin Nehs said.

Board member Dr. Roy Whitney asked if it would be considered ethical to have the designer of the heating system also check the completed system.

Final Decision

The board also asked architects to present final plans for the school at its Oct. 28 meeting before a decision is made on when to advertise for bids, and approved the type and color of brick to be used.

Robert Paynter of Sauter-Seaborne Architects, designers of the school, presented the proposal that Walter Ratai, Milwaukee, consulting engineer and designer of the heat pump system approved for the school, balance the system when completed for $3,000.

Contractors Job

Usually the heating contractor includes 1 per cent of his costs for final adjustment of the system, Paynter said, but the architects feel Ratai is better qualified to check the complicated system planned for Einstein School. Estimated cost of the system is $340,.

The proposal sparked new discussion on the controversial heat pump heating and air conditioning system, approved by the board on a split vote after lengthy and heated debate. The system is similar to that in the new Kimberly High School.

"I seriously question the wisdom of the type of heating system we have approved," declared board member Victor Sumnicht. Sumnicht and Dr. Whitney had voted against approval of the system in May.

Unusual Procedure

"It is unusual for the man who designs the heating system to balance it out and say it is in good order," Sumnicht said later. "I don't see how he can act as both judge and jury."

Mrs. George Munro, board president, noted that in other new buildings the board has not hired a consultant to check the heating system. "We have expected that the school would be delivered in working order," she said. "If the contractor wants to hire Ratai, that is his business."

In response to a request from the architects for permission to advertise for bids, with bids to be opened Nov. 20, the board said it wanted time to study and formally approve the completed

Man Injured In Calumet Road Mishap

CHILTON — A Fond du Lac man was injured about 3:30 p.m. Friday when the truck he was driving left a town road west of Kiel.

The trucker, Robert Lyon, was taken to St. Nicholas Hospital, Fond du Lac, by a Kiel ambulance. The extent of his injuries has not been determined by police.

The truck skidded into a ditch, hit a fence and overturned. It wound up back on the road after skidding 279 feet.

Two hogs running loose on County Trunk D less than a mile north of U.S. 10 were factors in an accident about 6:50 p.m. Friday. Roy D. Wentzel, 41, 502 W. Wisconsin Ave., Kaukauna, told police he came upon the hogs after meeting a car that partially blinded him with its bright headlights. He said he was unable to stop after seeing the animals.

For Annual Ball

Chamber Says Improper Methods Used by Police to Sell Tickets

The Appleton Chamber of Commerce has returned its quota of 14 tickets for the annual Appleton Professional Police Association "ball" Nov. 9 and has charged the association is using improper soliciting methods in the sale of the tickets.

Chamber officials told Police Chief E. O. Wolff it has received several complaints from industries which feel they are being pressured into buying a certain amount of tickets for the annual ball. The chamber refused to tell Wolff which industries had complained.

The police association which sponsors the dance every year to raise funds used for charity and police benefits in Appleton, last week sent between 225 and 250 letters to local industries. With the letters went a pre-determined amount of tickets which sell for 75 cents each. Letters explained that the industry could purchase the tickets for distribution among employees and customers. Letters did not contain information the industries were not obligated to buy tickets or that they could be returned or ignored.

Poor Methods

Leo Bosch, a patrolman who is handling the ticket sales, admitted the association used poor public relations in ticket sales this year. Next year, Bosch said, the letters will be revised to contain information that the industry is not obligated to buy any tickets for the ball.

Bosch said the mailing list and letters sent last year were revised. Many local industries and businesses have received the solicitation letter for the first time this year. The Chamber of Commerce is one of the new businesses on the list.

In other years, most of the ticket sales were left to uniformed patrolmen who approached the businesses and industries offering tickets for sale. Last year, Chief Wolff put a halt to uniformed sales on "city time." This year off-duty policemen out of uniform are attempting store-to-store sales.

Bosch said the store-to-store sale this year is not going "too well." He said people find it easier to refuse a ticket purchase to a policeman out of uniform.

The amount of tickets sent to each business has been determined by a rule of thumb, Bosch said. The larger industries received larger numbers of tickets. Bosch said the association may have made a mistake by sending larger amounts of tickets to contractors doing city work this year, and the contractors may have felt they were obligated to buy the entire amount of tickets just because they had a city contract.

Darboy Club

The association has hired the Darboy Club for the annual dance and hopes to entertain about 1,000 persons. The dance has been held in an Appleton dance hall in other years, but, according to Bosch, the association received "too many complaints" about the condition of the hall. This year they decided to move to the Darboy Club. Bosch said the association has received no complaints about the dance being held out of the city.

"We tried to get the point across in the letter that the tickets are to be used," Bosch said, "and not just paid for and tossed away. We want the people to come out to the dance and meet the officers and get to know us better." Bosch said attendance in other years has been low. Bosch said the facilities may have been to blame for the low attendance.

Fund Use

Funds from the dance are used in the Community Chest, Red Cross, Morgan School, athletic teams, pistol and golf meets among department members, and to sponsor a car in the Soap Box Derby every year.

Policemen in Fox Cities communities and members of various county law enforcement groups are invited to the dance free. There are 70 members of the association who pay an annual dues of $2.

Examination Ordered For Kimberly Man Who Set Clothes Afire

Robert John Menting, 23, 107 N. Main St., Kimberly, was ordered committed to the Central State Hospital at Waupun after he pleaded guilty Monday to setting clothes on fire in a closet Sunday.

Menting turned himself over to an Appleton policeman Sunday afternoon and told the policeman he had burned the clothing because he became angry at his mother who allowed Menting's brother to come live with them. Menting said he was angry because he and his brother had to sleep together on a couch.

Appoint 3 Guards for Grand Chute Crossings

Three crossing guards have been appointed by Grand Chute Town Chairman Arthur Lecker. They began their duties Monday.

Named were Mrs. Leonard Gerritts, Mrs. Eugene Johnson and Herbert Brockman. Each will receive pay of $1.50 per hour for two hours work per day. They will be assigned to crossings at Oneida Street at County Trunk OO, County Trunk A at OO and Spencer Road and U. S. 41.

Neenah Child Hurt in Playground Mishap

NEENAH — A five year old Neenah girl is in satisfactory condition in Theda Clark Hospital Tuesday with facial contusions following a fall from a climbing apparatus Monday afternoon at the Roosevelt School.

Pamela Boushley, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Boushley, 317 W. Forest Ave., incurred the injuries and was rushed to the hospital by the Neenah Fire Department ambulance.

Appleton Board Again Studies Hot Lunches in Elementary Schools

Foster School Area Parents Bus Service Complaint Prompts Action

The Appleton Board of Education will study the possibility of again offering a hot lunch program in the city's elementary schools.

The decision arose from complaints on school bus service from parents living in the fringe areas of Foster School district. Among the parents' suggestions was a hot lunch program at the school.

The board turned down the parents' request for school-paid bus service but decided to look into the possibility of trying a hot lunch program once again.

The only public schools now offering hot lunches are Appleton High School, James Madison Junior High School and Morgan School, which houses the special education and orthopedic departments.

Not Supported

The school system experimented with a hot lunch program at Jefferson and Franklin elementary schools several years ago but discontinued it. This worked well at first, but when the novelty wore off, it was not properly supported by the students, explained Mrs. George Munro, board president.

"Maybe it should be tried again, and perhaps the schools where children have a long distance to walk would be a good place to try it," she said. She asked Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz to report on previous experience and on possible problems if the program was tried again.

Federal Subsidies

Things to be considered, Kurtz said, are whether the school system will pay its own way with the program or will accept federal subsidies. If the board decides against federal aid — a position it has consistently held in the past — the program might have to be subsidized in the school budget, he said.

Director of Business Affairs William Knuth said the board had subsidized the program when it was tried before. Another problem was that the cooks never knew how many children would be there, he said.

One parent at the meeting suggested the program be offered only during the winter months, and that children pay on a weekly basis, in order to avoid daily fluctuation in the number buying lunches.

Protest

Four parents from the southwest area of the Foster district attended the meeting to learn the board's decision on a petition presented at the last meeting asking for school-paid bus transportation for their children. The parents had protested the cost and irregular schedule of the school bus service. They said the distance, over a mile, was too far for children to walk home at noon, and the school discourages having them carry lunches to eat at school. Fifty-two persons signed the petition.

The board said it would work with the bus company to im-

'Wait Until Airport Study Is Complete,' Steinhilber Urges

Winnebago Attorney Says Port Ought to Stay in Operation

NEENAH — Winnebago County Dist Atty Jack Steinhilber, Monday defended before a Neenah club luncheon the permanency of the Winnebago airport, the rejection of the Leigh Fisher report findings and urged Outagamie county officials to hold off action on bids on their proposed airport until they see the results of a Winnebago airport study.

Conceding that the economic future of the Fox Valley depends upon having an up to date airport with adequate facilities, he cited statistics and study reports covering the safety, usage and size of the Winnebago airport which would indicate that it should stay in operation.

Heavy Use

According to statistics compiled by the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) Steinhilber said that the Oshkosh terminal ranks eighth in passenger total of 73 airports served by North Central Airlines, fifth of all Wisconsin passenger originating terminals, second in state mail and cargo generating total service and third in passenger total of 48 ports served only by North Central.

The Winnebago airport "generates more passengers to points beyond North Central's systems than do Appleton, Clintonville or Green Bay," he said.

He said that 90 per cent of the Oshkosh passenger traffic is to Milwaukee or Chicago, but quoted statistics which indicated that their east-west, and north traffic compares favorably with the Green Bay airport and other local terminals.

Discounting the possibility of moving Winnebago air service farther north so as to hook up with the area covered by the Outagamie terminal, Steinhilber said. "Fifty per cent of our passengers come from above Oshkosh and 50 per cent come from the city and areas south."

More Flights

However, he did say that the consolidation of Outagamie airport flights with the Oshkosh terminal would give more flights and a better schedule to Winnebago and enable the use of more Convairs (North Central's fastest craft).

He added that the Winnebago airport has two runways over 5,000 feet long, facilities for plane maintenance and housing, facilities for passenger convenience, and up to date control tower and an all weather instrument landing system almost ready for service, to meet with CAB requirements.

Winnebago county turned down the findings of the 1960 Leigh Fischer report, of Outagamie county, because "we were in the midst of an extensive state and federal aid improvement program for which the county's share had been committed in 1958 and 1959," he said.

Fischer's report indicated that a regional airport serving both Winnebago and Outagamie counties should be located west of Neenah.

"The aviation committee carefully reviewed the Fischer report," Steinhilber said, "and set forth the reasons why Winnebago County could not pursue the suggested course of action.

He said that he understood that Outagamie was to open bids for the construction of their proposed new airport, today.

"I would hope that they would hold off on awarding bids until the results of our long range airport planning report are completed," he said.

This study, according to Steinhilber, will cost $12,500 and will report on the needs for the Fox Valley area in long-range airport service.

$1.5 Million Investment

Further emphasizing the impractability of switching airports or abandoning the present Winnebago facilities, he noted the cost of the present terminal.

"County, state, federal and private investors have put $1,573,000 into the airport since 1958 and a total of $2,413,049," he said.

Steinhilber however, did stress that Winnebago County officials would be more than willing to meet with officials of Outagamie or any neighboring county to discuss mutual problems concerning an airport or other matter.

Major Task to Implement Planning, Official States

MENASHA — Members of the Menasha Common Council Monday night were told by Eugene Franchett of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission that the problem in expansion and growth in the Appleton-Neenah-Menasha area is not in planning but in implementing plans.

Franchett, appearing before the council members meeting in committee as a whole, explained the commission's role in development of the Fox Cities and how the commission came to decisions in its planning.

He emphasized planning and utilization of a major thoroughfare system between Menasha and Appleton and said this must come as one of the first portions of the plans to be utilized.

He pointed out the necessity of the proposed Ninth Street bridge in Menasha as one of the first steps toward a modern network of throughways.

Franchett said the necessity of the bridge is due to the fact that tremendous growth is expected in the western Little Lake Butte des Morts area in the next few years and outlets for traffic must be found.

Included would be a second bridge at County Trunk PP near Appleton.

Under new plans Ninth Street Bridge thoroughfare would connect north of Jacobson Wood interchange on U S. 41 on the west side of the lake and slightly north of Ninth Street on the east side. On the Menasha side the thoroughfare would go directly north parallel to the railroad tracts and connect with County Trunk PP, which in turn would connect with U.S. 41 to the west and U.S. 10 to the east.

Franchett pointed out the new routing is a recommendation of the commission's new technical advisory group made up of engineers and laymen of the seven municipalities in the Fox River Valley area.

Jack Lorenz, a member of the planning group, explained how he and a crew of men spent this summer mapping Menasha for zoning so that land use maps can be drawn up for better utilization of properties in the city.

Ralph Risley, a member of its organization several years ago, also appeared at the informal council meeting but idd not address the group.

Favor Local Languages in Sacraments

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council voted overwhelmingly today to extend the use of local languages to the sacraments, keeping Latin only for the heart of the rites.

A majority of the council voted Monday to make the same changes in the Mass, but it failed of the needed two-thirds majority. The council's liturgical commission will reword the chapter and submit again to the council.

Today's vote approved the use of modern languages in the sacraments of baptism, confirmation, penance, matrimony and extreme unction. The vote was 2,133-19, a council press spokesman said.

The more than 2,000 prelates meeting in St. Peter's Basilica also agreed to change the name of extreme unction—the Sacrament of Last Anointing—to "anointing of the sick." This was done to remove the fear-of-death overtones of the sacrament's present name.

Approval of these changes came in voting on amendments to a schema (topic) on liturgy, or public worship.

Ask Rejection For Menasha Library Bids

Board Suggests Incorporation in New City Hall

MENASHA — Mayor John Klein, joining with the Menasha Library Board, Monday night recommended that all bids for remodeling of Elisha D. Smith Public Library be rejected and a study be made into the feasibility of incorporating a library into a new municipal administration building when constructed.

Klein said library board members came to the conclusion to recommend rejection of bids late Monday afternoon after it was found the cost is prohibitive and remodeling under proposed plan will not complete work needed on the library.

The board unofficially estimated library space needed in a new structure would be 12,500 square feet.

A municipal administration building, which could house a new library if built, is now under study by a five man committee appointed by Klein to determine needs by the city.

Klein said action on the bids must be taken and said whatever action is taken, the library must definitely be improved.

$97,000 to Remodel

He said the opinion of builders and architects is to put the expenditures of remodeling the library into a new type building.

Bids for the remodeling total approximately $97,000 including architectural fees and miscellaneous expenses.

The figure is approximately $30,000 more than anticipated. Original estimates had put the cost at approximately $65,000.

The city budget contains $35,000 for the project. Gifts have raised the amount by $25,000. The city, if it should remodel the library, must find $37,000 more for the project.

Aldermen Get Complaint on Trash Handling

Women's Club Says Collection Once a Month Inadequate

Aldermen who contend they are receiving no complaints concerning the city's once-a-month trash collection policy got some bad news Monday. It came in a letter to Ald. Kenneth Loos (3rd), chairman of the council's street - sanitation committee, from a spokesman for the Appleton Junior Woman's Club.

"The current program for collecting trash once a month is not consistent with the farsighted goals of this city," wrote Mrs. E. E. Barthell, chairman of the club's community affairs committee.

Several months ago a group of Appleton women signed and forwarded to the common council a petition requesting improved trash collection service. Subsequently, the department of public works started a study and it has not been completed.

Fine Record

"Appleton has a fine record of achievement in community affairs and in self - improvement," Mrs. Barthell said. "This is due to the forward - looking planning of the city council," she added.

In pointing out that the present trash policy was not in keeping with Appleton's farsightedness, Mrs. Barthell said: "The excessive trash accumulation in neighborhood garages and basements results in too many fires and in unacceptable sanitary conditions."

The Woman's Club said it was eager to support a plan which would improve the current trash pickup service and offered their assistance.

Recommendations

The controversial trash collection issue has been bottled up in committee. Public Works Director Robert W. Bues indicated he plans to make some recommendations.

Private collection firms still are waiting for an answer from the city about submitting bids to take over both garbage and trash collections on a contract basis for the entire city. The private firms claim they can give once-a-week collection service, and generally operate more efficiently and economically than a government department.

Grant Fire Truck Use For Arrival of Santa

MENASHA — Santa Claus will arrive for children at the Valley Fair Shopping center via Town of Menasha fire truck tentatively at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 23, according to Fire Chief Harold Aykens.

Permission to use the fire truck as Santa's sleigh was granted Monday by the Town of Menasha town board.

Aykens said the truck would be in use approximately 15 minutes and that radio connection with the station would be in service during the run in case an emergency should arise.

The board was informed that the Badger Highway Co Town of Menasha trash dump was opened and ready for service. by Bert Hosterman of Badger Highway.

Hosterman said the dump would be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 8 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

He told the board that service to Town of Menasha residents was free having been paid for by the town board.

The dump is located on the Badger Highway grounds.

Possibilities of using an answering service for the town building phone were discussed. Board members said that the service would be in effect when there wasn't a town employee in the office and thtat information as to the whereabouts of town officials and their positions could be supplie dby the service.

Menasha Father, Son Injured in Bike-Car Mishap

MENASHA — A father and son were injured shortly before 5 p.m. Monday when they were struck by a car while the father, Daniel L. Meyer, 1296 Racine Road, was teaching his son, Paul, 8, to ride a bicycle in Jefferson Park.

According to police, Meyer had just purchased the bicycle and was helping his son learn how to operate it. Mever was pushing the bicycle with the boy riding when a car driven by Florian Nespodzany, 50, 1034 Brighton Drive, Menasha, rounded a corner and struck the pair.

Mrs. Meyer, who was nearby, placed Paul in her car and drove him to Theda Clark Memorial Hospital where he was treated for a bump on his head. The father stayed behind and called Menasha Police, who took him to Theda Clark in a squad car. He was treated for leg injuries.

Parents Asked to Keep Children From Coming To School Too Early

LITTLE CHUTE—Parents of students attending Little Chute State Graded School were requested by Russell Johns, principal, to refrain from sending youngsters to school too early.

The school has a very limited play area and youngsters arriving almost 45 minutes before the start of classes cause a problem, Johns said.

High School Band To Perform for Richmond PTA

The Appleton High School "bandette," a small group of outstanding members of the concert band, will demonstrate the building of a band for the Richmond School PTA Thursday. The program will follow a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m.

Frank Comell dtcirao,ares

Frank Comella, director of the bandette and the AHS concert and Terror bands, originated this program about eight years ago to demonstrate to both parents and students that every instrument in a band is important. This is shown through elaboration on the history of each instrument and on how it is played.

As a part of the program, a musical score is played by one instrument alone, and gradually all instruments are added until the full bandette is playing. This process is reversed and the score is again played by a single instrument.

Comella also used the bandette for a program which demonstrates rehearsal techniques used by the band, supplemented by the use of tape recorders. This program will be presented to the Franklin School PTA Nov. 21.

Seminary League Sets Chili Supper

KIMBERLY — The Sacred Heart Seminary League will sponsor a chili supper in the cafeteria of Holy Name of Jesus School from 4 to 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Proceeds will help defray cost of purchasing bleachers for the seminary. Brothers and sisters of boys in the seminary will canvass the village this week to sell tickets. Refreshments and dessert will be available.

Green Bay Harbor's Ship Turning Basin Completed

GREEN BAY — Dredging a ship - turning basin in Green Bay's outer harbor was completed Monday by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The $290,000 project, which will allow the largest overseas freighters and the longest Great Lakes bulk carriers using the Great-Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway system to turn around, was completed within four months, well ahead of schedule.

The work involved removal of 240,000 cubic yards of river bottom material—both hardpan bottom clay and mud silt. The material was taken by barge and dumped in Green Bay.

The new turning basin, in the Fox River north of the Main Street bridge, provides water depth of 22 feet extending for 1,000 feet from the west bank of the river to the mouth of the East river.

The 1,000-foot width, including the main shipping channel in the Fox River, will allow ships of up to 750 feet, the largest sailing the Great Lakes, to turn without difficulties from other harbor traffic or water current.

The project was financed with $260,000 in federal funds plus a $30,000 contribution by the city of Green Bay.

Korth Resignation May Spark Battle

Congress Certain to Ask New Navy Boss His Views On Nuclear Carriers' Future

BY JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's appointment of a new Navy secretary may set off a chain reaction leading to congressional explosion over a tentative Pentagon decision to deny the Navy any more nuclear carriers.

When Paul H. Nitze, named Monday to succeed Fred Korth, comes before the Senate for confirmation, it seems certain he will be asked for his views on the continuing controversy over whether carriers should be phased out in favor of missiles and missile-firing submarines.

Korth, who said he was resigning to "attend to my pressing private affairs," probably will be asked to explain if his decision had any connection with his apparently futile efforts to get a new nuclear carrier built.

Associates said his defeat in the nuclear power argument sped his decision to quit.

Some Congress members said they thought Korth's action stemmed from the row over the controversial TFX warplane contract award, and Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., said Korth will be questioned again about it.

Made Loan

Korth has told the Senate Investigations subcommittee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., that a bank he formerly headed in Fort Worth, Tex., joined several others in making a loan to the General Dynamics Corp.

General Dynamics was given the TFX contract by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara despite a claim by the Boeing Co. that it could produce the TFX — tactical fighter, experimental — cheaper. Korth supported the award to General Dynamics.

McClellan declined comment on the resignation. But Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., said he thought it was precipitated by testimony on the plane contract.

"I predict there will probably be other resignations," he said. He gave no names.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said he thinks there will be no serious opposition to confirmation of Nitze, who now is assistant secretary of defense for international affairs. He was named to the post by Kennedy in 1961.

The nomination of Nitze, 55, will go to the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Written Friday

In announcing the Navy switch the White House disclosed that Korth wrote his resignation last Friday—the same day he persuaded McNamara to reconsider a tentative decision against permitting the Navy to install nuclear power rather than conventional engines in its new supercarrier.

Kennedy praised Korth in a "Dear Fred" letter accepting the resignation. Nothing was said about the carrier question. But informed sources made it clear that Korth had slight hope McNamara will reverse himself.

Nitze, a former partner in the Wall Street investment firm of Dillon, Read & Co., entered government service in 1940. He joined the State Department in 1946 and served as director of its policy planning staff from 1950 to 1953.

Bundy

Kennedy named William P. Bundy, 46, older brother of presidential assistant McGeorge Bundy, to fill the job Nitze is vacating.

Co-ops Will Enter Dispute

FPC Seeks Control Of Electricity in Interstate Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Secretary of Agriculture and two groups of electric cooperatives were authorized Monday to intervene in a test case of the extent of the Federal Power Commission jurisdiction over co-ops.

The case is aimed at determining whether the commission has jurisdiction over cooperatives which transmit or wholesale electricity in interstate commerce.

The commission said it had not regulated cooperatives in the past.

Three Co-Ops

The proceedings were initiated July 22 against three cooperatives — Dairyland Power Cooperative of La Crosse, Wis., Minnkoda Power Cooperative, Inc., Grand Forks, N.D., and South Central Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., Lancaster, Ohio. The co-ops were directed to show cause why they should not be required to comply with commission reporting, accounting, and rate schedule filing requirements.

One group permitted to intervene is composed of the 27 rural electric cooperative members of Dairyland Power Cooperative.

The other group is the "Committee of Rural Electric Cooperatives," which represents about 300 statewide associations of electric cooperatives and rural electric cooperatives.

Expansion of Business Hits Record Rate

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

GOING UP: Picking up more steam during the summer, business expansion has apparently reached a record rate of national output exceeding $587 billion a year, government sources report.

The gains in the summer quarter surprised the President's Council of Economic Advisers and were the basis for Chairman Walter W. Heller's prediction last week that national output would top the $600-billion-a-year mark early in 1964.

The third-quarter rise was believed to have been greater than that of the first half of the year which averaged a bit better than $7 billion a quarter and brought the production rate close to $580 billion in the April-June quarter.

The council now is reported to be confident the expansion will continue to the spring of 1964.

WHEAT DEAL: A wheat state senator has suggested that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee take a good look at Soviet purchases of U.S. wheat, and weigh the benefits here against the benefits there.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-SD., asked in a newsletter to his constituents:

"Does the benefit to our country and to the free world pale to insignificance as compared to the benefit realized by the Soviet Union through receipt of a sorely needed commodity to shore up its economy at the weakest point and to allow the Communists to avoid diverting efforts from a variety of tactics, such as subversion, infiltration and guerrilla warfare, aided at world domination?"

Last week President Kennedy gave the go-ahead for sales of American wheat to the Russians by private U.S. dealers.

ONASSIS: Rep. Oliver P. Bolton, R-Ohio, has questioned whether it is proper for First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy "to accept the lavish hospitality of a foreign individual whose shipping interests ... receive favored treatment from the U.S. government."

His statement referred to Aristotle Onassis, Greek shipowner on whose yacht Mrs. Kennedy sailed the Mediterranean.

Bolton said the Onassis interests got a $20-million windfall as a result of special permission from the Maritime Administration to transfer 14 ships from American to foreign registry.

U. S. Employee Faces Security Charges

BY CARL P. LUEBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP)—An old typewriter ribbon and the contents of a bag used to dispose of classified papers may play a key role as the State Department reviews charges against security officer Otto F. Otepka.

Otepka, 48, former chief evaluator of security risks for the Department, has been under suspension since Sept. 23 on charges of conduct "unbecoming to an officer of the Department of State."

Included are charges he gave secret documents to the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, and others that he declassified and mutilated confidential documents.

The department also charges Otepka acted improperly by supplying the subcommittee's counsel with questions to be asked of other State Department officials during a secret security investigation.

Found in Bag

Several of the charges are based on materials found in Otepka's "burnbags" — which are used to dispose of classified materials. They include carbon paper and a typewriter ribbon.

Otepka filed an answer to the charges Monday, but it was not made public. The charges themselves had not been officially released. If they stand, Otepka could be dismissed. He is now scheduled to be suspended without pay on Oct. 23.

John Ordway, chief of the department's personnel operations division, is reviewing the case. If he upholds the charges, Otepka could ask for a hearing before a State Department examiner. If he loses there, he could appeal to the Civil Service Commission and finally to the courts.

Otepka's attorney, Robert Robb, asked the State Department last week for permission to examine in private all documents that figure in the charges.

$2,000 Fine

However, John Drew, an official of the personnel department, insisted that he or one of his assistants be present at all times.

Robb also asked that he be granted access to the contents of Otepka's burnbags.

The State Department is reported to have granted Otepka and his attorney permission to examine the documents in private. But so far it has refused to let them look at the burnbag contents.

Among other things, Otepka is charged with being responsible for declassification and mutilation of a confidential document addressed to McGeorge Bundy, a special assistant to President Kennedy, by William H. Brubeck, special assistant to Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The letter charges said the tops and bottoms had been cut from a copy of the document. It said this constituted a declassification and also a mutilation in violation of a law that carries maximum penalties of three years' imprisonment or a $2,000 fine.

Michigan Couple Found Guilty of Manslaughter

MENOMINEE, Mich. (AP)—A Menominee area couple was convicted of manslaughter late Monday in the death of their eight-month-old daughter in the family driveway last Dec. 11.

Circuit Judge Ernest Brown, who found Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Jackson, guilty, ordered a presentence investigation.

Authorities contend that Mrs. Jackson placed the infant behind the back wheels of the family car in an attempt to prevent her husband from leaving the home. They said that Jackson, 41, had been out drinking, and his wife, Gladys, 30, tried to prevent him from leaving again.

Earl Warren's Private Papers Will Remain Under Lock and Key

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—The private papers collected by Chief Justice Earl Warren during his three terms as governor of California are going to remain under lock and key.

Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan said he received a request from Warren asking that the records be kept under seal until further notice.

When Warren resigned 10 years ago to accept appointment to the Supreme Court by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, he asked that the papers be sealed for 10 years or until his death.

State Forest Fire Hazard Is Explosive

TOMAHAWK (AP)— The forest fire hazard throughout Wisconsin is extreme and in Price County the situation is "explosive," the state forest protection headquarters of the Conservation Department said today.

The headquarters, noting that rainfall in some areas is 9½ inches below normal so far this year, said outdoor burning has been restricted in Price County. Burning permits are still being issued elsewhere but if there is no rain in the next 24 hours, more areas will receive restriction notices.

A total of 46 forest fires broke out in Wisconsin during the weekend, burning over 150 acres. This was double the number of fires and double the acreage burned at this time a year ago.

Smokers and careless handling of hot ashes and burning rubbish were blamed for most of the weekend fires.

Magazine Says Kennedy to Win Over GOP in '64

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy can be expected to defeat any Republican by about 4½ million popular votes in next year's presidential election, says Newsweek magazine.

The magazine said a poll showed that Kennedy has lost the support for various reasons, of some 6½ million Americans who voted for him in 1960. But it also showed he has gained the backing of 11 million persons who voted for Republican Richard M. Nixon in that election.

The net gain of 4½ million votes, Newsweek said, means Kennedy can be expected to defeat any Republican by that many votes next year.

Legislative Inspection Team Begins Tour of State Airport Facilities

Study Designed to Improve Planning, Development of Ports

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The legislature is taking its first long and hard look at the progress and problems in the field of aeronautics in Wisconsin and the state airport planning and construction program.

A group of legislators representing the two houses of the legislature set out today on a three day tour of the state to examine most of the public airports and other airport facilities in the state.

Group Leader

Leader of the expedition is J. Curtis McKay, chairman of the aeronautics sub-committee of the legislature's finance committee of the legislature's finance committee.

The personal study by the law-makers, first ever made, comes in the wake of considerable criticism and reservation among the political officers of the state government about the state of Wisconsin airport planning. Only a year ago Gov. Reynolds, as governor-elect, complained about what he called the lack of coordinated planning for airport development.

McKay Flys

McKay, himself a flier, is the legislative representative of Ozaukee County. Like other air-minded members of the legislature, McKay has been concerned about the apparent lack of communication between air commission members and officials and the law-makers, which has been shown in consistent rejection of some of the department's proposals to the legislature in recent years.

The legislative tour by air will involve more than 1,100 miles and will represent a circle from Milwaukee to Green Bay, Rhinelander, Eau Claire, Madison, to Janesville, with stops at most of the air terminals en route. The committee will confer with airport officials and local Chamber of Commerce representatives at most of the stops.

Common Boundary

"The sea of air around us," said McKay, "has a common boundary with every spot on earth and the access to it is vitally important to the economy of our state. The capital necessary to provide and plan facilities has a material impact on our taxpayers. As legislators we must be informed if we are to get the maximum good from the tax dollars spent."

Italy Adopts Disaster Area Aid Measures

Taxation Suspended, Special Funds to be Made Available

BELLUNO, Italy (AP)—The survivors of the Vaiont Dam disaster and the Italian government acted together today to bring life back to the desolate region.

Despite fears of another disaster, the death toll and the appalling destruction, there were signs the flood-stricken area might indeed live again.

With the death toll estimate between 2,300 and 3,000, hundreds of persons still were missing. But army commanders leading recovery operations said it appeared pointless to keep up full-scale digging operations in the hardened mud much longer.

In Rome, Premier Giovanni Leone's Cabinet voted a series of crash measures to start the disaster area toward recovery.

All taxation of communities in the area was suspended until further notice. Local budgets will be supplemented as needed. Special funds were voted to speed new construction.

The government ordered state road, railroad and communications agencies to undertake an emergency program to get services back to normal as soon as possible.

In Longarone, hardest hit community, the seven surviving members of the 15-man Municipal Council voted to start rebuilding if the government would help.

N. C. Man Celebrating His 108th Birthday

SPRUCE PINE, N.C. (AP)—A hint for those coming to help Uncle Bill Keller celebrate his birthday today: He says it wouldn't hurt if you bring a little peach brandy.

Keller

Uncle Bill will be 108. That, according to the Social Security Administration, makes him the oldest resident of North Carolina.

Widowed twice, he lives alone in a small mountain house. He says he walks barefooted in snow, "to keep from having colds and flu."

Negro Among Candidates for Mayor's Post in Albany, Ga.

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Citizens of this Georgia city choose a Democratic candidate for mayor today from among three persons — the first Negro ever to run for the office and two white segregationists.

King

All three agree that Negro integration leader Slater King has not a chance of winning the primary, but for different reasons.

King, 35, a native of Albany, says he hopes the campaign has helped members of his race to think politically.

"I am really interested in freeing the minds of Negroes because many of them feel that no Negro should aspire for high office," he said. King is a real estate broker.

The white candidates are attorney James V. Davis and architect Edward V. Jones.

Davis, a former state representative, expressed the belief there will be a runoff and that King will be in it.

But, he said, "I don't think he has a chance of winning unless the white people sit down and don't go to the polls. People are rather excited about the election and I don't believe they'll do that."

Jones, who describes himself as "a Goldwater conservative," based much of his campaign on opposition to what he called federal interference.

"I am against socialism and in favor of states rights," he said. "I am against a biracial committee."

Failure of the city to establish a biracial committee to discuss Negro grievances is one of several issues which brought intermittent civil rights demonstrations and more than 1,200 arrests during the past two years.

Albany has a population of 58,000, including about 24,000 Negroes. There are an estimated 4,600 Negroes among the 16,436 registered voters.

Thompson Praises Carrier Boys

MADISON (AP)—Atty. Gen. George Thompson, said Monday that carrier boys play a major role in production of a newspaper.

Thompson, speaking at a meeting marking National Newspaper Week, cited the work of editors, reporters, pressmen and other personnel and noted that none could function without young people who deliver the product.

Figures Lacking on Worth of Driver Instruction Program

Insurance Group Claims Setup Leads to Fewer Auto Accidents

BY FRED SNYDER

MADISON (AP) — There's more faith than figures for supporting Wisconsin's program for teaching teen - agers how to drive.

Those in state agencies associated with the program, in which 426 public high schools offer approved driver training, say they have no hard facts and figures to show if driver training is helping.

The same people recognize that accident and violation rates among young drivers are alarmingly high and concede they'll increase as more young drivers get behind the wheel.

No schools in Wsiconsin make student enrollment in a complete driving course compulsory. A complete driving course consists of 30 hours of classroom work, six hours of behind-the-wheel training and six hours of accompanying an instructor teaching another student driver.

Classroom Work

Some schools require that students take classroom work as part of the cirriculum. There is no figure available on how many schools require this.

Department of public instruction records show no school requires behind-the-wheel driving.

Some schools attract as much as 75 per cent of eligible students into the so - called 30-6-6 course. In other schools the figure goes as low as 20 per cent.

"It appears that we have been able to reach only one out of four eligible students," laments William T. Richards, supervisor of driver education in the Department of Public Instruction.

Dan Schutz, director of the safety division for the Motor Vehicle Department, readily admits weaknesses in the set-up.

"Unless there's a change soon, we can only hope for long-range benefits and that's not good," says Schutz.

Too many parents, Richards and Schutz contend, are satisfied to let their children learn how to drive at 16 through means other than public school courses.

Schools receive $25 per student from the state to help defray driver education course expenses. The 1961 Legislature approved the payments and this pepped up growth of the program by 20 per cent. Five years ago there was one statewide workshop annually for instructors. Now there are six.

Besides being concerned over low enrollments and lack of research to show the value of youthful driver training, the experts are disturbed because there is no way to make follow-ups to determine if and how much driver training is helping reduce accidents and violations among young people.

The Motor Vehicle Department is trying to devise a system to compile facts and figures but this could be a long time coming because it involves changing accident reporting forms and use of office personnel and mechanical equipment not now available.

Lack Workers

"We simply don't have the workers or the computers needed to do a good, thorough job," Schutz adds.

Safety experts, lacking statistics that might point up the value of training for would - be drivers, accept findings of researchers in the auotomotive and insurance fields.

The American Automobile Association contends that drivers with approved training have 50 per cent fewer accidents and 50 per cent fewer violations.

A survey of liability insurance rates among all states show that if a school does not offer approved driver education, all young male drivers and their parents are paying from two to five times more in added insurance premiums than the per pupil cost for such a course.

Insurance Rates

"At present insurance rates," says Richards, "the average young male in Wisconsin who has not had an approved driver education course pays $90 to $171 in extra auto liability costs by the time he reaches the age of 25.

And he notes that one large Wisconsin based insurance company has found it necessary to initiate higher premium rates for girls under 18 who have not completed an approved driver education course.

This is the first known change in the practice of not changing a family's car insurance rates when a daughter joins the driving ranks.

Dean Lorenz Adolfson, director and dean of the UW Extension Division since 1944, will respond with a discussion of the "Wisconsin Idea" and UW resources that are available to civic leaders in the Fox Valley.

"Fox Valley: 1984"

Douglas Marshall, UW professor of sociology, will speak Nov. 11 on "The Fox Valley: 1984!" He will discuss the anticipated nature and size of the Fox Valley population in 20 years and such problems as possible in-migrations of minorities and farm families.

"The Shame of the Cities" will be James' topic on Nov. 18. He will describe typical urban problems that have plagued growing cities of America and the probability that it "could happen here." He will discuss the problems of urban blight, racial minorities, juvenile delinquency and dependency.

"The Fox Valley's 84 Governments—a Political Profile" will be presented on Nov. 25 by John Shannon, political scientist in the Urban Program, and Glenn Jensen, Urban Program coordinator. They will summarize features of county, city and school district governments of the Fox Valley, in a discussion based on an "Inventory of Government in the Fox Valley" prepared by the UW Bureau of Government.

Super Government

Thomas Dye, assistant professor in the UW Bureau of Government, will speak Dec. 2 on "Metropolitan Integration: The Case for and against Political Consolidation." He will analyze both the efficiency arguments advanced in favor of political consolidation and the sociological values that resist the idea of a super "metro" government.

The final lecture on Dec. 9 is entitled "It Can Happen Here." James and Shannon will summarize the local urban problems anticipated in rapid population growth, and outline alternative courses of action which community leaders may take in dealing with these issues.

Verne Imhoff, Fox Valley Center director, is director of the Fox Valley Urban Program.

All lectures will start at 7 p.m. at the Fox Valley Center. The fee for the series will be $5 per person and $7.50 per couple. Persons interested should register at the Center.

Moving Rule Proposed To Council Committee

A northwest side alderman Monday urged his colleagues to "go along" with a proposed ordinance to prohibit moving of buildings to other locations within the city of Appleton.

"Since I introduced my resolution two weeks ago, it has met with considerable citizen support," Ald. Arthur Mueller (19th) told the common council's street-sanitation committee at city hall.

Mueller feels if buildings are old and rundown, they should be torn down instead of being moved to another sector of the city as has been the case in the past.

Buildings Never Fixed

"Some of these people relocate buildings and never fix them up," Mueller said. He cited an instance in his ward where a dilapidated residence has been for over a year with nothing done to fix it up.

"The only way to prevent this is to prohibit the moving of homes in the city; they can take them outside if they want to," Mueller said.

Committee members felt legislation making such a prohibition might be difficult to pass, or even enforce. The group decided to have the department of public works compile data on the number of homes razed and relocated in the city during the last five years.

Some Buildings Good

"There are times when a real good building can be moved," reminded Ald. Kenneth Loos (3rd), committee chairman.

The committee also:

Recommended that Nov. 15, instead of Oct. 15, be the deadline for permitting utilities and contractors to tear up streets to repair or replace underground installations.

Made it clear that Ballard Road residents in the Town of Grand Chute, who want to hook on to city facilities, must take both water and sewer services and agree to pay any special assessments, along with stipulating they will not oppose annexation when the time comes.

Agreed to hold "for a long time," a proposal calling for underground parking on College Avenue.

Grand Chute Constable Staff Doubled

The town board of Grand Chute has named Melvin Hegner, route 1, to assist Constable John Arft.

The board took the action to stem vandalism and drag racing and to enforce hunting regulations in the restricted area in the township.

Arft said the restricted areas are bounded by U.S. 41, the Appleton City limits, and the river. All guns must be broken down in this area.

Hegner and Arft will use their own cars, rigged with dome lights and police equipment, for patroling the township.

GOP Leaders Turn Down Special Session

Won't Meet to Act on Appointments of Reynolds; Thompson Will Go to Court

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Republican majority leadership of the legislature has dismissed suggestions that the two houses of the state legislature return to session immediately to consider the political problems brought up by Democratic Gov. John Reynolds' defiant selection of a long list of state appointive officeholders without confirmation votes of the state senate.

Sen. Robert P. Knowles of New Richmond, majority leader of the senate, and Senate President Frank Panzer explained there is nothing the legislature could do in an emergency session that it cannot do as effectively on the planned date for reconvening on Nov. 4.

At that time many of the governor's nominations will be before the senate as a regular order of business, and they can be confirmed or rejected, according to the tastes of the Republican majority caucus of the upper house.

The outlook is that many of the governor's choices will be rejected, whereupon he will be obliged to pick new appointees for the positions ranging from the most important boards and commissions to nominal and honorary assignments on lesser state agencies.

The Republican legislative chieftains met here Monday for a strategy session, apparently in consultation with Republican Attorney General George Thompson and others.

Challenges Reynolds

Their decision to await the regular November meeting to consider the appointments controversy evidently was aided by Thompson's decision to challenge Reynolds' action on his own initiative, in the form of an original action in the supreme court asking that tribunal to rule on the validity of the governor's appointment procedure.

The November meeting of the legislature will last at least several weeks. There is a fair chance that during that time the court will rule on the merits of the appointment controversy, which in turn may be a guide to its rights in the dispute with the governor over respective prerogatives in the staffing of policy-making agencies, boards and commissions.

prove transportation arrangements. It encouraged the parents to return in 90 days if the problem had not been solved. However, the board did not agree to provide free bus transportation for the children.

It has to be the prerogative of the board of education to determine school districts, Kurtz said, and regardless of where the line is put, someone would be inconvenienced.

Over One Mile

The board received reports from Rolland Nock, director of transportation, and Mrs. Catherine Symons, Foster principal. Nock said the distances children are traveling to Foster School are consistent with distances children travel to attend othe city schools. The far corners of most school districts are over one mile from the school.

Kurtz and Nock met with Mayor Clarence Mitchell and Director of Public Works Robert Bues to discuss the possibility of a sidewalk across open area west from the intersection of Calumet and Oneida streets to Foster School, to cut walking distance for some pupils.

Mrs. Symons said there are about 13 to 16 paying bus riders from Foster, and about 60 children who stay at school for lunch, including 34 from the Red Star area.

2 Fined for Tipsy Driving

Appleton Youth Rammed Squad Car Near Sherwood

A rural Appleton youth was fined and a New London youth forfeited a bond Monday for drunken driving.

Clyde G. Baumgart, 21, route 4, Appleton, was fined $150 in Calumet County court at Chilton. Judge D. H. Sebora revoked Baumgart's license for a year and assessed court costs of $18.

Baumgart was arrested early Monday morning after his car had rammed the car of Patrolman Frederick Martens at the intersection of County Trunk M and State 114, five miles northwest of Sherwood. When taken to Appleton for a breathalyzer test, the youth recorded .23. A test of .15 considered evidence of intoxication.

Robert E. Ruckashel, 20, 1303 Oshkosh St., New London, forfeited a bond of $156.70 on a charge of drunken driving when he failed to appear before Municipal Justice Nathan Wiese.

Ruckashel was arrested Friday by Clintonville police after his car had struck the rear of a car driven by Walter N. Armstrong, stopped in the line of traffic at Eighth Street and South Main. He was in jail Friday night and posted bond Saturday.

New London Coach Reported Improved

NEW LONDON—William Beyer, Washington High School teacher and head basketball coach, injured in an acrobatic net mishap in the school gym Thursday, is reported improving at the Community Hospital.

Beyer suffered a concussion and a paralysis of both legs. According to a doctor's report Monday, he has regained the use of his left leg, but some paralysis still remains in his right leg. His condition is listed as good. He did not suffer any broken bones in the accident.

Appleton Board Rejects Heat Test Proposal

plans before setting a date for opening bids.

The proposed school, which will cost an estimated $1.8 million, originally was scheduled for opening in the fall of 1964. Because of delays in the planning, mainly through debate over the heating system, completion now is expected by the fall of 1965.

Good Time for Bids

Supt. of Schools Royce E. Kurtz said the architects feel this is a favorable time to advertise for bids. They felt it would not be desirable to indicate a starting time for construction, he said, but thought the board should specify that it wants the school ready for occupancy by July 1, 1965. This would let contractors start work as early in the spring as possible, he said.

At its last meeting the board had questioned the effect of possible winter construction on the cost of the school. Paynter said the architects selected this time to advertise for bids because many contractors look for work to tide them over the winter. It would be an advantage to open bids before winter weather sets in, he said.

Brick Samples

Paynter showed samples of brick proposed for the school and approved by the board. The two-story academic unit and the higher gymnasium unit will be of a brown brick, and the one-story wing will be of a lighter brick.

Ordinarily a lump sum for brick has been placed in the specifications and the brick and color selected by the board after bids have been taken. Paynter said the architects feel better bids will be received if the type of brick is specified.

21 Architects Interested in New School

Appleton Considers Out of City Firms For Senior High

The Appleton Board of Education Monday took the first steps toward selecting an architect for the proposed southeast senior high school.

The board received a list of 21 architectural firms showing interest in designing the school, and appointed a committee to screen them.

For the first time in several years, the board decided to consider architects from outside of Appleton. The last nine public schools in the city have been designed by Appleton architects. Jefferson School, completed in 1951, was the last designed by a non-Appleton firm.

To Cost $4,000,000

Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz said he hoped the board would reach a decision on an architect by the middle of November if possible. Present plans call for the school to open in the fall of 1966. It will cost an estimated $4 million.

Mrs. George Munro, board president, appointed Dr. Roy Whitney, Gregory Schulte and Franklin Nehs to a committee to work with the administration in screening the firms. The board will ask selected firms to fill out a questionnaire, and will interview the architects before making a final selection.

Appleton firms which have formally indicated interest in designing the school are Raymond N. LeVee and Associates, George C. Naroveck, Sauter-Seaborne and Schutte-Phillips-Mochon, whose main office is in Milwaukee.

Appleton Firms' Work

Sauter-Seaborne is designing the proposed Einstein Junior High School. LeVee and Narovec designed the previous seven schools built by the city.

Seventeen non-Appleton firms expressed interest in the high school, including five from Milwaukee, seven from other Wisconsin cities, three from Chicago, one from Grand Rapids, Mich., and one from New York City.

Kurtz said he expected to hear from half a dozen others if the board decided not to limit consideration to Appleton firms.

Kurtz said committees have been planning for the various departmental areas of the school for over a year. Local educators will visit several outstanding schools in southern Wisconsin and suburban Chicago within the next month, he said.

The screening committee will meet at 7:30 p. m. Oct. 23 at Morgan School.

Plan Dedication Of Kimberly High

List Speakers, Guests, Program For Nov. 17 School Ceremonies

KIMBERLY — The board of education Monday night approved a program for the dedication of the new Senior High School at 3 p.m. Nov. 17 at the school.

The high school band directed by Gordon Kotkosky will provide music for one-half hour before the program.

The Rev. Joseph Kools, pastor of Holy Name Catholic Church, will give the invocation and Harold Wentzel, president of the board of education, will give the official welcome.

Introduce Guests

Ray H. Hamann, superintendent of schools, will introduce guests including board of education members past and present, village presidents, town chairmen, Wisconsin School Board members, Wisconsin Education Asssociation members, state department representatives, contractors and architects.

Darrell Larson, principal, will make the acknowledgment for the faculty, and George Sylvester, student council president, acknowledgment for the students. The dedication address will be given by Lindley Stiles, dean of education at the University of Wisconsin. This will be followed by a band selection, benediction and lunch served by the PTA units.

Tours of the school will be from 1 to 5 p.m.

Village Pupils Help to Observe Hot Lunch Week

KIMBERLY — School children of Kimberly and Combined Locks are among the 275,600 public school students who will enjoy a well-balanced lunch during National School Lunch Week.

Ray Hamann, superintendent of Schools, reports this food market amounted to $11,146,968 in Wisconsin last year and $11,600 in the Kimberly School system. Each of the 56,492 lunches in Kimberly schools included at least one-half pint of milk purchased from a local dairy.

Six employees handling the lunch program work daily to plan and prepare meals according to government specifications to supply one-third of the child's daily food needs. Both elementary and secondary school lunches sell for 30 cents, reported Hamann.

District Attorney to Address Methodist Men

Nick F. Schaefer, Outagamie County district attorney, will speak Thursday to the Men's Club of the First Methodist Church at its 6:30 p.m. dinner meeting.

New club officers, installed last month by Ray H. Gile and the Rev. Marvin A. Schilling, are William Spetch, president; Melvern Hemmen, vice-president; Harold Potter and Duane Beckman, secretaries; and Wilmer Krueger, recorder.

Gilberto Rojas' Durocs Serve to Spread Good Will in Red-Menaced Country

Citizens, Government Officials Fill Dream of Costa Rican Youth

Crescent Staff Writer

Relations between the United States and Costa Rica have been improved ... thanks to two purebred Duroc hogs.

Several private American citizens, a congressman, airline employees, an ambassador, embassy officials and import officials of Costa Rica actually deserve the credit, however, for satisfying the dreams of a 20-year-old Latin American youth.

Not only has the arrival of the two hogs helped young Gilberto Rojas, but has given the United States Information Service a piece of effective propaganda to spraed across communist-menaced Latin America.

Private Citizens

The USIS has already started to inform Costa Ricans and other Latin Americans how private citizens of the United States came to the aid of a young Costa Rican.

Having the honor of presenting the two Duroc hogs to young Gilberto, with which he can help better his country's meat production, was very satisfying to this reporter.

However, as one of the several people who participated in the finished "Piggy Back to Costa Rica" project and knowing how near to being scrapped the project came several times, the satisfaction was greatly multiplied.

This reporter was assigned to accompany the hogs to Costa Rica. Everything appeared in order and ready to go Oct. 9, but when a trip was made to Milwaukee to confirm all flight arrangements, another snag cropped up. Eastern Airlines would not transport the hogs on the flight that had been arranged by air express so more flight arrangements had to be made. To reach Costa Rica as scheduled, take off time was moved up to Oct. 8. All conditions were again "AOK" and on the afternoon of Oct. 8 "Olk Creek Special" and "Super Countess" were put aboard a truck at Milwaukee for Chicago where they would take to the air.

Everything went fine until during a layover in Atlanta, Ga., where they became lost in freight offices for a short time. By the time they were found, they were already enroute to Miami aboard another airline. So this reporter had to hop a jet and overtake them in Miami. Here again the well made plans faltered when a quarantine officer refused to allow the two hogs out of the U.S. in the crates in which they were being shipped.

Dip in the Surf

With a 16 - hour layover between flights in Miami, the accompanying reporter had planned to make sure the hogs were doing okay and then off to beautiful Miami Beach sands for a dip in the surf. But, with the new delay staring him in the face, it was back to the freight offices in search of new crates. After making the rounds of freight offices in search of crates, a LASCA Airline freight manager came up with the idea of using a revamped horse stall. He said it would not be ready for the morning flight. After explaining all of the previous delays, the sympathetic manager agreed to call in extra help to ready the stall and meet the morning flight.

Thursday morning it was back to the air for the final hop to San Jose where Gilberto, his family and members of the U.S. Embassy were waiting.

Members of the USIS staff and the U.S. Agricultural attache to Costa Rice and a member of his staff had been alerted by Congressman Byrnes' office two weeks prior to the arrival and had another set of plans arranged.

Well Worthwhile

With Gilberto's cousin in charge of taking the hogs to their new home, Gilberto and Sawall were on their way to be greeted by Ambassador Raymond Teller who had been keeping an eye on the project.

After learning the importance Ambassador Teller put on the project, the setbacks and delays were well worthwhile.

One Embassy official said the people of Costa Rica will now know that the people of the United States are taking an active interest in their well being.

Gilberto, had patiently waited several months, not knowing fully why so many delays were encountered. He was equally gracious when he boarded the freight plane at El Coco International Airport in San Jose to take his first look at his prize animals.

Red Tape

Although not completely aware of how important the hogs really were to Gilberto and his family, the group of Wisconsinites responsible for the project waded through mountains of red tape to grant the Latin American youth his wish.

Before the first attempt to Weyauwega farmer Walter Kaminski and Waupaca County Agent Joe Walker was scuttled in Milwaukee, several weeks of work had already been put into the project.

During the early preparations to ship the hogs last July, Gilberto's request seemed fairly simple to fulfill. While visiting the Kenneth Bleck farm last year under the International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) program, Gilberto asked if the family would send him two purebred hogs after he had returned home and saved enough money to pay for them. Not knowing whether he was serious about the request, Mr. and Mrs. Bleck agreed. They were a little bit surprised in April when a letter arrived from Costa Rica saying he had now saved enough money and would they now send the hogs.

The request was turned over to Walker, who in turn suggested the best breed to send would be Durocs and recommended Kaminski as the farmer from whom to purchase the hogs. When contacted, Kaminski agreed to help the boy by selling him two hogs at half price. The necessary paper work was completed, crates were built and transportation arrangements made. A trip to Milwaukee was made and here the first real snag encountered when the transportation arrangements broke down. Upon the return of Walker and Kaminski from Milwaukee, Post-Crescent regional editor Roy F. Valitchka learned of their plight. He, in turn, started another set of wheels turning by contacting the office of Rep. John Byrnes, Rep. Green Bay. With this new set of wheels slowly grinding away, plans progressed from July to October when another pair of hogs were readied and delivered to the Eastern Airlines freight office in Milwaukee.

As for Gilberto, he has now been joined by his cousin in the hog raising venture and three of their uncles are also interested in entering the hog business as soon as a herd is developed.

Feed For Hogs

Before arriving in Costa Rica and seeing the Rojas farms there was some question on how feed for a herd of over 150 hogs could be raised on just a few acres. In Gilberto's letters to the Bleck family or when he was visiting in the U. S. he did not explain that two full crops are raised each year and in between the corn plants, beans are also planted. Therefore four crops are taken from the same field in one year.

A special banana which is used for hog feed is grown in with coffee plants. The banana trees serve a dual purpose. They shade the delicate leaves on the coffee bean trees and also produce feed for the hogs.

City Denies Union Requests

for emergency work. They presently are guaranteed two hours pay.

- Specifying the regular work day before Christmas (from noon on) as a paid holiday is being considered, but the city was in no position to make an offer now.
- There was no reason for going along with the union request that a three-man panel be established to resolve grievances and discharges when an impasse has been reached when going through regular channels. Instead of a panel, which would include a third "outside" party, the committee said any unresolved matter should be turned over to the 20-member common council for a final decision.
- Consideration is being given to the request for three weeks vacation after 10 years service, and four weeks after 20 years.
- The present sick leave plan is adequate and the union request of one day sick leave per month worked was rejected.
- The committee is investigating the possibility of changing the city's present group hospitalization and medical insurance carrier.

Decision Basis

"I think we can adequately defend our position on these matters," Krueger said. He explained the basis for many of the committee decisions was a comparison of pay and fringe benefits of municipal employees in other Fox Valley cities. Private industry pay scales also were checked.

"Comparisons show Appleton employees are getting good wages," Krueger said.

Schlieve said he objected to making comparisons with other Valley cities. "Let's face it—you can't compare the booming economy of Appleton with depressed areas such as Oshkosh, Sheboygan and Fond du Lac," Schlieve said. He said if comparisons are to be made, they should be of valuations, tax rates and ability to pay.

Union Rejection

"I don't have to go back to the membership to tell you right now that we are rejecting what you have given us here tonight," Schlieve told the committee. "I can't see how in the world you can sit there and say you will give city employees nothing'," Schlieve added.

County Board Okays New Airport Contracts

The cross runway will be 5,100 feet in length.

Runway Bases

J. L. Donoghue, president of Ralph Burke, Inc., told the board there will be three types of base for the project at various points at the port — three inches of blacktop on a 6 inch compacted base for light aircraft, 6 inches of concrete on 6 inches of aggregate base for intermediate aircraft (up to DC-3) and 9 inches of concrete on 8 inches of compacted base for jet usage.

Catlin answered a query from Supv. Eugene Kloes on prospects for obtaining federal aid to help finance the project. He said the county, under federal law, must be reimbursed for 50 per cent of the land acquisition costs.

Fund Priority

"If the state allocates federal funds for any other project, we have the legal right to stop them because of our priority."

The county will reapply for federal aid for the balance of the project, but Catlin pointed out that FAA will not award any other funds until the CAB has made its decision in the regional airport hearings.

MAX FREEDMAN

Washington correspondent for The Manchester Guardian, will soon start writing for readers of the Post-Crescent.

Starting soon—you can read the column and comment of Max Freedman, Washington correspondent for England's famous Manchester Guardian, in The Post-Crescent.

He'll be published several times a week.

Max Freedman will bring you a deeper understanding and greater wisdom of men and affairs in the nation's capital.

What sort of man is this 48 year old, black-haired Canadian, whose newspaper dispatches are required reading for modern history students at Oxford and Cambridge?

Freedman's day starts before dawn—at 5 a.m. when he gets out of bed to spend two hours reading American and British history before going to work. There are 15,000 books in his personal library; another 1,500 are in his office.

"I have a passionate interest in the past," he says.

He echoes George Santayana, the philosopher who wrote "those who do not understand the past are condemned to repeat it." To Freedman, the events of the past, linked by their causes, build the chain of the future.

This man of books, poetry, history and the classics has a knowledge of the inner circles and inner working of Washington that is considered unsurpassed by his colleagues in the Press Gallery.

Freedman knows whom to ask and what to ask them. He sifts through the conflicting fact and fancy that pours from official Washington and writes meaningful and readable prose.

He is a close friend of statesmen, diplomats, judges. He had breakfast with the President on the day Kennedy announced his candidacy for the White House.

His hobby is the history of the Supreme Court and he spends his leisure hours writing a biography of Mr. Justice Felix Frankfurter—at Justice Frankfurter's specific request. He also is writing a biography of the late Judge Learned Hand of the U.S. Court of Appeals. Freedman is an artful master of language, has a Churchillian knack of the eloquent phrase.

Time magazine has called Freedman Washington's most influential foreign correspondent.

Max Freedman has that sense of news perspective . . . a sense of the sweep of history that rises above the immediacy of today and measures its shadow against the events of yesterday and the portents for tomorrow.

Ellsworth Wins 'Comeback' Award in NL

Southpaw Compiled 22-10 Mark After Dismal 9-20 Season

BY JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP) — Young Dick Ellsworth, voted the National League's comeback baseball player-of-the-year in the annual Associated Press Poll, is happy to get the award but never wants to win it again

"No thanks," said Ellsworth who compiled a 22-10 record with the Chicago Cubs in 1963 after a horrible 9-20 mark in 1962. "If you have to lose 20 games one year and then come back and win 20 the next, I don't want it anymore."

The 23-year-old left-hander credits the development of a slider for his season, which included a 2.10 earned run average with 75 walks and 185 strikeouts in 290 2-3 innings

Texas Rated Tops in AP Grid Poll

BY JOHN CHANDLER

The Texas Longhorns, who have worked their way up step by step, took over the No. 1 spot today in The Associated Press poll of the nation's college football teams, leading a wholesale shuffling resulting from last weekend's stunning upsets.

The Longhorns finally climbed into the top spot by knocking off Oklahoma 28-7 Saturday. The Sooners had been rated the No 1 team in the country going into the game.

Coach Lauds Ends Farmer, Goodman

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin Coach Milt Bruhn contends his football team has a long way to go on defense if it expects to repeat as Big Ten champions.

Bruhn gave his squad only a light workout Monday after its 38-20 victory over Purdue and then called the players together to look at movies of the game.

"We are firing out pretty good and blocking fairly well," Bruhn said, "but when it comes to defense we are going to have to be a lot more sure with our tackling.

"We also have to bear down on these third down yardage and long situations," he said. "We're letting too many players off the hook."

The Badgers take on Iowa at Iowa next Saturday. Both teams are undefeated in Big Ten competition, with one victory each.

Bruhn said that among the rookies, ends Steve Goodman and Ralph Farmer did good jobs against Purdue.

A Good Target

"Farmer looked like he really meant business when he caught two passes," Bruhn said. "Goodman, who has been good on defense, also was a good target."

Farmer caught two passes for 25 yards while Goodman picked off two short tosses for 11 yards.

"Some of our veteran linemen are beginning to perk up and play ball," Bruhn said. "I especially noticed that Roger Pillath and Ron Paar were hitting better."

Pillath, a tackle, is a 6-3, 245-pound wrestling champ. Paar is a 5-11, 210 pound senior guard.

Wisconsin is expected to be without the services of defensive safety Ron Frain and end Larry Howard for its second conference tilt.

Injuries suffered Saturday are expected to sideline the pair for a week. Howard reinjured his right knee, which has been bothering him all season, and Frain has a right shoulder hurt. Howard was in a hospital for treatment Monday and Frain was not in uniform. His right arm was in a sling.

The 4-way tie for the Fox River Valley Conference lead, could continue for another week—that is, if the co-leaders inoculate themselves with an anti-upset serum.

Appleton, Oshkosh, Sheboygan North and Sheboygan South, who boast identical records (3-1), take on second division foes this weekend. Thus far, none of the bottom four teams has beaten any of the leaders this season—but anything can happen in the well-balanced league.

Only South faces a seemingly easy task when it invades winless Fond du Lac. North welcomes Manitowoc's Ships, whose only two losses have been by close margins.

Appleton and Oshkosh face the Green Bay entries, who are always dangerous despite their 1-3 records. AHS visits East Friday night, while the Indians welcome the Wildcats Saturday.

Vike-Ripon Tilt Could Be Most Uneven in 25 Years, Says Heselton

Versatile Ankerson Leads Attack of Unbeaten Redmen

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

When the state's two oldest rivals, Lawrence and Ripon, whose competition began in 1893, clash on the football field Saturday afternoon, it could be the most "uneven" match in the last quarter century.

That's what Coach Bernie Heselton, a man who has directed Viking football fortunes for the past 26 years, had to say about Saturday's Homecoming struggle at Ripon. And the veteran mentor has plenty of evidence to support his case.

First there is a 210-pound, 6-4 senior from Neenah, who plays quarterback with Ripon. He is Jack Ankerson.

Perhaps one of the most versatile athletes the Midwest Conference has ever seen, Ankerson has done just about everything with the football this year. He runs, he passes and he kicks extra points and field goals.

Leads in Scoring

Ankerson leads the Midwest Conference in scoring, just as he did last year. He is being watched by professional teams this season and has not disappointed them. Last week, for example, he ran for two touchdowns, caught a pass for another and kicked five extra points.

Secondly the comparative records give Ripon a wide edge. Lawrence has dropped three of its first four games, scored only 36 points and has given opponents 94 points. Ripon has not been seriously pressed in winning four straight games.

Heselton's final evidence might be the long injury list of the Vikings. Lawrence has not started the same team twice. Three of the four backfield starters last week, for example, were on the sidelines by the second period.

Bob Hansen, the sophomore quarterback who directed the Vikes to a quick score in the first period, is the latest. He was in the hospital Sunday. He joins Paul Cromheecke, Bill Prange and Jack Robertson on the disabled list.

In addition, the Vikes will probably have only part-time help for Walt Chapman, co-captain Carl Berghuit, Curt Buchholtz, Dave Brainard and Tim Knabe. All have been injured in the past few games and are still not at full strength.

The Vikings turned in their best game of the year last Saturday in dropping a 20-12 game to Grinnell. "Naturally, we were disappointed with the outcome, but happy with the improvement," the coach said The final Lawrence push reached the Pioneer 1-yard line with the potential equalizing touchdown in the last 18 seconds.

"The injuries hurt us," Heselton continued. "With the breakup of the starting lineup we had worked with all week in the second quarter, we had to fill in. We were happy with the way quarterback Dennis Koskelin and Brainard came through in the clutch."

Heselton also cited the defensive play of Bob Mueller and the running of Pat Keane.

Vike Films Will Be Shown Tonight

A Lawrence Men's club football smoker will be held at 8 p.m. today in the Appleton Elks club (first-floor dining room).

Viking game movies will be shown, and Coach Bernie Heselton will provide the commentary. Refreshments will be served.

Steelers Ask Waivers on Bob Ferguson

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League asked waivers Tuesday on fullback Bob Ferguson with the hope of making a trade before next Sunday's deadline.

Ferguson, a two-time All-America from Ohio State, was the Steelers' No. 1 draft pick in 1962, but as a pro he has been hurt on three different occasions and has never really gotten started with the Steelers.

Ferguson, who scored 26 touchdowns in college, was the first Negro player ever to win the Maxwell Award. He was named player of the year by the Sporting News and the Washington and Cleveland Touchdown Clubs.

The 5-foot-11, 220-pound back lives at Troy, Ohio.

Gophers Lose Faust For Illinois Game

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota learned Monday that linebacker Paul Faust has been lost for the Illinois game Saturday, and possibly longer, because of a dislocated shoulder suffered against Northwestern.

Ran Up Enough Yardage to Win By 50 Points, Lombardi Claims

Taylor Says He's Not Bothered by Bout With Hepatitis

GREEN BAY (AP) — Green Bay Packer Coach Vince Lombardi apparently isn't satisfied with the play of his National Football League champions despite the fact they have won four and lost only one game in the young season.

Lombardi and his squad viewed pictures of the Packer-Minnesota Viking game Monday which the Green Bay team won 37-26—thanks to a blocked Viking field goal attempt in the final minutes of play.

"We ran up enough yardage to win by 50 points," Lombardi said, "but we gave the ball away six times—four on first down plays." The Packers lost the ball four times on fumbles and twice on pass interceptions.

The Packer coach said that fullback Jim Taylor, who played only in the first quarter, probably would be in shape for the Green Bay game at St. Louis with the Cardinals next Sunday. The coach said he did not use Taylor after the first period because he "was not feeling well."

Will Be All Right

"Taylor will be all right," Lombardi said.

Taylor, who had an attack of hepatitis during the off season, sustained a groin injury early this year.

"I am not bothered from that bout with hepatitis," Taylor said. "I don't get tired and my weight stays the same at 215."

Taylor was replaced by Earl Gros Sunday and the big fullback from Louisiana State gained 67 yards in 15 carries for rushing honors. However, he fumbled twice and one of his miscues led to a Minnesota touchdown.

At St. Paul, Coach Norm Van Brocklin and his staff watched movies Monday of his team's game with Green Bay and concluded that his squad was beaten by a great individual defensive effort.

Herb Adderley blocked a field goal try from the 10-yard-line with two minutes to go, and the Packers' Henry Gremminger picked up the loose ball and raced 80 yards for a touchdown to insure the Green Bay victory.

"Adderley made a play that was close to superhuman," Van Brocklin said. "There was nothing particularly wrong with our execution of the field goal. Adderly just willed himself into blocking it."

Van Brocklin said that his reserve fullback Tom Wilson will be lost for two weeks or more because of a shoulder separation he sustained in the Packer game.

Pittsburgh Asks For Waivers on Johnny Logan

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates asked waivers Monday on veteran infielder Johnny Logan for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release.

Logan, 35, entered the major leagues in 1951 with the old Boston Braves. He went to Milwaukee with the Braves, then was traded to the Pirates in 1961.

The National League's All-Star shortstop in 1955, Logan has a lifetime batting average of .268. He hit .232, mainly as a pinch hitter, the past season.

Begins Workouts Today

Kilmer May be Playing for 49ers Within Next 4 Weeks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Halfback Bill Kilmer, recovering far faster than anticipated from a compound leg fracture and subsequent infection, may be playing for the San Francisco 49ers in four weeks.

The way the 49ers ground game has been producing, Kilmer could be an improvement even if his leg were still broken.

Kilmer, a former UCLA star and No. 1 San Francisco draft pick in 1961, sped off a San Francisco Peninsula Freeway last Dec. 6 and wound up in a marsh of muddy water, his right leg broken and his car wrecked.

He lay on his back for three months in a San Francisco hospital while the leg mended and physicians treated an infection picked up from the water.

"I guess it would be pretty tough to get back this year," Kilmer said last February. Some thought it would be pretty tough for him ever to play football again.

He chinned himself in his hospital bed, then began a therapy routine after his discharge.

Today he planned his first workout of the season with the 49ers. Running, exercising and therapy will be Kilmer's program for four weeks.

Then doctors will take X rays of his leg and decide if he can play this year or should wait until 1964.

Heavyweight Given 50-50 Chance to Live

Ernie Knox Was Knocked Out by Wayne Bethea

BALTIMORE (AP) — Heavyweight boxer Ernie Knox was given "about a 50-50" chance for survival after undergoing emergency surgery early Tuesday, a few hours after he was knocked out by Wayne Bethea in the ninth round of a scheduled 10-round professional fight.

Knox, listed in critical condition at Provident Hospital, lay on the floor of the ring in Baltimore's Coliseum for 10 minutes before he was removed on a stretcher after the bout.

Dr. Charles Tommassello, the ringside physician for the state athletic commission, said Knox's chance of survival is "about 50-50."

Dr. Tommassello said the 26-year-old Baltimore fighter never lost consciousness.

Able to Open Eye

"He was able to open and close his eyes in the ring on command and a neurological examination in the dressing room proved negative," the physician said.

As a precautionary measure, Knox was taken to the hospital, where his condition became worse during the night. Dr. William H. Mosberg Jr. then performed emergency surgery for a subdoral hemorrhage.

Knox, outweighted by Bethea 205 to 178 pounds, was fighting his 19th professional bout. His record now is 10-6-3.

Bethea, 31, once was a contender in the heavyweight rankings. The veteran from New York used his greater experience and weight to good advantage throughout Monday night's fight and scored heavily with body blows before the end came at 1:15 of the ninth round.

Knox was floored for a nine-count earlier in the ninth before being counted out after a flurry of punches by Bethea.

Paul Lowe Tops AFL Rushers

Dawson Sets League Pace in Aerial Department

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Lowe the fleet halfback of the San Diego Chargers, is out to prove that he does not have to rank behind either Billy Cannon or Abner Haynes when it comes to toting that ball.

The latest American Football League statistics show Lowe out front in the rushing department with 396 yards on 53 carries, an awesome average of 7.4 yards per effort.

The 205-pound Lowe, a former Oregon State hurdler, missed the 1962 season due to a fractured arm. But this is a brand new season. Lowe darted through the New York Jets' defense for 161 yards on 16 carries last Sunday, running his AFL career total to 2,018 yards.

Although the Oakland Raiders are on a losing streak, Art Powell still led the pass receivers with 37 for 606 yards. Kansas City's Len Dawson ranked first among the passers on the complicated six-department ratings.

Bowling Tips

BY DON CARTER AND MARION LADEWIG

BY MARION LADEWIG

If your hand turns to the right (see illustration) — clockwise — as you release the ball, you will probably throw what is known as a back-up ball. Very bad.

A back-up is the opposite of a curve or hook. It will travel straight for a while, then bend toward the right. Because this motion is away from the pins,

It is unlikely to cause a strike. To correct, concentrate on keeping your thumb pointing up or somewhat to the left as you let the ball go.

Dick Tiger To Defend Title Dec. 7

Meets Giardello In 15-Rounder at Atlantic City

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The first championship boxing match in New Jersey in 13 years is scheduled Dec. 7 in Atlantic City's Convention Hall with middleweight champion Dick Tiger defending his title against Joey Giardello in a 15-round bout.

The date was announced Monday by State Athletic Commissioner Joseph F. Walker.

Walker said he approved official contracts that changed the previous Dec. 5 date for the fight The contracts stipulate that Tiger, of Nigeria, and Giardello, of Philadelphia, must train in Convention Hall for three weeks before the match.

It will be Atlantic City's first title bout and the first one in New Jersey since Sugar Ray Robinson defeated Charley Fusari Aug. 9, 1950, for the welterweight crown in Jersey City.

Walker said both fighters will receive a percentage of the gate. The breakdown was not disclosed, but there were reports that Tiger would get 47½ per cent and Giardello 15 per cent.

Attending the meeting Monday were Giardello and Jersey Jones, Tiger's American manager.

Claridge Has Knee Injury

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska quarterback Dennis Claridge spent the weekend in a hospital for treatment of a knee injury suffered in the Air Force-Nebraska football Game Saturday.

Coach Bob Devaney said Monday it will not be known until Wednesday whether Claridge will be able to play against Kansas State Saturday.

Lamonica Escapes Injury in Collision

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Daryle Lamonica, reserve quarterback of the American Football League's Buffalo Bills, escaped serious injury Monday when his automobile and another car collided in suburban Cheektowaga.

Lamonica, 22, required nine stitches to close a nose cut.

The driver of the other car was not hurt.

Eastern Teams Have 5-0 Record

Packers Will Try to Score West's First Win in Inter-Conference Play

BY MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP)—Hanging out the pro football wash—or, getting a day in the sun for the items crowded off the line earlier:

The National Football League, which lists one inter-conference battle on each week's program, matches its division runners-up this Sunday, with the Green Bay Packers taking on the Cardinals at St. Louis. Both have 4-1 records.

The West will be trying to break the East's domination so far this season. Dallas' 17-14 victory over Detroit last Sunday brought the East's record to 5-0.

Even the Dodgers didn't do that well.

Plan Ahead Dept: The pros are masters of the well-conceived, well-executed play. So what happned Sunday?

Green Bay led Minnesota 30-28. The Vikings attempted a field goal from the 10 that would have put them ahead but Herb Adderley broke through to block the try. Said Adderley:

"I had first lined up on the right side, but the man holding the ball for the kick had his back to me. I wanted to distract him from his concentration on holding the ball. So I moved over to the right side. Then I just ran around the line, and the ball hit me on the face guard."

And at St. Louis, Cardinal quarterback Charlie Johnson faded to pass from his 28 with Pittsburgh leading 23-17 and time running out. He couldn't find a receiver on the play called.

"I intended to throw the ball into the dirt to stop the clock," said Johnson, 'but Bobby Joe Conrad was running so wide open I just had to throw it to him."

The Cards' 24-23 victory was the first in the NFL this season by one point. There have been two ties in the 58 games played in the NFL and AFL, one in each league...Rudy Bukich of the Chicago Bears, Billy Wade's sub, is probably the best pinch hitter in the pros In two games, he's connected on 14 of 16 passes...Coming off the bench cold, probably presents the biggest problem for the field goal kickers, but Tommy Brooker of the Kansas City Chiefs is running into a different kind of problem. In the final five minutes of a 35-26 loss to Buffalo, he tried a 49-yarder and a 35-yarder. Both were long enough. The first struck the cross bar. The second hit an upright...

I got it, you take it: The option play seems to be enjoying unusual success among the pros. Three non-quarterback types hit on scoring throws Sunday—John David Crow of the Cardinals, Tom Moore of the Packers and Gerry McDougall of the San Diego Chargers. All three teams won.

First Masters Winner Dies

Horton Smith Victim of Hodgkins Disease

DETROIT (AP) — Horton Smith, 55, winner of golf's first Masters tournament, died shortly after midnight Tuesday New Grace Hospital.

Smith, professional at the Detroit Golf Club since 1946, was taken to the hospital Monday night after collapsing in his car while on the way to see his doctor.

Coonen, 550; and B. Otis, 568.

Bob Schmitz fired a 233 and a 620 in the Sportsmen's League at Hahn's. Wisconsin Bearing holds a 4-game lead.

Other honor counts in the loop were Denis Reinl, 568; Bernie Ernst, 578; Ron Bunkleman, 556; Ed Kinnard, 554; Chet Steiner, 566, and Bob Greene, 558.

Carl Hoehne had a 563 in the KCA General Office loop. Don Hagerla registered a 557, Charles Stigall, a 554, Art Stromske, 558, and Harold Hedberg, 553.

Planning leads Kimlark by 1½ games in the standings.

Sacramento Girl Youngest to Swim Length of Lake Tahoe

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A teenage Sacramento girl, the youngest person to swim the chilly 25-mile length of Lake Tahoe, has set her sights on the English Channel and she's confident she'll swim it next year.

Leonore Modell, 13-year-old eighth grader, swam the cold, Sierra Mountain lake in 14 hours, 34 minutes last week despite winds strong enough to whip up whitecaps.

Her coach, Paul Herron of the Sacramento YMCA, said her time is a Tahoe record. Few have swum the length of the lake, and the best previous time Herron remembers was "about 17½ hours" by a man.

Leonore will be 14 next August when Herron plans to take her to France to practice for her channel attempt early in September.

"My goal is to swim the channel," she said. "I don't know beyond that. I'd like to try to break records in different countries around the world, I guess..."

Born and raised in Sacramento, her father George, a carpenter, taught her how to swim when she was five.

Lolita Schade Smacks 579 in Couples Loop

Series Tops for Appleton Women This Season

Lolita Schade recorded the best women's series count of the season over the weekend when she boomed a 579 series in the Cigarette Couples Leagues at Hahn's Lanes.

Her top game total of 226 was the second best this season. Bernice Beyer had a 231 Oct. 12.

Dick Gregorius had the top men's count for the evening, a 577 set. Other top scores were Bob Tuttrup, 566; Ed Reynebeau, 574; Kurt Kronberg, 565; Glen Rohm, 559; Roger Brandt, 563; and Susie Plach, 190.

The Cavaliers (7-2) hold the team lead.

Hits 601 Series

Emery Eggenberger hit a 225, and Harold Nelson connected for a 601 series in the Rainbow Couples League at the 41. Irene Rondou smashed a 520 to lead the women's scores. The Red team (7-2) leads.

John DeYoung's 238 and 616 counts were the best recorded in the Knights of Columbus Couples League at the 41 Bowl. The Special K team holds a slim half-game lead.

Don Krause hit a 225 and 568 and Bea Hagman had a 508 series. Cy Lippert added a 583 set.

Bill Noffke led the action in the Hillshire Couples loop with a 604.

Bernice Beyer Hits Highest Women's Total

Posts 231 Game; Lou Rogers Is Next With 224

Bernice Beyer thumped a 231 singleton, highest game on Appleton lanes this season for women, to lead the Fish Couples League at Hahn's Lanes.

Bernice finished with a 521 series. Top score for the men was a 600 series by Heinie Staedt.

The Minnows (7-2) lead the league and the only other honor score was a 576 series by John Plach.

Lou Rogers belted a 224 game and a 552 series to lead the women in the Candy Bar Couples League at the 41 Bowl. Her singleton was the second best locally this season and the series ranks as sixth best.

For the men Ray Quella had a 561 series, Harry Sturgis had 559 and Earl Schmidt posted a 555. Bit-o-Honey (8-1) is the league leader.

Vern Kroll had a 597 series to pace the Post-Crescent Couples League at Hahn's Lanes. Helen Mitchell led the women with a 502 series.

Editorial and Delivery (8 - 1) are tied for first place. Other honor scores included Earl Hoffman, 561; Bob Ziegler, 555 and Howie Rehfeldt, 551.

Viking Harriers Bid for Fourth Straight Win

A Lawrence College cross country team, which holds a 3-meet winning streak, will travel to Ripon Saturday for a match with the Redmen harriers.

Varsity and freshmen from both schools are expected to compete. The tentative starting time is 11 a. m.

Coach Gene Davis' team overwhelmed a segment of the Grinnell harriers last Saturday, 18-40. The Vikes swept six of the first eight spots in the 3-mile race.

Leading the Vikings Saturday will be a pair of fine sophomores and two senior co-captains. The co-captains, Dick Gram of Billings, Mont., and Bill Holzworth of Hinsdale, Ill., have each reduced times in recent meets. Holzworth was second in 16.49 Saturday, and Gram third (17:05).

The sophomores are Kim Dammers of Champaign, Ill., and Henry Kaiser of Lafayette, Calif. Dammers won the race against Grinnell, in 16:42, while Kaiser finished fifth. Steve Landfried, another soph, was seventh, and Bob Bonewitz was eighth.

This will be the first meet of the year for the Lawrence freshman runners.

Browns Not Trying to Show Up Former Coach With Inspired Playing

Only Adjustments Were Needed, Says Jimmy Brown

BY JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Brown bristles when it is suggested that the Cleveland Browns are playing inspired football just to show up ex-Coach Paul Brown.

"There is no animosity in us at all," the Cleveland fullback told the New York Quarterback Club Monday. "We're not trying to prove anything about Paul, except that we can play football.

"I sort of feel sorry for him (Paul). He is a proud man. He was a great coach. With a couple of adjustments he could have been top dog in Cleveland for years with a terrific team. Because of this it is sort of a tragedy.

"Nobody wishes Paul bad luck. We hope he goes out and gets a team. We are looking forward, not back. We have a positive attitude."

New Attitude

Jimmy said Blanton Collier, the club's new coach, had instilled a new attitude and a new philosophy into the team He pointed out that many of Paul Brown's plays were retained

"It used to be that you did your job and didn't worry about the others," he said. "That was great as long as we had great personnel. Then the league balanced off. We needed spirit and a different attitude. Now we have it.

"Blanton maintained all the good things and added a few more. The little things make a difference.

"Paul was a real fine coach. Blanton is a real fine coach and has a little more compassion for people."

Naturally, Jimmy had some remarks to make about Sam Huff, the Giants' middle linebacker who usually keys on him.

Little Flare Up

"I looked down at my ankles so many times and saw No. 70 (Huff's number) that we're going to have to do something about him in the beginning of the game next time." Brown looked at Huff in the audience and added, "You had a good first half."

Brown said the publicity of his personal duel with Huff had been great and admitted there had been a little flare-up now and then.

"We've played against one another for six years," said Jimmy. "And we had words once or twice. Two scrapes in six years isn't bad."

Brown went out of his way to point out that the quarterbacking of Frank Ryan and the fine play by Cleveland's re-made offensive line were being overlooked in some talk about the team.

"The line came on faster than we thought it would," he said. "Some of the writers wrote it off as nothing in the exhibition season. They believe in themselves and in me. Now they tell me before a game 'we're going to get you 150 today'. I get better downfield blocking than ever."

Pennel Wins Gold Medal

Vaults 15-7½ in Tokyo; Julian Wins Marathon

TOKYO (AP)—John Pennel, the world's first 17-foot pole vaulter, cleared only 15 feet 7½ inches today but won the gold medal in his specialty at Tokyo's International Sports Week.

Pennel, a Northeast Louisiana State athlete from Miami, Fla., tied with Wolfgang Reinhardt of Germany but won on the fewest misses. The U.S. ace cleared the bar on the first jump while the German didn't get over until his second try. Pennel's pending world record is 17-feet-¾.

Jeff Julian, 27-year-old bank clerk from New Zealand, won the marathon in two hours, 18.6 minutes as Peter McArdle, the U.S. representative from New York, finished 30th in 2.44:44.6.

Eugene Hamori of Philadelphia picked up another gold medal for the United States by winning the sabre event in the fencing competition. Michale Dasaro of New York was third back of Japan's Mitsuyuki Funamizu.

A brilliant swimming performance put Sweden's modern pentathlon team ahead with only one more event—the cross country run—to go. The Swedes had 10,694 points with the U.S. second with 10,504. Swedish swimmers racked 3,110 points in swimming to 2,795 by the Americans.

Soviets Submit Four Proposals for Olympics

Brundage Warns Against Use of 'Political Weapons'

BADEN-BADEN, Germany (AP)—The Olympics' Executive Board, meeting for the 60th time in 67 years, found itself in the cold war today up to its stop watch pocket.

But President Avery Brundage of Chicago warned everyone concerned that the International Olympic Committee will fight against any efforts to use "political weapons" in the field of sports.

He threw his challenge down as the IOC delved into the Soviet Union's submission of four loaded proposals:

1. A world congress of sport in 1965 to include all present groups and federations under IOC sponsorship.

2. Granting full status to Communist North Korea and Communist East Germany.

3. Break-up of the present "all German" Olympic team, and as a consequence, give West Berlin special status with its own "team."

4. Some action to ostracize nations such as France, which chose not to sign the pledge against nuclear bomb testing.

Racial Policies

The Russians also are vitally interested in backing a demand to oust South Africa for its racial apartheid policies.

The issues have defied the worlds political leaders in other arenas for years.

Said Brundage:

"We have troubles not of our own making. Every political problem is thrown on our doorstep."

The IOC, meanwhile, set up a subcommittee to study the South African problem. The Verwoerd government's racial segregation policy inspired a demand for South Africa's expulsion from the Olympics.

The South African Olympic Committee denied the charges in a special report submitted Monday and declared that while the colored athletes are not yet good enough to compete on merit, they will nevertheless have eight members on the 55-man team at Tokyo next year.

The IOC also must decide how to cut down some of the Olympic program and vote on whether Detroit, Buenos Aires, Mexico City or Lyon, France gets the 1968 Summer Games.

South Appears To Have Most Rugged Slate

pecially popular in Sheboygan (In fact, several South gridders came onto the field after the game last Saturday to congratulate the Terrors). The victory enabled both South and North to tie AHS and Oshkosh for the lead.

This marks the first time in history that both South and North are in the thick of the fooball title chase at this stage of the season. Another unexpected development in the topsy-turvy season is the decline of GBW, which could finish out of the first division for the first time in decades.

West, which in 1961 completed its second 4-in-a-row title dash in the last 12 years, tied for third last year.

Defending champion South appears to have the toughest road to travel enroute to a title or co-title. The Redmen still must face fellow leaders Oshkosh and North. The game with South will be Oshkosh's only encounter with a contender (the others are against West and Fondy). In addition to meeting South, North's Raiders face Manitowoc and East.

Only Appleton has no games slated with a co-leader. The Terrors meet East, West and Manitowoc — but their only remaining home game is against West Oct. 26.

The Terrors are the only team to have beaten two of their co-leaders (Oshkosh and South). AHS' lone loss was to North. Also, AHS is the only team to have won a crucial game (pairing two of the contenders) by more than one touchdown. The Terrors whipped Oshkosh, 20-0.

Behm Sweeps Formula V Racing Honors

Appleton's Les Behm completed his second straight Volkswagen Formula V sweep last weekend.

Behm took first place in Saturday's 18-mile race and Sunday's 62½-mile feature at Indianapolis Raceway Park. It was the season's last of the Central Division's championship events.

At Wilmot the week before, Behm also took firsts in the preliminary and feature events.

Behm reports he has accepted an all-expense paid, Class A invitation to the Nassau (Bahamas) races in December. He will enter the Volkswagen grand prix.

were the reasons for my big year," said Ellsworth. "I decided I needed it, worked on it and developed it last spring. Coach Fred Martin was a big help and so were pitchers Bob Buhl and Larry Jackson."

No Predictions

Ellsworth refuses to make predictions or set goals for himself.

"I didn't set any goals last year or this year so I'm not setting any next year. But I will say this, the Cubs can be a great club in 1964.

"We're a young club and we're improving. We were better this year and we'll be much better next year."

Ellsworth, his wife and their two children are making their home in Chicago. Dick is employed by a mattress firm in the offseason as a sales representative.

Ellsworth collected 24 votes in the balloting by 68 baseball writers and finished far ahead of Curt Simmons of St. Louis, another southpaw.

Simmons picked up 11 votes. St. Louis shortstop Dick Groat was third with 10, and Ron Santo, the Chicago Cubs' third baseman, received 9.

Ellsworth might have added considerably to his 22 triumphs if his teammates had mustered a little more power. Seven of his defeats came in low-run games. He lost 1-0 and 3-0 games twice and also was victim of 2-1, 3-2 and 3-1 scores.

Elmer Collar to Speak Tonight

NEW LONDON — Elmer Collar, business manager of the Midwest League baseball team from Wisconsin Rapids, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Lion's Club at 6:30 p.m. today at the Elwood Hotel.

Guests for the program will be the New London Boys League umpires.

Mike Ditka, who scored four touchdowns for the Chicago Bears in their 52-14 trouncing of the Los Angeles Rams in Los Angeles Sunday, bowls over Charley Britt (17) as he heads for the goal. Ditka scored on a 14-yard pass from Rudy Bukich in the final period of the game for his fourth TD. The win kept the Bears on top in the Western Division of the National Football League. Seniors Take Vote

Looney Dropped From Oklahoma Grid Squad

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — The University of Oklahoma football team became the object of nationwide surprise for the second time in three days Monday when star halfback Joe Don Looney was dropped from the squad for disciplinary reasons.

The first surprise came Saturday, when the Sooners, then rated No. 1, were soundly outplayed by Texas and defeated 28-7.

Coach Bud Wilkinson declined to comment on the incident. He would not say if the loss to Texas had anything to do with the dismissal of the 224-pound speedster from Fort Worth, Tex.

But Looney's father, Don Looney, a star end for Texas Christain in the late 1930s, told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram that Wilkinson telephoned him to say:

Lots of Ability

"I am sorry it happened. He had lots of ability, but he had some bad practices last week, and we decided that this cost us the ball game."

Looney's father said his son had a sore foot last week which hampered him in practice.

The elder Looney told the Star-Telegram that Wilkinson said the OU senior football players had taken a vote and decided they could do better without his son.

Looney's father said, "evidently those people up there are not our kind of people and I am glad Joe Don is through with them. I just wish this would have happened last week so I could have rooted for Texas."

Contacted at his room in the OU athletic dormitory, the younger Loney told a newsman to call back in 15 mniutes, saying he would discuss the matter then. But on returning the call, the newsman was told by OU end John Flynn, Looney's roommate, that the big senior had moved out of the dormitory and headed for a relative's home in Kansas.

Rumors had persisted for some time that such a move was brewing. Looney reportedly was the object of some displeasure from the coaching staff when he skipped spring training to try out for the track team.

Looney had a banner year in 1962 when he led the nation in punting with a 43.4 yard average, was fifth in the nation in rushing with 852 yards. He also led the Sooners in scoring with 10 touchdowns and 62 points.

But he played at 207 pounds last season and showed up weighing 224 this year. Although Wilkinson never commented on Looney's increased poundage, he reportedly was unhappy about it.

Looney was involved in a brief scuffle with a Sooner assistant during practice recently and was sent home, but was allowed to come back the next day.

California, made the top after moving a step at a time up the ladder.

The Longhorns were fourth in the first regular poll, third in the next, and second a week ago. Oklahoma, leader for the past two weeks, skidded to No. 6

Gets 51 Firsts

The special panel of sports writers and broadcasters gave Texas 51 out of 55 first place votes, after wading through the weekend wreckage that showed last week's Top Ten. In addition, there was one tie, and only two winners.

Two teams, Pittsburgh and Mississippi, benefited by having an open date, and moved up.

Besides Texas, the only other winner among the elite was Wisconsin, which beat Purdue 38-20 and jumped from fifth to second. Wisconsin got the four first place votes that didn't go to Texas.

Pitt advanced from sixth to third while Mississippi jumped from 10th to fifth.

In addition to the defeat of the Sooners, Alabama was upset by Florida, 10-6; Southern Methodist bumped Navy, 32-28; Southern California was beaten 17-14 by Notre Dame; and Penn State was downed by Army, 10-7. Ohio State was tied by Illinois, 20-20.

Just for the record, here's how the pre season poll looked:

1, Southern California 2, Mississippi. 3, Alabama, 4, Oklahoma. 5, Texas. 6, Northwestern. 7, Wisconsin. 8, Arkansas. 9, Navy. 10, tie between Ohio State and Washington.

The Top Ten, with first place votes in parentheses, season records, and total points on the 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis

Team	Points
1 Texas (51) 4-0	546
2 Wisconsin (4) 3-0	487
3 Pittsburgh 3-0	413
4 Ohio State 2-0-1	238
5 Mississippi 2-0-1	218
6 Oklahoma 2-1	191
7 Illinois 2-0-1	147
8 Georgia Tech 3-1	146
9 Alabama 3-1	145
10 Tie, Navy 3-1 and Northwestern 3-1	103

Kimberly JVs Win Over New London

NEW LONDON — The Kimberly junior varsity pulled away from New London's jayvee unit in the second half and went on to a 31-0 victory here Monday night. The victory gave the Papermakers the mythical M-E JV title.

The Papermaker JVs held a 7-0 halftime lead after a 65-yard drive just prior to the end of the half. George Sylvester capped the drive by going over from the one. Jim Vanden Heuvel kicked the extra point.

Kimberly scored early in the third period after Ron Langenhuizen recovered a New London fumble on the Bulldog 35. A Mark Seidel - to-VandenHeuvel pass play, good for eight yards, netted the touchdown.

Seidel added the third TD on a rollout from the two and a 51-yard Dennis Vanevenhoven-to Mike Maas aerial gained a fourth marker. Vanevenhoven accounted for his second TD pass late in the final period when he flipped a short pass to Jim Lace.

Seidl completed five of 17 passes, and Vanevenhoven hit on five of five in the fourth quarter.

Olson Move Confuses Issue

Contest Develops for Second Spot On Republican Party State Ticket

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON—Rivalry for places on the Republican state ticket for next year has abruptly shifted to the second ballot spot as ambitious young politicians of the party jockey for the nomination for the lieutenant governorship.

The possibility of a lively contest for convention endorsement for the lieutenant governorship candidate remains strong, although there are quiet efforts underway to avoid it.

Jack Olson, the incumbent, will bid again for the post, with considerable backing from party men who are grateful for his decision to withdraw from the fight for the gubernatorial nomination in favor of Warren P. Knowles.

Two Others Want Job

But Olson's problem is that at least two other men made some moves to run for lieutenant governor, on the assumption that Olson was in the race for governor to stay, as he had several times declared.

Yesterday Assembly Speaker Robert Haase of Marinette, who had announced his aspiration when Olson declared for the governorship, told reporters he intends to submit his own name to the Republican convention next spring, whatever Olson does.

It is understood that Sen Jerris Leonard of Milwaukee, chairman of the Republican policy committee of the state senate is also anxious to run for lieutenant governor as an advancing step in his own blue-print for a political career.

Leonard might be persuaded to withdraw for Haase, but it is not certain that he would be influenced decisively by Olson's decision.

Olson Favorite

Under the prevailing circumstances, Olson probably would be regarded as the favorite for the backing of the convention, not only because he holds the office and to repudiate him would risk some party factionalism, but because those party leaders who were anxious to persuade Knowles to head their ticket are grateful for Olson's withdrawal on Knowles' behalf.

Virtually all elements of the party now are convinced that the ticket line up will be completed during the next two months with the announcement of Wilbur Renk, of Sun Prairie, that he will seek the nomination for U S senator against Proxmire. Renk already is holding private conferences with party men and prospective campaign contributors and evidently intends to make his declaration at about the end of the year.

Phone Book Delivery Set

33,150 Directories To be Distributed To Appleton Users

Delivery of 1963 telephone directories in Appleton will begin Friday, according to Dick Van Sistine, manager of the Appleton division of Wisconsin Telephone Co installations. Simultaneous deliveries will be made at Neenah, Menasha, Greenville, Hortonville, Kaukauna, Kimberly and Little Chute, he said.

About 33,150 copies of the new directory will be delivered in Appleton. The books will have 42,988 alphabetical listings for Appleton and the surrounding area. Bold face listing, he added now have the numbers also in bold face. The book size and format remains the same.

If new copies of the directory are not received by Oct. 28, Van Sistine said, subscribers should call the company business office.

Civic sections, compiled by the Chamber of Commerce, are retained in the new edition, he explained, along with the reference map and a page for listing frequently called telephone numbers.

Court Installing Tiny Traffic Signals to Slow Windy Lawyers

RICHMOND, Va (AP) — The 4th U S Circuit Court of Appeals is installing miniature traffic signals in its courtroom here. It hopes they will make long-winded lawyers see the light.

On the right side of the lectern which the attorneys use in addressing the court, visible only to the speakers, three small lights are being installed. One is green, one is amber, the other red.

The court plans to give each attorney an allotted time to make his presentation. When he starts, the green light will glow. Five minutes before his time is up, the amber light goes on. When his time expires, the red light goes on. At that point he'd better stop or risk the displeasure of the court.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Make Special Clothespins To Hang Washing in House

BY CAPPY DICK

Some day when you feel you'd like to do something useful for your family, try your hand at making a set of special clothespins to be used for hanging washed garments from the bathroom shower curtain rail.

A half dozen of the special pins will be enough. Start with ordinary wooden clothespins like that in Figure 1. Cut a wire coat hanger into pieces four inches long. With pliers bend each piece into a hook shaped as in Figure 1. Bend the bottom end up slightly.

Attach a hook to each clothespin by means of small staples. The staples can be hammered into the clothespin without interference from the hook if you tip the hook to one side. When the staples have been pounded into place, the hook can be straightened up. The bent-up bottom tips will prevent the hooks from sliding free of the staples.

Figure 2 shows how these special clothespins are used. Simply hook the wires over the shower curtain rail and attach the damp garments by folding enough of the fabric to make it fit tightly between the prongs of the pin.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words Often Misused: "The experiment was QUITE satisfactory" means completely or wholly satisfactory. Otherwise, say, "was FAIRLY satisfactory."

Often Mispronounced: Deign. Pronounce as "dane."

Often Misspelled: Nouns ending in "Y" preceded by a consonant form the plural by dropping the "Y" and adding "ies," as in fly, flies; city, cities. Nouns ending in "Y" preceded by a vowel form the plural by adding "S," as in chimney, chimneys; foray, forays.

Synonyms: Matchless, peerless, unequaled, supreme, unrivaled, incomparable, immitable.

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's Word: Inappetent; wanting in appetite or desire (Accent second syllable). "The dog's inappetent condition necessitated the care of a veterinary."

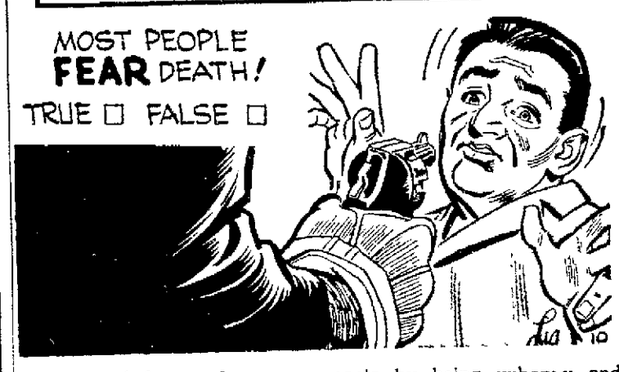
Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph D. and Evelyn M Duvall, Ph D.



True, and for good reasons. Death means the end of their bodies. For most people, both the time and cause are unpredictable. It is also inescapable. The concern of people for death is shown in the strengths of religion that offer life in another world. It is evidenced also in the feelings of guilt that people often have when a relative has died. If they had wished for the death, such feelings may be even worse. In any case, facing the certainty of physical death and making our peace with it is an important task for every individual.

Are there unhealthy ways of feeling angry?

Yes —— No ——

Yes, there are. The neurotic person gets mad inappropriately, and he stays angry for a long while. The psychotic is locked in a world of perpetual anger. He believes that the world is mad at him and he reacts by being unhappy and mad at everyone all the time. Anger that persists over a long period, out of proportion to the actual circumstances is usually unhealthy, and may be a sign of mental illness.

More light is shed on the subject of mental illness in the booklet, 'When Mental Illness Strikes Your Family." To get your copy, send 25 cents and your name and address to this column, care of this newspaper.

It isn't easy to be a good mother-in-law. Yet, many unnecessary arguments, tensions, and misunderstandings can be avoided, when you send for "How to Be a Good Mother-in-Law." This helpful booklet has been designed with one aim — harmony between in - laws. It can be had for 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope, addressed to, "Let's Explore Your Mind," care of this newspaper.

Teaser Ads Drum Up Trade for 'Cleopatra'

Despite Later Movie 'V.I.P.s,' It's $62 Million Nile Story Being Pushed

BY JINGO

Although Elizabeth Taylor in V.I.P.s has replaced Elizabeth Taylor in Cleopatra as the box-office champ in recent days, Cleo still remains a real money-maker for the cinemamoguls.

Apparently the cinemadrummers have decided everyone knows who and what Cleopatra is and have changed their pitch to a low key, but with a twist.

Jingo

According to word from show "biz's "Variety," the Cleo ads have been dropped from the entertainment page and have taken on an airy air.

Some of the teasers go like these: "Think big! See Cleopatra." "Best date ever imported from Egypt! Absolutely delicious—Cleopatra," "My wife didn't speak to me all evening—Cleopatra left her speechless" and "Two on the Nile."

It is said there are some in the advertising business who look askance at levity in their product. Perhaps these long faces should take another look at their viewpoint. After all, the cinemadrummers are selling a $62 million product — and selling it fairly well, too.

If you were a theatrical entrepreneur with the choice of Chekhov, Arthur Miller, Moliere and Shakespeare, what would you put most hope on?

According to the final reports from the Tyrone Guthrie Theatre's first season in Minneapolis, the authors should be rated, Chekhov, Miller, Moliere and Shakespaere.

Overall, the $2,250,000 gamble on the public's acceptance of top-rate repertory played 159 performances, featuring the four above mentioned authors, to an average of 7 per cent capacity for a reasonable net revenue of $3,973 out of a gross take of $721,941.

The break-down reveals something of the popularity of our four authors. "Three Sisters" brought an 82 per cent capacity to worship before Chekhov's genius. "Death of a Salesman" had an 81.2 per cent capacity for Miller and "The Miser" gave Moliere an 80.5 per cent capacity. Guthrie's controversial interpretation of the Bard's "Hamlet" brought in a mere 67.1 per cent capacity for Shakespeare.

Capacity is much in the mind of one of our entertainment entrepreneurs. The Cinderella Ballroom is expecting big capacity Thursday since it has booked in Dave Dudley, a northern Minnesota practitioner of country music.

Dave has quite a career, all the way from a DJ to the composer and performer of one of the biggest records of the year, "Six Days on the Road."

Being a celebrity runs in the Dudley family. His wife, Jean, is a well known handler in the show ring. Her basset hounds have brought home a considerable number of trophies and blue ribbons for her. Even the dogs are entertainment world celebrities—at least they bear the names of big show biz personalities.

Fraternities Boost Queen Candidates in St. Norbert Parade

DE PERE — Performing elephants, a combat tank, and a hootenanny were three phases of fraternity promotions for Homecoming queen candidates at St. Norbert College last week.

The queen will reign at homecoming festivities this weekend when the undefeated St. Norbert team plays Augustana College, South Dakota.

Sigma Beta Kappa, sponsoring Kathy Murphy, Sturgeon Bay, hired the elephants from the circus museum at Baraboo for $150. The fraternity passed out pamphlets with the riddle: "Why do elephants wear green suspenders? To hold up their pants while they vote for Kathy Murphy."

Rides Tank Turret

Jan Zellner, Green Bay, was sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega. She rode the turret of an M-48 tank in the military vehicle portion of the promotional parade, which was joined by the Abbot Pennings High School band.

Cindy Hart, Wauwautosa, was promoted by Alpha Delta fraternity, which organized a campus hootenanny after the parade. About 400 students joined in the half-hour sing.

Celeste Holm Brings an unusual theatrical program to the valley when she appears with Wesley Addy, Gordon Connell and a piano in "With Love and Laughter" at the Civic Auditorium in Oshkosh Saturday. Posing the question, Has the relationship between men and women changed?, Miss Holm will pursue the answer through an evening of music, comedy and drama for the opening program of the Oshkosh Town and Gown series.

All-Around Learning Gets Novak's Nod

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5)—Mr. Novak continues the high standards set by this very worthwhile series with "X Is the Unknown Factor." David Macklin plays a student with a brilliant future as a physicist, but he sloughs off English literature as unnecessary. It's up to Novak (James Franciscus) to teach the boy the need for balanced learning.

7:30-8 (Channel 11)—McHale's Navy gets zanier and funnier each week. Binghamton (Joe Flynn), to ingratiate himself with an admiral who believes leaders should be beloved, tells the admiral his men are giving him a testimonial. The admiral says he'll be there and Binghamton is forced to blackmail McHale (Ernest Borgnine) into helping.

8-9 (Channel 4-5)—The Richard Boone Show turns to comedy with "Where Do You Hide An Egg?" a farcical tale of three stupid, debt-ridden men who decide to steal a safe belonging to a bartender friend. Their plodding efforts to be suave thieves are very funny, and so is the nervous reaction when they discover what the safe contains.

Dry Weather A Threat to North Woods

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The threat of a forest fire in Wisconsin's tinder dry north woods was tempered today by a forecast of scattered showers or thundershowers to break the state's long drought.

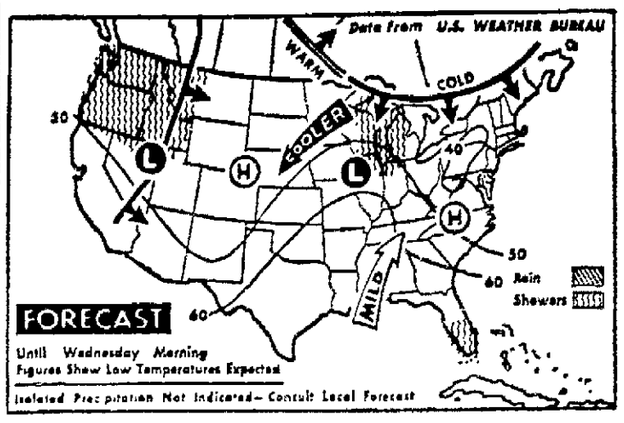
But if the rain does not materialize, the state will continue to flirt with disaster.

State forest protection headquarters said outdoor burning has been restricted in Price County, with more areas to receive restrictions if there is no rain in this 24-hour period.

Monday's skies were cloudy in northwest and mostly clear in the southeast, with only the western portion of the state receiving any rain.

The high temperature in the state Monday was 81 at Pewaukee. Other highs were Lone Rock and Eau Claire, 80; the Beloit-Rockford area, 79; Park Falls, 78; Madison, 77; Wausau, and the Duluth - Superior area, 76; Green Bay, Racine and Burlington, 75; and Milwaukee, 71.

The low temperature in the state overnight was 34 at Milwaukee. Other lows were 44 at Madison, Green Bay and Racine; 48 in the Rockford-Beloit area; 51 at Lone Rock; 54 at Park Falls; 55 at Eau Claire and the Duluth - Superior area, and 59 at LaCrosse.



A Turn to Cooler Weather Tuesday night will be noted in the upper Mississippi valley and the northern Plains. A few showers are expected in the Lakes region and northern parts of the Ohio valley and in southern Florida. Widely scattered showers are due in the north Pacific states and north and central Rockies with some snow in the higher elevations of the central Rockies. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Trading Active On Exchange

Dow Jones Average Up .18 at Noon, Now Reads 742.02

NEW YORK (AP) — Sugars and selected issues showed considerable strength in a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Sugars were still responding to the effects of the hurricane that severely damaged Cuba's sugar crop and cut the potential world sugar supply.

Auto stocks were fairly sturdy in early trading but lapsed into irregularity. Steels were on the upside. Weekly steel production climbed to its highest level in nearly three months.

The industrials as a group showed a small plus on balance. Rails were irregularly lower.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .1 at 277.7 with industrials up .4, rails down .3 and utilities unchanged.

The Dow Jones Industrial average at noon was up .18 at 742.02.

American Crystal Sugar was up more than 2. Gains of about a point were made by Great Western and South Puerto Rico Sugar.

Steels, after a somewhat uncertain start, improved their prices. Aones & Laughlin added a full point. U.S. Steel and Republic added fractions.

Chrysler was steady following Monday's sharp loss. Ford was a fractional gainer while American Motors dipped slightly.

IBM and Zerox rose better than 3 each, U.S. Smelting more than 2.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were mixed.

McKinley PTA to Meet

James Retson, Appleton elementary curriculum coordinator, will speak to the McKinley School PTA on "The School Curriculum" following a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

Wisconsin Cheese

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin cheddar cheese market: steady; demand fair to good; supplies of large styles generally adequate, small styles adequate to short. Prices: cheddars 35⅝-38½; 40-pound blocks 36¼-39; single daisies 38⅝-39; longhorns 38⅝-39½; midgets 37¾ - 40½.

Chicago Poultry

CHICAGO (AP) — (USDA)—Live poultry: wholesale buying prices 1½ lower to 2½ higher; roasters 21½-24; special fed white rock fryers 18-19; heavy hens 17½-19½.

Mother Nature Tricks Everyone With Her Botanical Phenomena

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post Crescent Staff Writer

Old Mother Nature is up to her usual autumnal tricks Some of the leaves on the trees have turned gaudy red yellow orange purple others are being spilled to the ground

How does she do it? What is her recipe?

House

Long ago these most spectacular botanical phenomena of nature were one of Nature s secrets Nobody knew how or why the leaves turned gay colors nobody knew why they fell Even today some of the elements of this autumnal change are only partially understood But there is a general explanation for Mother Nature s fantastic transition

The yellow and gold of the leaves — as in maples birch and aspen — are easiest to explain because the process is simplest The yellows are always there in the leaves but they are masked and hidden by the green chlorophyll during the warmer months

These yellow and gold pigments have names too — carotene and xanthophyll — and they are familiar to all of us The carotene is the pigment abundant in carrots and causes the vivid color of that vegetable Xanthophyll is coloring matter seen in egg yolks and the yellow of canary feathers

These colors are always present in the leaves of the trees During the summer months the tree produces chlorophyll which is green The green is vivid enough to mask the carotene and xanthophyll pigments during the months when chlorophyll is being produced

Then comes autumn and the cool chill crisp weather It is cabbage and even in the garden beet

If the cell sap is acid the plant produces bright reds If the cell sap is alkaline it produces the blues and purples

But if it is doubted that production of reds need sunshine instead of frost one needs only to inspect a red apple It will be seen that the top end — near the stem — which is most exposed to sunshine is the brighter red than the flower end which is down and away from the sunshine

Why do leaves fall?

It happens that late in the summer some time before the crisp days of autumn there is a change in a special layer of cells at the base of the leaf stem (the petiole) Finally the cell layer grows entirely across the base of the petiole Except for thin strands of tissue which pass through this corky cell layer the growth across the petiole is complete

Now the layer is loosely joined and this forms a weak connection between stem and twig In effect the leaf is preparing to cut itself off from the tree by the process which is called abscission ' All that is needed to cause the final break at the corky layer between stem and twig is a rainfall which makes the leaves heavier a gust of wind or perhaps the formation of ice crystals in the cells of the abscission layer The leaf will fall

Then gradually the cells of the leaf die Protoplasts darken and the once brightly hued leaves turn to the universal brown

In some of the oak trees which keep their leaves throughout the winter the abscision layer of cells is not formed until the coming spring It is a common belief that the new spring time buds of these oaks push the dead leaves from their twigs but this is erroneous The oaks merely form their abscission layer in the following spring rather than in the autumn

The reds of the leaves in all of its gradations are caused by coloring materials in the cell sap — a tinted sap which flows within the leaves.

It is the same coloring material which produces red flowers red stems red buds It is found in the cranberry, the radish red

'Lawrence Says

Debate Effects In Political Race Doubtful

Exchanges Fail To Prove Anything On Real Issues

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The chance of another great debate ' between Republican and Democratic Presidential nominees is diminishing

Lawrence

Intimations have been coming from Democratic sources that President Kennedy might take the position that such a debate is unwise No President of the United States has heretofore subjected himself to cross-examination by a political opponent There is evidence, too, that Republicans are begining to be doubtful about the TV show

Senator Goldwater has just declined to debate with Governor Rockefeller, who recently challenged him The Arizona Senator said he didn t see much good in an intraparty debate— with Republican fighting Republican on issues within the party He didn t say whether, if nominated for the Presidency, he would challenge President Kennedy Senator Ribicoff, Democrat of Connecticut thinks a great debate is almost certain He says it will be pretty hard for any candidate to refuse to accept a challenge of debate '

Sooner or later however some Presidential nominee will have the courage to give the American people the real reasons why the great debate' idea is fundamentally a backward step in political campaigning

What Does it Prove?

For what does such a debate really prove? That one candidate is more agile in a fencing match of words than the other or that one is better looking as compared to the other? What does it tell the country of the issues on which the voter should make up his mind? Can a debate covering a variety of questions with impromptu answers, do justice to either nominee's position in a campaign?

There is no reason why just as much value couldn't be obtained by giving each nominee separately a whole evening, if necessary, on the radio and television to answer the questions propounded by a panel of interrogators It would enable each candidate to answer questions in his own way and at whatever length he deemed desirable If the rival nominee were to do the same thing the next evening or a few nights later and the same type of questions were asked there could be an arrangement for rebuttals on subsequent evenings This would be more informative to the voters than the catch-as-catch-can type of debate which was provided in the 1960 campaign

Kennedy Won

The Nixon-Kennedy debates may have changed votes on both sides and the consensus at the time was that Mr Kennedy made a better appearance But wouldn t that same comparison solely on the basis of facial expression or agility in answering questions have been possible if the debate had been longer each evening with each candidate being given a fuller opportunity to discuss on his own all the issues of the campaign?

The great debate" of 1960 gave the impression of being a series of stunts to attract an unprecedented number of viewers and listeners There have of course been TV shows with much larger audiences Thus, it seems plausible that a "great debate" between Jack Paar and Bob Hope on almost any subject would attract an even bigger audience than any political candidates have gathered thus far

American voters by the millions have revealed again and again a superficial attitude toward Presidential campaigns Too many vote on the basis of a personal like or dislike of a candidate s appearance Too many of them pay no attention to the issues or do not really understand the speech making

To center a whole campaign on a comparison of the candidates personalities or even on their fragmentary answers to questions in a TV debate is to leave the choice of a top executive for the nation to the whims of a mass audience

No Tears Shed

Debates are not conducive to a thoughtful presentation of issues Even the famous Lincoln Douglas debates of more than a century ago contain many a statement which both men regretted afterwards

As the qualifications for voting are gradually changed to permit more and more people to vote irrespective of their ability to understand the issue of a campaign the tendency under a system of great debate on TV will be to nominate not the most capable executive in the country but the most spectacular personality — the best showman. That s why if President Kennedy declines to enter a great debate in the 1964 campaign, there will be no tears shed on the part of those citizens who don t believe in the stunt idea but who think each candidate should thoroughly discuss the issues throughout the campaign— each in his own way — so that the press and radio and TV can disseminate widely the views of both for careful study by the voters

3 Men Fined $15 for Loaded Guns in Car

WAUPACA — Three 24-year-old men were each fined $15 before Municipal Justice George Whalen Monday when they pleaded guilty of having an uncased loaded gun in their car Saturday when they were arrested in the Town of Scandinavia

The three men, Donald J Friday 24, and Peter Behrend and Thomas G Hunt, of Oconomowoc said they were looking for a place to do some target shooting

They were arrested by Forest Ranger Sidney Miller, who said they had two guns in their car. The guns were returned to the three men

BY FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy believes U.S. atomic know-how is moving ahead so rapidly that before long it will be dollar-foolish to build surface warships with fuel oil engines rather than nuclear power plants.

It is supported by the Atomic Energy Commission, which in effect touched off the current dispute between the Defense Department and the Navy.

Many months ago, it was learned, AEC Chairman Glenn Seaborg suggested to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara that nuclear power costs were coming down and that the Pentagon should give thought to wider application fo atomic power to surface vessels.

Navy Has Strong Backing

The Navy may have lost the first battle—but with powerful backing on Capitol Hill it may yet win the war.

Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth's abrupt resignation, announced Monday, appears the tipoff that McNamara probably will deny the Navy permission to install nuclear engines in a new aircraft carrier for which Congress last year voted $280 million.

The Navy is not talking about the studies it made to support its bid for the new carrier and, beyond that, for all future warships heavier than 8,000 tons.

Lost Major Factor

But certain members of Congress are aware of the Navy findings, and the matter may come out on the public record if hearings are held.

Cost is a pivotal factor both on the issue of the carriers' future as a weapon either conventionally or atomic-powered, and the longer range matter of building warships of various kinds with nuclear power plants.

The United States some years ago made a start on a nuclear surface fleet but the Pentagon changed direction when costs began getting out of hand. The 85,000-ton Enterprise, world's first and only nuclear carrier, ran up a bill of $474 million.

Encouraging Progress

But Seaborg reported to McNamara that technological progress had been so marked that four nuclear engines installed in the new carrier could furnish

Heart Ailment Causes Death Of Adm. Kirk

Naval Hero of 40 Years Also Served In Diplomatic Posts

NEW YORK (AP) — Adm. Alan G. Kirk, 74, a naval hero who spent 40 years in military service and then went on to high diplomatic assignments, died today in Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

Kirk

Kirk entered the hospital Sept. 1 for treatment of a heart ailment.

He resigned last April as ambassador to Nationalist China because of ill health. He had held the post for almost a year.

Kirk retired from the Navy in 1946 to accept appointment as ambassador to Belgium and minister to Luxembourg.

Served in Russia

He later served three years as ambassador to Russia and for a brief period as director of the country's Psychological Strategy Board.

Kirk left a distinguished and action-packed naval career when he began his diplomatic assignments.

When Allied soldiers stormed into Sicily in 1943, Kirk led a task force that landed a division in less than half the scheduled time and without the loss of a single ship.

In the invasion of France on June 6, 1944, Kirk commanded the huge U.S. Naval task force that landed Allied troops and supported them by bombarding enemy installations on the Normany beaches.

For his part in the invasion of Sicily, Kirk was invested as honorary Knight Commander of the Bath and received the U.S. Legion of Merit.

Other honors which he held included the Army Distinguished Service Medal and the French Legion of Honor.

Probers Told of Mafia Terrorism In Florida Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate probers heard testimony today of Mafia terrorism in central Florida's gay playland — killing and racketeering too carefully managed by a national crime syndicate for any local police force to crush.

Police Chief Neil G. Brown of Tampa told the Senate Investigations subcommittee there have been 23 "gangland slayings" in the Tampa area since 1928, only one of them solved.

Brown said the killings show "how the Mafia uses murder to discipline its membership, to revenge itself against violators of its code and to otherwise eliminate opposition to its criminal activities and goals," and how difficult it is to get witnesses to talk.

Of 145 homicides other than gang killings between 1958 and the end of 1962, he said, only four remain unsolved, and every homicide in the 1960-62 period has been solved.

Brown appealed for federal help for the police of all states and cities in the war on organized crime in which, he said, there are too many frustrations now.

Moroccan Tanks, Planes, Artillery Reported to Cross Border by 60 Miles

ALGIERS (AP)—Algiers Radio claimed today that Algerian forces have recaptured two desert outposts taken by Moroccan troops Monday.

The Algerians said Moroccan troops supported by tanks, planes and heavy artillery swept up to 60 miles over the border Monday in the area of outposts.

The Algerian government never officially admitted that the two places fell to the Moroccan invaders. But today, the radio announcer said in a triumphant voice:

"Our forces have cleared the invaders from Hassi-Beida and Tinjoub."

The broadcast said the Moroccan forces were bringing in heavy reinforcements. It alleged that some of the Moroccan troops were airlifted to the fighting area in planes piloted by American airmen, members of a U.S. military training detachment with the Royal Moroccan Air Force.

The clash occurred in an area 300 miles across the Atlas Mountains from Marrakech, Morocco, where Mrs. John F. Kennedy is visiting this week. U.S. Ambassador John H. Ferguson indicated in Marrakech that the border clash would not curtail Mrs. Kennedy's stay, which is to last until Wednesday or Thursday.

Tank, Plane Attack

The Algerians said that bitter fighting continued throughout Monday, but Moroccan authorities in Rabat said that all fighting ended after their troops occupied the two outposts early in the day. The Moroccans said there were no casualties.

The Algerians claimed their forces still held both places despite a tank onslaught and strafing and bombing from Moroccan planes. They did not mention any casualties.

Foreign Minister Abdelaziz Bouteflika of Algeria told a news conference that Algerian forces were poised to launch a counter-attack to drive out the invaders.

The order to attack will not be given, Bouteflika said, until all efforts to reach a negotiated settlement have failed.

In a radio speech from Marrakech, King Hassan II said Morocco is experiencing "grave events that it neither sought nor wanted, but it would defend its dignity and the integrity of its frontiers."

Menasha Man Dies in Plane Crash in Utah

Lt. R. W. Montonati And Pilot of Light Craft Are Victims

DUGWAY PROVING GROUNDS, Utah (AP) — Two persons were killed Monday when a light observation plane crashed at Dugway Proving Grounds in western Utah.

Air bforce Lt. Col. Stephen L. Walters, who piloted the Army OIA observation craft, was found dead at the scene. Richard M. Montonati, 24, Menasha, Wis., a first lieutenant with the Army, died a few hours later.

An Army spokesman said the pair was on a routine security check of the fences which surround the sprawling chemical and missile installation.

Cause Not Learned

He said the wreckage was found about 30 miles est of the main installation at the northern tip of the Dugway mountains. Cause of the crash was not known.

The spokesman said Walters was an instructor in the chemical, biological and radiological weapons orientation at the post. He said he did not know his age or hometown.

Montonati was assistant provost marshal.

Montonati, 24, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Montonati, 701 London St., Menasha. He graduated from Ripon College in 1961, where he lettered in baseball and football for three years. He was a member of Phi Delta Theta. He was commissioned a second lieutenant upon graduation—he had been in ROTC there —and entered active duty about two years ago. He played with the Manitowoc Chiefs for one season after graduation from Ripon and before military service.

A graduate of Menasha St. Mary High School, he was all-conference and most valuable player in basketball and all-conference in football and co-captain. He was named to the all-state tournament squad in 1957.

Byrd and Gore Charge Pressure Used In Effort to Force Tax Reduction

Protest Telegram Sent by Democratic Committee Member

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's $1 billion tax cut bill ran into rough going before the Senate Finance Committee today.

Before Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon could even begin his plea for quick action, two Democratic senators protested what they said were intimidation and pressure tactics in behalf of the bill.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said a telegram sent out by an official of the Democratic National Committee might even be an effort to purge him.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said that "recent public statement," which he did not further describe, "have the characteristics of pressure propaganda" and were highly unfair to his committee.

Gore and Byrd are opposed to the bill.

Demands Testimony

Gore demanded that Keel be asked to testify, and said he should be subpoenaed if he did not appear voluntarily. Byrd said this seemed to be a reasonable request.

Gore read from one of the telegrams received in what he described as a mountain county in Tennessee he said the recipient, whose name he withheld, was told that the tax cut was vital to the 17,496 residents of the county because it would mean an average tax cut of $436 for each family.

Gore said many families in the county would not get any such thing. The treasury department has estimated that an average family of four with a $10,000 yearly income would get a cut of $202.

Keel confirmed yesterday that such telegrams were being sent out over the country but said "we're certainly not trying to intimidate anybody."

Denies Undue Delay

Byrd read a prepared statement denying charges of "undue delay" which he said had been made against his committee.

He said "the facts are" that it took the administration 30 months to draft its tax program after President Kennedy first notified congress it was in the works, and that it took the house eight months to act on it.

Surely, he said, his committee is entitled to spend some

Heller Urges Quick Reduction in Taxes

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A tax cut now might avert a recession next year, President Kennedy's chief economics adviser said today.

Walter W. Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said the proposed $11 billion tax slash wouldn't absolutely rule out a recession, but it should be equal to the task.

Heller, in a prepared speech to the Civic Alliance of Milwaukee, said the proposed tax cut will create two-to-three million extra jobs, and more than $30 billion to the gross annual product, and add as much as $7-to-$8 billion to corporate tax profits before taxes.

Probers Try to Learn Cause of Helicopter Crash

NEW YORK (AP) — Investigators probed the burned wreckage of a twin-engine helicopter today seeking to determine why it crashed, killing all six aboard.

The 10-ton Boeing Vertol 107 had just lifted off Monday for a seven-minute flight from Idlewild Airport to the East River heliport at the foot of Wall Street in Manhattan when it exploded about 100 feet in the air.

It was the first fatal crash in the 10 years that New York Airways has been shuttling passengers between metropolitan airports.

The line grounded all helicopters after the crash, pending determination of the cause.

Chancellor's Farewell

BY CARL HARTMAN

BONN, Germany (AP)—Konrad Adenauer bade farewell to the West German Parliament as chancellor today, saying his dream of a reunited Germany is possible only with the help of friends abroad.

It was a solemn hour for the man who had been West Germany's only chancellor in the 14 years of rebuilding from the ruins of World War II. In dark coat and striped trousers, he listened soberly to praise from Eugen Gerstenmaier, president of the Bundestag.

Thanks of People

"Today, Gerstenmaier concluded, "the German Bundestag rises to you, Mr. Federal Chancellor, to announce thankfully to the German people:

"Konrad Adenauer has earned the gratitude of the Fatherland."

The Bundestag president read a short letter from President Heinrich Luebke, accepting the resignation of the 87-year-old chancellor.

Then Adenauer spoke of the dream that never was realized, the reunion of West Germany with Communist - ruled East Germany.

"A solution is not possible between ourselves and our opponents alone,' he said, "but only with the help of our friends, and thank God, we have friends in the world again."

By opponents, he meant the Russians, who still occupy East Germany and have set up a Communist regime for its 17 million inhabitants.

Adenauer said that reunification could be seen on the horizon if Germans are watchful, cautious and patient.

"I am convinced that it will come," Adenauer said, "because unity cannot be denied to a people like the Germans when they want to create it in peace."

Adenauer has one more day in office. He will remain as acting chancellor until the Bundestag elects Ludwig Erhard, the vice chancellor.

In a talk with reporters Monday, Adenauer had disclosed he felt the goal of reuniting Germany had been set back by warming relations between the United States and the Soviet Union.

But in his speech to the Bundestag, Adenauer emphasized that it is only friendship with the United States and other countries that gives Germans the right to expect that their country will one day be reunified.

Adenauer could look back on his 14 years as Germany's first and only postwar chancellor as an era of raising Germany from the ruins of World War II to a democratic nation of prosperity and military might allied with the West.

Your Problems

Ann Produces Solution to Card Signature Problems

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS My husband and I believe in planning ahead We are now arguing about Christmas cards

Landers

All the years we have been married we've had our cards printed with my name appearing first Example 'Greetings from Dorothy and Dick" My husband says it's time I gave him top-billing for a change and have the cards read, 'Greetings from Dick and Dorothy"

I was under the impression that the woman's name is supposed to appear first as a matter of etiquette Dick says I am wrong about this and it's just a matter of which way you want to do it Will you please settle the argument in a hurry? — Tired of Fighting

Dear Tired: I do hope these words reach you in time. There are only 84 days left until Christmas.

On printed cards the woman's name should appear first. Since your husband would like his name to appear first for a change (big deal) you could please him by hand-signing the cards It is correct for the person who signs for himself and another person to place the other person's name first.

DEAR ANN LANDERS A certain woman who works in this office hates me because I have a terrific figure and I eat anything I want while she starves herself to death and looks like a Mack truck

This woman is always trying to put me in hot water with the office manager If I am five minutes late in the morning she reports me If I overstay my coffee break three minutes she reports me Last night I left ten minutes early because the weather was threatening and I had a chance to ride home with a friend I received a needle about it the first thing this morning

My work is top-notch and I'm twice as fast and three times as efficient as any girl in this office I'm not pinning any medals on myself, Ann but I just happen to be an excellent typist How should I deal with the trouble maker? — Victim of Jealousy

Dear Victim: If you are twice as fast and three times as efficient as any girl in the office two minutes here and five minutes there will not put you in hot water.

Defang the informer by reporting to the office manager any of your irregularities before she gets the chance

DEAR ANN LANDERS I'm a 16-year-old girl who is pestered to death by a who won't give up To matters worse my mother thinks this boy is great

Last week when he called I was not at home He asked my mother if I had a date for Friday night She suggested he call me back the next day I've told her a dozen times not to give him any encouragement She should have told the pest that I did have a date for Friday The next day when he called I had to accept because mom had put me on the spot

I don't enjoy this boy's company He is so sweet and attentive he makes me sick He creep embarrasses me by bringing make gifts I want to get rid of him for keeps but I don't know how Help! Please!—Pixie Face

Dear Face: Girls who write and ask how to get rid of a fellow don't really want to.

It's flattering to be sought after (even by a creep) so you give him that "go away closer" routine. A girl who wants to be left alone does not accept gifts from a boy nor does she go out with him and blame her mother. "No" is one of the shortest, and most effective words in the English language. You ought to try it some time. Babe.

The Ailing House

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q· Last year we had our carport enclosed with wood siding to match the rest of the house siding. Now knots in the new siding are showing as dark spots through the white paint How can we remedy this condition?

A The knots were probably not properly sealed before the siding was painted, to prevent "bleeding" through Remove the paint over the dark spots, and apply a special knot-sealing preparation available at most paint dealers. Or apply a coat of aluminum paint or shellac to prevent future bleeding through Then touch up with high quality white house paint. Easiest remedy is of course to postpone the knot-treatment until repainting the house.

Q. We want to brighten our fireplace and would like to paint the mortar between the stones What kind of paint should we use?

A· Use a cement paint, coming in powder form to be mixed with water Be sure all trace of wax, grease, soot, etc., is removed from the surface before applying the paint and follow manufacturer's label directions carefully.

Businessman Takes Post at St. Elizabeth

Stanley L. Smith To Head Centralized Housekeeping Unit

Stanley L. Smith, owner and operator of a local school supply house, has assumed the new position of supervisor of a centralized housekeeping department at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Smith, a resident of the area all his life, was born and raised in Kaukauna, where he graduated from high school and the Outagamie County Teachers College. After attending Lawrence College, Appleton, for one year, he taught in Outagamie County rural schools for 18 years, including 16 years in Medina.

While at Medina, he joined in a business partnership with Lester J. O'Neil, a teacher from New London, and they entered the school supply field. When this partnership was dissolved, he established Smith's School Supply at 619 W. Wisconsin Ave., Appleton.

Smith is presently negotiating for the sale of his business, as his duties at St. Elizabeth will require his full-time services.

Association Resident

Smith, a member of St. Therese parish, was married to Adeline Basing, a native of Wautoma, who died in 1960. He has two sons, Robert, Appleton, attending Wisconsin State College-Oshkosh and James, guidance director for Portage High School.

He has been active in the Appleton Northside Advancement Association, serving as its president for two terms and a member of the board of directors for a number of years.

Smith's main responsibilities at St. Elizabeth are to standardize and coordinate housekeeping procedures, to provide proper systems of inventory and stock control for housekeeping supplies and equipment, linens, furniture, and furnishings; to effect economies in utilities usage, to develop and initiate a program of research and test for improved methods, materials, and equipment; to reduce noise and control infection, and to select and train department personnel.

Calumet County Looking to Possible 1964 Tax Cut

Broadened Base, Increase in Revenues Offsets $31,937 Hike In Overall $783,686 Budget

CHILTON — Calumet County taxpayers are in line for a tax cut next year.

The $783,686 budget proposed for 1964 will require a slightly lower tax rate than did the $751,749 budget adopted by the county board for the current year. A broadened tax base and a hike in revenues anticipated from sources other than direct taxes more than offsets the $31,937 hike shown in the overall budget.

A $4.33 rate per $1,000 of equalized valuation levied against the county's $111,806,400 valuation, would produce the $845,037 in local taxes required to finance the budget. The new valuation is up $5.7 million over last year.

To produce the $473,859 local tax levy last year, a rate of $4.46 per $1,000 of equalized valuation was needed. The levy is up $11,178 but the rate is down 13 cents a thousand.

The rate is expected to drop even more before the budget is adopted by the county board at its annual session this month. The proposed budget, according to County Clerk Roland Miller, was compiled by using departmental requests just as they were submitted. The finance committee did no cutting. This will be done by the board in a general session. Several cuts are expected. These could eventually bring the levy down even with last year's with the broadened tax base to produce it.

The budget was drafted this week by the finance committee working with Miller.

Money for the 1964 budget comes from three sources. Aside from the proposed $485,037 in local taxes, the county anticipates revenues totaling $271,010 from sources other than taxes, and $50,000 will be lopped off the levy by a transfer of unencumbered surplus county funds.

Outside Revenues

The outside revenues are up $21,900 over last year when they amounted to $249,110. A $50,000 surplus fund transfer was also made last year.

One budget factor, the county's share of state forestry taxes, is definitely set and will remain unchanged. The state assessment amounts to $22,361, compared with $21,219 a year ago, and leaves $761,325 of the total budget for county purposes. The budget adopted for the current year provided $730,530 for county purposes — about $30,800 less than called for by the new budget.

The expenditure category most likely to be pared is the $121,795 requested for general government. It is up $20,025 over the $101,770 approved for the current year. Up some $10,300 is the $102,281 sought for education. In the current year's budget $91,920 was set aside for this purpose.

The highway appropriation totals $210,912 compared with $205,902 last year. Only $108,800 of this will come from local taxes. The balance is made up of $102,112 in state aids.

Health, Sanitation Up

Health and Sanitation is up slightly — $23,710 for 1964 compared with $21,468 a year ago.

Categories showing decreases in 1964 include protection of persons and property, $83,310, compared with $85,477 for the current year; charities and corrections, $216,027, compared with $214,221 for the current year, and miscellaneous expenses, $31,650, compared with $31,800 for the current year.

Blame Chemical Fumes For Discolored Paint

Oconto Concerned With Pollution of River by Waste Sulphite Liquor

Post-Crescent News Service

OCONTO — Chemicals from industrial wastes carried by fog from the Oconto River were blamed today for discoloring the paint on at least 250 homes and other buildings along the river.

Instances of damage from alleged pollution were first reported about the middle of last week. By week's end Mayor Ernest Sucharda of Oconto and other city officials had received more than 300 telephone calls from persons who complained of the discoloring of paint on their buildings.

Others blamed sore throats and feelings of nausea on the chemical-laden fog.

Sucharda called a meeting today to discuss and deal with the problem. He and State Sen. Reuben LaFave told 40 persons who attended the meeting that Scott Paper Co. at Oconto Falls reported a break in its holding pond last week, dumping sulphite liquor into the river.

Break Sandbagged

Paper mill officials said the break was sandbagged by skin divers Thursday night. Sucharda and LaFave plan to meet Wednesday morning with representatives of the state pollution board in Madison.

They will ask the board to issue an order restraining the Scott Paper Co. from dumping waste materials into the river.

A spokesman for Oconto Falls Paper Co. said the firm is allowed to turn waste materials into the river during periods of high water and low temperature.

The holdings ponds usually are opened in the spring or fall.

May Start Court Action

If the state pollution board does not agree to issue the restraining order immediately, the city of Oconto will start action in circuit court to force the paper company to stop using the Oconto River as a dumping ground, officials said.

"We're not trying to hurt industry," La Fave said. "But 13 years is long enough to correct the situation. We should insist on prompt action now to clean up the Oconto River."

La Fave said that there are

Helps Offered For Parents of Deaf Children

National Fraternity Closes Convention In Appleton

Dr. George Pratt, principal of the Clarke School for the Deaf, Northampton, Mass., offered suggestions to parents and teachers of deaf children in a speech closing the Mu Iota Sigma Fraternity national convention at the Holiday Inn Saturday.

He urged parents to "minister to your child's needs, not your own," not to confuse the teaching of speech with the child's getting his education through speech and lipreading, and to "relax and enjoy your child while he is young."

"The most promising deaf youngsters we have are those who are confident of their standing with their parents, secure in their family position, and loaded with a reservoir of observation and information," he said.

"The Greatest"

Dr. Pratt explained that he has a deaf daughter, saying "this prologue is necessary for you to understand the depth of my feeling for deaf children. They are the greatest. All we ask of them is the impossible, to achieve a functional command of a language in both its spoken and written forms, without the benefit of hearing it. The daily observation of this unfolding phenotmenon is a humbling experience."

New officers of the professional organization of teachers of the deaf were elected Saturday.

Officers

Miss Therese Martyn, Chicago, was elected the national president. Other top officers are Miss June Carr, Milwaukee, first vice president; Mrs. Wilka Belcuer, Milwaukee, second vice president; Ellery Adams, Chicago, secretary; Mrs. Garwood Ferris, Menasha, treasurer, and Mrs. Calvin Owens, Milwaukee, historian.

Mu Chapter of the national group, teachers of the deaf from Green Bay and Oshkosh, elected David Schallhorn, Green Bay, as president.

Other new local officers are Patrick Vanden Avond, Green Bay, vice president; Mrs. William Kiser, Oshkosh, secretary, Mrs. Wayne Plimska, Green Bay, treasurer, and Mrs. Jess Will, Appleton, parliamentarian and historian.

Gilberto Rojas' Durocs Serve to Spread Good Will in Red-Menaced Country

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Relations between the United States and Costa Rica have been improved thanks to two purebred Duroc hogs.

Several private American citizens, a congressman, airline employees, an ambassador, embassy officials and import officials of Costa Rica actually deserve the credit, however, for satisfying the dreams of a 20-year-old Latin American youth.

Not only has the arrival of the two hogs helped young Gilberto Rojas, but has given the United States Information Service a piece of effective propaganda to spraed across communist-menaced Latin America.

Private Citizens

The USIS has already started to inform Costa Ricans and other Latin Americans how private citizens of the United States came to the aid of a young Costa Rican.

Having the honor of presenting the two Duroc hogs to young Gilberto, with which he can help better his country's meat production, was very satisfying to this reporter.

However, as one of the several people who participated in the finished "Piggy Back to Costa Rica" project and knowing how near to being scrapped the project came several times, the satisfaction was greatly multiplied.

This reporter was assigned to accompany the hogs to Costa Rica. Everything appeared in order and ready to go Oct. 9, but when a trip was made to Milwaukee to confirm all flight arrangements, another snag cropped up. Eastern Airlines would not transport the hogs on the flight that had been arranged by air express so more flight arrangements had to be made. To reach Costa Rica as scheduled, take off time was moved up to Oct. 8. All conditions were again "AOK" and on the afternoon of Oct. 8 "Olk Creek Special" and "Super Counetss" were put aboard a truck at Milwaukee for Chicago where they would take to the air.

Everything went fine until during a layover in Atlanta, Ga., where they became lost in freight offices for a short time. By the time they were found, they were already enroute to Miami aboard another airline. So this reporter had to hop a jet and overtake them in Miami. Here again the well made plans faltered when a quarantine officer refused to allow the two hogs out of the U S in the crates in which they were being shipped.

Dip in the Surf

With a 16 - hour layover between flights in Miami, the accompanying reporter had planned to make sure the hogs were doing okay and then off to beautiful Miami Beach sands for a dip in the surf. But, with the new delay staring him in the face, it was back to the freight offices in search of new crates. After making the rounds of freight offices in search of crates, a LASCA Airline freight manager came up with the idea of using a revamped horse stall. He said it would not be ready for the morning flight. After explaining all of the previous delays, the sympathetic manager agreed to call in extra help to ready the stall and meet the morning flight.

Thursday morning it was back to the air for the final hop to San Jose where Gilberto, his family and members of the U.S. Embassy were waiting.

Members of the USIS staff and the U.S. Agricultural attache to Costa Rice and a member of his staff had been alerted by Congressman Byrnes' office two weeks prior to the arrival and had another set of plans arranged.

Well Worthwhile

With Gilberto's cousin in charge of taking the hogs to their new home, Gilberto and Sawall were on their way to be greeted by Ambassador Raymond Teller who had been keeping an eye on the project.

After learning the importance

Tipsy Drivers Actions Will Be Filmed

Appleton Police Ask Movie Camera To Record Evidence

A small and inexpensive movie camera and projector may be included in the budget request for the Appleton Police Station this year.

Its use, according to Appleton Police Chief Earl Wolff will be to photograph suspected drunken drivers as they are examined and interviewed at the police station.

The movies will then be used as evidence against the drivers or will be to show the driver how he behaved and reacted to the examination at the police station.

Wolff said other police agencies are using the movie technique to gain evidence for use in court cases. Wolff said the state patrol has used the movie technique for many years.

The equipment will be simple enough so that any policeman assigned to the police station desk will be able to operate the camera without special training.

The technique would be to get candid camera shots of the drunken driving suspect as he is walking a straight line, writing his name or answering questions put to him by a physician. The movies will also preserve the appearance of the drunken driving suspect so that the court and juries will know how the person looked and acted when he was arrested. Wolff said the city police arrest as many as 75 suspected drunken drivers in one year.

Man Injured In Calumet Road Mishap

CHILTON — A Fond du Lac man was injured about 3:30 p.m. Friday when the truck he was driving left a town road west of Kiel.

The trucker, Robert Lyon, was taken to St. Nicholas Hospital, Fond du Lac, by a Kiel ambulance. The extent of his injuries has not been determined by police.

The truck skidded into a ditch, hit a fence and overturned. It wound up back on the road after skidding 279 feet.

Two hogs running loose on County Trunk D less than a mile north of U.S. 10 were factors in an accident about 6:50 p.m. Friday. Roy D. Wentzel, 41, 502 W. Wisconsin Ave., Kaukauna, told police he came upon the hogs after meeting a car that partially blinded him with its bright headlights. He said he was unable to stop after seeing the animals.

Damage to the station wagon, which was owned by Coffey Motors, Kaukauna, was estimated at $250.

Coach Praises Waupaca Team

Says Defense Played Well in 7-6 Victory Over Bonduel High

WAUPACA — Coach Dick Weed praised his defensive platoon for the Comets' 7-6 win over Bonduel in a Central Wisconsin Conference football game here Friday night.

"I think the whole defensive team played exceptionally well," he told members of the Downtown Coach Club Monday noon in the Arcade restaurant. He singled out Jim Hoferber as playing his best game of the season.

Coach Weed also praised quarterback Jim Strebe, for "calling a good game."

First Downs

He said Waupaca made 10 first downs, four by passing and six by rushing. Bonduel had 12 first downs, one by passing and 11 by rushing.

Waupaca gained 207 yards to 191 for Bonduel. Waupaca gained 94 by passing and 113 by rushing. Bonduel gained 178 by rushing and 13 by passing. In the passing department, Bonduel connected with one out of five and Waupaca had eight completions out of 15 attempts. Drage, the Bonduel punter, averaged 45 yards per punt.

He said the Comets will travel to Iola Saturday afternoon to play the Thunderbirds. He said the Iola-Scandinavia team plays hard football in both blocking and tackling. He said the lack of reserve strength has been hurting the Thunderbirds this year.

"We will have to play sharp ball to beat them," Coach Weed said.

Chilton Bowler Hits 650 Series

CHILTON — Chick Hawig boomed a big 650 series for Norb's Shell to pace individual action in the Calumet League at Pla-Mor Lanes here.

The hefty total came on games of 196, 230 and 224. Other high single games included a 225 by Mel Wolf for Aluminum Specialty and Gerry Baeckman's 222 for Ware's Barbershop.

Aluminum Specialty swept team honors with a 974 game and a 2,739 series.

State Man Killed

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A 62-year-old man died of smoke inhalation Monday night in a fire at his small, two-story cottage. The victim was Otto Staub who was pronounced dead at County Emergency hospital. Staub's wife fled to safety.

Fine Weyauwega Men On Hunting Charges

WAUPACA — Roger Bousley, 22, and William Bauer, 32, both of Weyauwega, were each fined $10 Monday when they were arraigned before Municipal Justice George Whalen on charges of hunting duck from a boat in open water.

After pleading guilty, Bauer said the law is hard to understand.

Rex Oatman, conservation warden, said there was insufficient cover for the men in their blind-like boat.

Royalton Homemakers

ROYALTON — "Extra Head and Hands" is the topic Mrs. Irl Poehlman and Mrs. Albert Heimbruch will present to L.M.R. Homemakers at the home of Mrs. Wenzel Bleier Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Loyd Schultz will assist the hostess.

Fremont Man Denies Game Law Infractions

WAUPACA — Harold Schulz, 57, route 1, Fremont, pleaded innocent of possession of raccoon without a hunting license and possession of untagged venison Monday. He was arraigned before Municipal Justice George Whalen.

Schulz furnished bail of $300. The trial will be at 10 a.m. Oct. 22 before Justice Whalen.

Schulz was arrested Oct. 11 when his home was searched on a warrant. Wardens arrested Mrs. Irene Schulz and John Winters Jr., Oct. 10 and they admitted shooting a deer Oct. 9 in Outagamie county. They said the deer was taken to the Schulz home at Fremont.

Church Council to Meet

ROYALTON — The Congregational Church will hold its fall council meeting at the church Monday evening.

Forest Ranger To Outline Creek Project

WAUPACA — A talk by Forest Ranger Sid Miller and the acceptance of new members into the club will highlight a meeting of the Monday Night Club at 8 p. m. Monday in the clubrooms at the city library.

The club will accept 15 new members.

Ranger Miller will discuss the Hartman Creek project. He will outline state plans for the recreational area and its potential value to Waupaca and area and its vacation value to local people. Miss Elizabeth Johnson is program chairman. Hostesses will be Mrs. Glen Dent, chairman, Mrs. John Brooks, Mrs Alma Schlenker and Miss Helen Grill.

New London To Consider Works Chief

NEW LONDON — A recommendation from the planning commission to create the position of director of public works is expected to be presented to the city council when they meet at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

The commission is expected to recommend the council put money in next year's budget to assist the local airport.

A recommendation to make Millard Street a through-traffic street is expected from the traffic and safety committee.

The board of health will make a recommendation on whether the city should hire a nurse.

Tavern Owner Pays $75 Fine

WAUPACA — George Retzlaff, a New London tavern keeper, pleaded guilty of selling an intoxicating beverage to a minor Monday when arraigned before Judge Wendell McHenry. He was fined $75.

Retzlaff was charged with serving a drink May 30 to a New London man, who, his attorney, Richard E. Johnson, said was 20 years and seven months old and accompanied by his fiancee and her parents.

Dist. Atty. Gerald Anderson said the young man was subsequently fined in New London Municipal Court for loitering in a tavern. Anderson said Retzlaff had not checked for an identification card.

Sheriff's Sergeant Cited at Waupaca By Red Cross

WAUPACA — Sgt. Harold Holly of the county sheriff's department was presented with a citation and recognition pin Monday from the National Red Cross for "distinguished service to humanity."

The presentation was made by Waupaca chapter first aid chairman Mrs. Rhinard Lightfuss, Manawa, and chapter chairman, Frank Haffner, Weyauwega.

It was presented to Sgt. Holly for his work as a Red Cross first aid instructor. Holly started instructing in 1948. One of the members of his first class was Sheriff Loran Frazier. Sheriff Frazier is now an instructor.

Clintonville Man Will Survey in Antarctica

CLINTONVILLE — Richard E. Kenfield, 40, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Spearbraker, 29 16th St., a civil engineer, is one of six men going to the Antarctic as part of a geological survey effort to explore and map that area.

The men of the U. S. Geological Survey will leave Washington, D. C., Oct. 16 and stay throughout Antarctica's summer, returning in April. Temperatures will range from 35 degrees below to 20 degrees above zero, with an occasional drop to 50 below.

From November through February the men will have constant sunlight, windstorms and cloudy days to hinder photographing the area. Geological Survey officials estimate work will be limited to about one out of every three days.

Mapping of Antarctica has been going on since 1957 and is sponsored by the U. S. Antarctic Research Program of the National Science Foundation. Russia, Great Britain, France, Argentina, Chile and Australia are doing similar work.

The six men will not be working together. Two will be doing geologic investigaiton in the Antarctic's Patuxent Mountains. One will serve as navigator for a geologic team from the University of Minnesota working in the Ellsworth Mountains. One will work out of both Antarctica and Christ-church, New Zealand, coordinating plans for obtaining and inspection of aerial photographs. Kenfield will be working with a civil engineering technician establishing a network of mapping survey points west of Byrd Station to determine the amount and direction of ice movement.

Rangers Alerted to Danger of Fire in Wausaukee District

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The danger of forest fires in northern Wisconsin is reaching the "explosive" stage, Wausaukee Forest Ranger Loyal Abney, said today.

"All we need is a little wind and we will be in real trouble," Abney said.

Northern Wisconsin has been without a trace of rain for the past 12 days and there is no relief in sight.

"Hunters have been extremely cautious so far which is probably the reason we haven't had more fires," the ranger said.

Bartender Denies Serving Minor

WAUPACA—Darrell G. Handrich, 26, 641 W. Fulton St., co-owner of the Uptown Tavern, denied serving liquor to a minor and allowing a minor to loiter. He appeared Friday before Municipal Justice George Whalen.

Handrich was charged with serving a 20-year-old man Oct. 6.

Handrich was released on $250 bail. The trial will be Nov. 4 at 10 a.m. before Municipal Justice Whalen.

Marion Boy Arrested in Clintonville Robbery

Youth Says He Held Up Bar for $20 to 'Get Out of the State'

CLINTONVILLE — A 15-year-old Marion boy who "wanted to get out of the state" was captured Monday night minutes after he held a shotgun on a beer depot operator and demanded $20.

Adolph Below, owner of Third Street Bar, said the youth entered his place of business and stuck a shotgun to his head. Below said he asked the youth if this was "trick or treat" and grabbed for the weapon. When the youth pulled away, Below said he saw it was not a joke.

Below said the boy demanded $20, and he gave it to him. He warned the bar operator to "stay put", went outside and tried to start the beer depot's delivery truck. When the truck would not start, the young gunman fled on foot.

Police Called

A woman who came into the bar was told what happened and she called Clintonville police.

Clintonville Police Chief James Beggs said he got the call about 8:10 a.m. A county police car in the area picked up a Clintonville police man and they rushed to the bar.

Shot Fired

Policemen spotted the youth with the shotgun in a field east of the Clintonville Cooperative. A warning shot was fired, and the youth surrendered. After questioning by Chief Beggs, the boy was taken to the Waupaca County Juvenile detention unit by Sheriff Loren Frazier.

Beggs said the boy was carrying a .20 gauge shotgun with a shell in the chamber. He had extra shells in a cartridge belt.

The boy told Beggs he wanted the money to "get out of the state." He said he walked from Marion to Clintonville. At Clintonville he walked past Louie's Beer Depot and was going to rob it, but there were too many people there, he said.

Going Back

He admitted going into the Third Street Bar and taking $20 from Below at gunpoint. He said it was "so easy," he was going back to another bar to get more money when he spied the policemen milling around.

Beggs said earlier in the afternoon the boy had gone into Jack's Depot Bar at Marion and tried to hold up an employee. He said the bartender on duty, Herb Papendorf, knew the boy and talked him out of the holdup. When the boy left, Papendorf called police.

Aldermen Get Complaint on Trash Handling

Women's Club Says Collection Once a Month Inadequate

Aldermen who contend they are receiving no complaints concerning the city's once-a-month trash collection policy got some bad news Monday. It came in a letter to Ald. Kenneth Loos (3rd), chairman of the council's street - sanitation committee, from a spokesman for the Appleton Junior Woman's Club.

"The current program for collecting trash once a month is not consistent with the farsighted goals of this city," wrote Mrs. E. E. Barthell, chairman of the club's community affairs committee.

Several months ago a group of Appleton women signed and forwarded to the common council a petition requesting improved trash collection service. Subsequently, the department of public works started a study and it has not been completed.

Fine Record

"Appleton has a fine record of achievement in community affairs and in self - improvement," Mrs. Barthell said. "This is due to the forward - looking planning of the city council," she added.

In pointing out that the present trash policy was not in keeping with Appleton's farsightedness, Mrs. Barthell said: "The excessive trash accumulation in neighborhood garages and basements results in too many fires and in unacceptable sanitary conditions."

The Woman's Club said it was eager to support a plan which would improve the current trash pickup service and offered their assistance.

Recommendations

The controversial trash collection issue has been bottled up in committee. Public Works Director Robert W. Bues indicated he plans to make some recommendations.

Private collection firms still are waiting for an answer from the city about submitting bids to take over both garbage and trash collections on a contract basis for the entire city. The private firms claim they can give once-a-week collection service, and generally operate more efficiently and economically than a government department.

Outagamie To Begin Building Port

Outagamie County supervisors this morning gave overwhelming approval to contracts for construction of a new county airport in the Town of Greenville. The roll call vote was 44 to 11.

By its action, the county board approved contracts of $892,496 to Fox Valley Construction Co. for general construction, $132,238 for Axco, Inc. for plumbing, and $118,914.27 to Langstadt's Inc. for electrical work.

Supv. Mark Catlin, airport committee chairman, told the county board, "Grading can begin within 48 hours."

Catlin, while appealing for the votes which allows construction to begin, said the bids represent a savings of $473,000 below the original estimated by Ralph H. Burke, Inc., Park Ridge, Ill. consulting engineers, who prepared the airport plans.

2 Fined for Tipsy Driving

Appleton Youth Rammed Squad Car Near Sherwood

A rural Appleton youth was fined and a New London youth forfeited a bond Monday for drunken driving.

Clyde G. Baumgart, 21, route 4, Appleton, was fined $150 in Calumet County court at Chilton. Judge D. H. Sebora revoked Baumgart's license for a year and assessed court costs of $18.

Baumgart was arrested early Monday morning after his car had rammed the car of Patrolman Frederick Martens at the intersection of County Trunk M and State 114, five miles northwest of Sherwood. When taken to Appleton for a breathalyzer test, the youth recorded .23. A test of .15 considered evidence of intoxication.

Robert E. Ruckashel, 20, 1303 Oshkosh St., New London, forfeited a bond of $156.70 on a charge of drunken driving when he failed to appear before Municipal Justice Nathan Wiese.

Ruckashel was arrested Friday by Clintonville police after his car had struck the rear of a car driven by Walter N. Armstrong, stopped in the line of traffic at Eighth Street and South Main. He was in jail Friday night and posted bond Saturday.

Green Bay Harbor's Ship Turning Basin Completed

GREEN BAY — Dredging a ship - turning basin in Green Bay's outer harbor was completed Monday by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The $290,000 project, which will allow the largest overseas freighters and the longest Great Lakes bulk carriers using the Great-Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway system to turn around, was completed within four months, well ahead of schedule.

The work involved removal of 240,000 cubic yards of river bottom material—both hardpan bottom clay and mud silt. The material was taken by barge and dumped in Green Bay.

The new turning basin, in the Fox River north of the Main Street bridge, provides water depth of 22 feet extending for 1,000 feet from the west bank of the river to the mouth of the East river.

The 1,000-foot width, including the main shipping channel in the Fox River, will allow ships of up to 750 feet, the largest sailing the Great Lakes, to turn without difficulties from other harbor traffic or water current.

The project was financed with $260,000 in federal funds plus a $30,000 contribution by the city of Green Bay.

High School Band To Perform for Richmond PTA

The Appleton High School "bandette," a small group of outstanding members of the concert band, will demonstrate the building of a band for the Richmond School PTA Thursday. The program will follow a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m.

Frank Comell dtcirao.ares

Frank Comella, director of the bandette and the AHS concert and Terror bands, originated this program about eight years ago to demonstrate to both parents and students that every instrument in a band is important. This is shown through elaboration on the history of each instrument and on how it is played.

As a part of the program, a musical score is played by one instrument alone, and gradually all instruments are added until the full bandette is playing. This process is reversed and the score is again played by a single instrument.

Comella also used the bandette for a program which demonstrates rehearsal techniques used by the band, supplemented by the use of tape recorders. This program will be presented to the Franklin School PTA Nov. 21.

Favor Local Languages in Sacraments

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council voted overwhelmingly today to extend the use of local languages to the sacraments, keeping Latin only for the heart of the rites.

A majority of the council voted Monday to make the same changes in the Mass, but it failed of the needed two-thirds majority. The council's liturgical commission will reword the chapter and submit again to the council.

Today's vote approved the use of modern languages in the sacraments of baptism, confirmation, penance, matrimony and extreme unction. The vote was 2,133-19, a council press spokesman said.

The more than 2,000 prelates meeting in St. Peter's Basilica also agreed to change the name of extreme unction—the Sacrament of Last Anointing—to "anointing of the sick." This was done to remove the fear-of-death overtones of the sacrament's present name.

Approval of these changes came in voting on amendments to a schema (topic) on liturgy, or public worship.

Fumes Blamed For Damage To Home Paint

other methods of disposing waste material. Some paper companies burn them while others have funneled the material off into drying areas.

He said that as long as the holding pond is on the bank of the Oconto River there are going to be "accidental" breaks.

The senator noted that the city of Oconto went to a great deal of expense to put in a disposing plant to decrease pollution of the river. He said it is estimated continued pollution of the river will cost $10 million due to loss of recreational value. He also said Oconto cannot expect to grow and attract industry as long as the paper company can use the river to dispose of waste material.

"Brown Fog"

Damage area from the "brown fog" was reported mostly from the dam at Stiles to the city of Oconto where the river empties into Green Bay. The river runs for about 10 miles between the two communities.

Most damage was reported from home owners on the south side of the river although some was reported from the north side.

Keeps Cattle From River

Another farmer, Norbert Carey, who lives in the same area, said that he has been forced to keep his cattle from going near the river. He said that some of them appeared to be ill and believed that the water caused the illness.

La Fave suggested that the towns along the Oconto River join with the city of Oconto in seeking action from the State Pollution Board.

James Lissack, Green Bay, a state board of health official, joined Frank Murphy, city health officer and James Lohman, paper company engineer in a tour of the river from Oconto to the dam at Stiles after reports of numbers of dead fish floating in the river. Lissack sampled the water and found it had an oxygen reading of "0".

Parents Asked to Keep Children From Coming To School Too Early

LITTLE CHUTE—Parents of students attending Little Chute State Graded School were requested by Russell Johns, principal, to refrain from sending youngsters to school too early.

The school has a very limited play area and youngsters arriving almost 45 minutes before the start of classes cause a problem, Johns said.

Seminary League Sets Chili Supper

KIMBERLY — The Sacred Heart Seminary League will sponsor a chili supper in the cafeteria of Holy Name of Jesus School from 4 to 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Proceeds will help defray cost of purchasing bleachers for the seminary. Brothers and sisters of boys in the seminary will canvass the village this week to sell tickets. Refreshments and dessert will be available.

Ambassador Teller put on the project, the setbacks and delays were well worthwhile.

One Embassy official said the people of Costa Rica will now know that the people of the United States are taking an active interest in their well being.

Gilberto, had patiently waited several months, not knowing fully why so many delays were encountered. He was equally gracious when he boarded the freight plane at El Coco International Airport in San Jose to take his first look at his prize animals.

Red Tape

Although not completely aware of how important the hogs really were to Gilberto and his family, the group of Wisconsinites responsible for the project waded through mountains of red tape to grant the Latin American youth his wish.

Before the first attempt to Weyauwega farmer Walter Kaminski and Waupaca County Agent Joe Walker was scuttled in Milwaukee, several weeks of work had already been put into the project.

During the early preparations to ship the hogs last July, Gilberto's request seemed fairly simple to fulfill. While visiting the Kenneth Bleck farm last year under the International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) program, Gilberto asked if the family would send him two purebred hogs after he had returned home and saved enough money to pay for them. Not knowing whether he was serious about the request, Mr. and Mrs. Bleck agreed. They were a little bit surprised in April when a letter arrived from Costa Rica saying he had now saved enough money and would they now send the hogs.

The request was turned over to Walker, who in turn suggested the best breed to send would be Durocs and recommended Kaminski as the farmer from whom to purchase the hogs. When contacted, Kaminski agreed to help the boy by selling him two hogs at half price. The necessary paper work was completed, crates were built and transportation arrangements made. A trip to Milwaukee was made and here the first real snag encountered when the transportation arrangements broke down. Upon the return of Walker and Kaminski from Milwaukee, Post-Crescent regional editor Roy F. Valitchka learned of their plight. He, in turn, started another set of wheels turning by contacting the office of Rep. John Byrnes, Rep. Green Bay. With this new set of wheels slowly grinding away, plans progressed from July to October when another pair of hogs were readied and delivered to the Eastern Airlines freight office, in Milwaukee.

As for Gilberto, he has now been joined by his cousin in the hog raising venture and three of their uncles are also interested in entering the hog business as soon as a herd is developed.

Feed For Hogs

Before arriving in Costa Rica and seeing the Rojas farms there was some question on how feed for a herd of over 150 hogs could be raised on just a few acres. In Gilberto's letters to the Bleck family or when he was visiting in the U. S., he did not explain that two full crops are raised each year and in between the corn plants, beans are also planted. Therefore four crops are taken from the same field in one year.

A special banana which is used for hog feed is grown in with coffee plants. The banana trees serve a dual purpose. They shade the delicate leaves on the coffee bean trees and also produce feed for the hogs.

New Republican Unity

The decision of Warren Knowles to end his self-imposed political retirement and seek the governorship and the subsequent voluntary withdrawal of Jack Olson from the race certainly improve Republican opportunities in the state in the 1964 election.

The Republican party has a real chance to avoid the costly mistakes of recent years when bitter primary fights carried over to the general election and considerably reduced effectiveness of the party's campaign efforts.

It even appears now that a primary battle between the forces supporting Senator Goldwater and Governor Rockefeller for the presidential nomination will be avoided and that the Republican party will unite behind the favorite son candidacy of Rep. John Byrnes.

There are several matters still to be resolved. Of vital importance is the choice of a Republican candidate to oppose Senator Proxmire. Wilbur Renk offers advantages in this regard. His candidacy for the Senate would further Republican unity. Former Governor Walter Kohler Jr. has sent up a trial balloon but Kohler is associated with divisive elements within the party.

There is also the prospect that Olson's desire to run again as lieutenant governor runs headlong into the announced candidacy of Assembly Speaker Robert Haase for that post. But even if this matter is not resolved an Olson-Haase duel for endorsement would not have a major effect on the party effort.

There apparently is a realization on the part of all Republican leaders that it will take an all-out effort to offer any chance of success against the re-election campaigns of Proxmire and Governor Reynolds.

But the entire state of Wisconsin deserves a real opportunity next year to elect a governor and a legislature of the same party. And only a Republican party which goes into the campaign completely united can offer such a possibility.

Now Let's Take Down the Wall

Conrad Adenauer has suggested that Western nations should demand the removal of the Berlin Wall as the price of increased wheat and other agreements with Soviet Russia. It's a sound suggestion and one we hope President Kennedy heeds.

The advice of the retiring chancellor prompted the German Cabinet to request of NATO a "thorough investigation" of Russian economic problems to see how they could be exploited toward peace by the West. It is also based upon two well-founded beliefs. First, Adenauer knows that the Russians understand and respect a hard bargain. Secondly, he believes that the current agricultural crisis is not a temporary or isolated one.

"After careful examination, our experts have concluded that this will be repeated," said Adenauer. "This is partly because the soil in the virgin steppes can bring in only two or three harvests before a year of failure, and partly because the Soviet Union, which once imported considerable quantities of rice from Red China, is no longer getting it."

According to Adenauer, the Soviet Union has three major problems. They are its defense against the West, its new defense against Red China, and the continual effort to raise living standards in Russia because of competition of communism and capitalism. All three at once are impossibilities, Adenauer says, and this is an ideal time to seek easing of the defenses against the West.

The Soviet leaders are hard-headed realists, as we found out a year ago when the Cuban missile problems came to a head. Khrushchev then did not hesitate to back down despite what must have been a drastic loss of face in the Kremlin.

Today there are two recent happenings which should have bearing upon efforts to get the Wall down. The test ban treaty has been signed and approved in East and West and there have been changes in United States policies which enable Russia to buy our wheat. These can easily be used by Khrushchev as evidence of peaceful coexistence to permit him to lower his guard and tear down the Wall. Furthermore, the importance of more trade with the West can be used as an effective lure.

Tearing down the Wall would not only reduce the tensions in Berlin and Germany. Berlin would once more be a place where those from the East could go West and where the living conditions on both sides would be open to comparison. It may be that Russia does not dare to risk this again. But certainly the time is right for us to try to bring it about.

Aid to Foreign Language Teachers

A decade or so ago the teaching of foreign languages in most American schools was inept and apathetic. Emphasis was upon reading and graduates often discovered they couldn't understand or speak a word of a language they might have studied for several years when they visited foreign countries where it was the native tongue.

This has been changed all over the country in part because of the experiences of servicemen in other countries. Teacher training institutions have changed language requirements. Students now start out learning to speak and listen and later to read. Grants are available from the federal government for foreign language teachers and to schools for equipment such as language laboratories.

And now a federal judge has made a ruling which is bound to attract prospective teachers.

Back in 1954 Dr. Ephraim Cross, professor of romance languages at the College of the City of New York, took a trip to Portugal, France, Morocco, Algeria and Italy. He deducted the travel expenses on his income tax return as "necessary for maintaining and improving his skills." On the trip he wrote that he "engaged in conversation in the native languages of these countries, listened to speeches and lectures and visited educational institutions and attended court."

The Internal Revenue Service refused to accept the deduction so Dr. Cross went to court. And Judge Inzer Wyatt agreed with him.

"No living language remains static," wrote the judge in his ruling. "The fact that it is living means that it constantly changes . . . The teaching of foreign languages may well be a unique situation. It is not necessary to visit Europe in order to maintain or improve many other skills but it is certainly necessary in the case of a teacher of European languages. It is not without significance that the Congress has recognized that a wide speaking knowledge of modern foreign languages is essential to the national welfare and defense."

Many college language departments are now leaning toward requirements of travel in a country where the language studied is spoken if a student is to have a major in a language. The federal court decision is certainly in line with the trend.

And it should encourage even more teachers to go into the foreign language field.

'Effect and Cause' Says Crescent

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Oct. 17, 1863.

Said the New York Tribune the other day in speaking of the war: "It has saddled us with a debt that will take the bread from the mouth of every laboring man's child for generations and send millions hungry to bed."

Ben Wade, the great Mogul leader of the Administration, in a speech at Marietta, Ohio, on the 24th of September ult., said:

"I shall fight this fight as long as I have breath, or until the bonds shall fall from every human being in the United States, and there will be no such reproach upon our glorious institutions as the possibility of a slave existing within our jurisdiction."

Thus Wade declares his purpose, which is no doubt the purpose of the Administration — to fight until all the niggers are liberated.

Editor Horace Greeley says that the cost of such fighting "will take the bread from the mouth of every laboring man's child for generations, etc."

Now, we are willing to go hungry and suffer many privations to save the Union, but the question is, will it pay to suffer all that Greeley pictures and ten thousand fold greater in fighting to liberate the nigger?

We think not.

Legislative Halls Wind Tunnels?

From The Newark Evening News

A botanical trend which will find little popularity among Californians, Texans and the publishers of seed catalogues is the current effort of scientists to make big plants small and small plants smaller. In one experiment, British botanists are learning to shrink grain by growing it in a wind tunnel, in the hope of developing crops resistant to gale and drought.

When that dream has been realized, perhaps science will turn its attention to government budgets which have a way of getting out of hand in times of plenty and economic drought alike. But considering the way they thrive in legislative halls, it would be just as well not to put them in a wind tunnel.

Allen-Scott Report

Kennedys Woo Astronaut Glenn, Hope to Use Him in Campaign

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

President Kennedy is quietly maneuvering to hitch his political wagon to the soaring moon-bound star of astronaut John Glenn, Jr.

The President and his brother, Attorney General Robert Kennedy, have privately assured Glenn of a "bright future" if he sticks with their administration and foregoes a million dollar job offer in private industry.

The Kennedy brothers have discussed a number of very attractive job "possibilities" with Glenn, including replacing James Webb as Administrator of the National Aeronautics & Space Administration, and-or running for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Ohio next year.

While no commitments have been made by either the Kennedys or Glenn, the backstage discussions are still going on, with the final decision depending on a number of unresolved factors.

The toughest problem facing the President is how to replace Webb or sidetrack Senator Stephen Young, D-O., without touching off a major explosion within his own party.

According to reliable administration sources, the idea of replacing Webb with Colonel Glenn is the President's. Greatly disturbed by the adverse reaction in Congress to his proposal for a joint U. S.-Soviet moon program, the President is said to feel it will take a space hero like Glenn to make this venture politically popular before next year's presidential election.

He reportedly believes that Glenn, as head of NASA, could overcome this opposition by devoting most of his time to "selling" the moon shot and the multi-billion dollar space program to Congress and the public with personal appearances and speeches.

POLITICAL DARKHORSE—

Under this plan, Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy administrator, and Dr. George Mueller, new director of the manned space flight program, would actually run NASA.

Attorney General Kennedy favors Glenn's entrance into politics as a Democratic senatorial candidate in Ohio.

With the popular astronaut on the ticket, the President's chief political adviser stresses that the President would stand a fighting chance to carry Ohio.

He also feels that the political fallout from the national press coverage Glenn would receive during the campaign would help the President throughout the nation.

The Attorney General has a poll on his desk showing that astronaut Glenn is a lot more popular in Ohio than the President, and would be able to run away with the senatorial race.

As in the case of replacing Webb, there is one big stumbling block. Senator Young, the present Democratic office-holder, is bent on seeking re-election. He has turned a deaf ear to all offers from the White House to pull out in favor of Glenn. One of the offers was a choice ambassadorship.

Before he began his private negotiations with the Kennedys, Colonel Glenn told his fellow astronauts that he would stay on if he could become the chief pilot in the first two-man U. S. space flight.

This flight, known as Project Gemini, is scheduled for October, 1964, just one month before the presidential election. It involves orbiting around the earth for several weeks with two astronauts in the same space vehicle.

Forty-year-old Glenn won worldwide acclaim on February 20, 1962, when he safely orbited the earth three times in his Mercury space capsule. His address to a joint session of Congress was hailed as one of the finest ever delivered to that body.

Earlier this year, C. Leo De Orsey, attorney for all of the U. S. astronauts, revealed that "everyone is after Glenn — aviation, foundations, political parties."

What's Next After Wheat? Sending Cigars to Cuba?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

It seems to be an amazing coincidence that less than two short months, after many years of pleas, threats and promises, there is entered into by the powers of the world a peace treaty and Russia immediately recognizes the fact that they need enormous amounts of wheat. Is it possible that they didn't know that they were starving over there until they made a sudden peace treaty startling the world.

It was said many, many times that we won the second World War because we were the best fed army in the world. Let's hope it's not said that we lost the third world war because we fed the rest of the world too good.

Looking back over the history of the world I can only think that a lasting peace will never be had by signing a piece of paper with a country that has no compunction about lining innocent people against a wall and having them shot or throwing them in prison for the rest of their life, which in this case is usually short. I think that the only peace we will ever enjoy is the one we work and fight for every day of our lives.

I suppose the next thing we'll be doing is exporting cigars to Cuba.

Pros Think Goldwater, Rockefeller Will Both Pass Up State Primary

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Politicians with good pipelines are now reasonably sure that Gov. Rockefeller and Sen. Goldwater will pass up the Wisconsin presidential preference primary next spring.

Wyngaard

The New York governor, given the frail basis of his present stature as a major candidate, reportedly prefers to take his chances in districts where the climate is more favorable, or where he cannot avoid filing, including the nearby state of New Hampshire, and the state of Oregon, where his name will be listed by the election officials whether he approves or not. There is also a likelihood that he will take the plunge with a delegate slate in California, according to Wisconsin men who are watching the situation closely.

Goldwater's popularity has risen so rapidly during recent months that the campaign for his nomination, as it now appears, may turn into a romp. He is in the luxurious position of being required to do nothing more. All he needs to do is to meet Rockefeller's challenges, and as it now appears, he cannot be seriously hurt even if he loses one or two of the early primaries.

Thus as it now appears the Wisconsin situation in the spring will be made to order for the filing of a slate of Republican delegates under the name of Rep. John W. Byrnes of Green Bay.

This was the plan hatched many months ago by Wisconsin Republican politicians who appreciated realistically that a bruising, costly and divisive delegate fight here would not necessarily have any real importance in national politics, while it might well be fatal to the party in a year when it must devote every ounce of its strength to the campaign for a restoration of power in the state government.

If there are assurances, as it turns out later, that Goldwater and Rockefeller don't want especially to slug it out in Wisconsin, there will probably be no further obstacle to the Byrnes candidacy as a "favorite son," in the often inadequate language of politics.

Byrnes is a modest man, despite his distinguished career over two decades. He would not welcome the risk of appearing to have delusions about his stature under any other circumstances, it is reasonably sure. Nor would he accept the position of stalking horse for any other aspirant. As the declarations of the Republican county chairmen and the state party committee recently put it, however, he will apparently have an opportunity to provide a signal service to his party, while at the same time legitimately adding to his stature.

BYRNES RANK

Because he has been so sparing in his efforts at self-promotion, there is not yet a full appreciation in his home state of the rank and dignity of the Green Bay congressman in the national government. On the basis of his performance and his seniority, as well as his rank in the party, for example, he could be called a bigger man than Goldwater.

There are those in the party who already visualize a challenge of President Kennedy and the New Frontier through the instrument of the Byrnes candidacy on the ballot next spring. Byrnes, incidentally, also has more seniority in the Congress than had the president.

The Republican is the top spokesman of his party in the house of representatives. As such he could offer to debate the issues, fiscal and otherwise, before a Wisconsin forum which Mr. Kennedy perhaps could not gracefully deny, given his strategic triumph in his democratic primary here three years ago and the repeated declarations of his faith in the primary election while he was stumping this state then.

In such circumstances Wisconsin would be a natural test area for the Republicans as a whole, and the other national office aspirants, from Goldwater to Rockefeller to Romney and any others, could join in a unified campaign drive that would be a national event. Brought off successfully — in terms of a Republican vote majority — it might also land Byrnes a place on the ticket, as some of his friends are aware.

Coffee-House Lecture On Not Being a Square

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A man I know who prides himself on being "hip" was having coffee with me when another man entered the restaurant and nodded at my companion. The man I was with barely acknowledged his greeting.

Harris

"What's the matter, don't you like him?" I asked. The man shrugged. "I hardly know him," he said, "but he looks awfully square to me — the way he dresses and parts his hair, and those rimless eyeglasses. Man!"

"That's a strange attitude for you to take," I commented. "It seems to me that you're behaving just like the squares you detest."

"What do you mean?" he looked at me suspiciously. "How come?"

"Well," I said, "what you people most dislike about the squares is the fact that they pigeon-hole life, they compartmentalize everything and have smug easy answers to difficult questions. Right?"

"Right," he admitted, still gazing at me mistrustfully.

"If a square," I went on, "sees a man with a beard, he immediately classifies him as a 'beatnik.' If a square sees a person dressed a certain way, he allows that surface impression to influence his opinion and attitude, and doesn't even try to know what the individual himself is like. Right again?"

"Check," he said. "And so what?"

"And so this," I continued. "You're doing the very same thing, only with a reversed image. You see a man dressed a certain way and you immediately think of him as a 'button-down jerk.' You think in broad categories, too, rather than in terms of individuals. To you, anybody is a square who doesn't resemble you in dress, habits and mannerisms — even though such people may be only superficially conforming."

"That's bad enough, isn't it?" he asked.

"I don't think so," I said. "Some people don't want to waste their energy in rebelling about non-essentials. But if you get to know them, you may find that their minds are sharp and their characters are well developed. The whole point is — you can't really tell what anyone is like until you give him a chance, until you get to know him."

"But the percentage is against it," he muttered.

"The percentage is always against sharp minds and developed characters," I suggested. "This is true in any group, including the so-called hipsters, many of whom reject conventional society for weak, childish and neurotic reasons."

"I'll give you that," he conceded.

"Give me more," I asked. "Don't let yourself become a square-in-reverse. Keep open toward people, on you're no better than he is."

Algiers Radio Says Outposts Are Retaken

la and demanded the urgent intervention of the Addis Ababa Organization for African Unity. Ben Bella also sent two emissaries to King Hassan to make a new plea for negotiations.

Fighting first occurred in the area Oct. 4-8, when Algerian troops occupied the outposts French military maps show them on the Algerian side of the border, but Morocco contends they are on the Moroccan side of the Varnier Line, an early French border.

Nomadic desert tribes in the area claim allegiance to King Hassan and tried to obtain attachment to Morocco after Algeria became independent There are rich iron ore deposits to the southwest and oil is believed to be there also.

The area also is the only link between Morocco and the Mauritanian Republic, which Morocco claims.

The Moroccan army numbers some 60,000 men and is regarded as an efficient force. It is equipped with more and better weapons than the larger but less disciplined Algerian army, which recently has been plagued by a mutiny of Berber troops.

The declaration that American airmen were involved was denied in Rabat, Morocco, by Col. Thomas McClung of Leivasy, W.Va., chief of the U.S. Military Assistance group in Morocco. McClung said: "We haven't moved anybody."

Bases to be Returned

Three bases of the U.S. Strategic Air Command are in western Morocco at Benguerir, Nouasseur and Sidi Slimane — far removed from the combat zone. All three are to be turned back to Morocco by the end of 1963. U.S. combat planes have already been transferred elsewhere.

The fighting occurred in an area 300 miles across the Atlans Mountains from Marrakech, Morocco, where Mrs. John F. Kennedy is vacationing as the guest of King Hassan I. U. S. Ambassador John H. Ferguson said it would not curtail the American first lady's visit, which is expected to last until Wednesday or Thursday.

Report Counterattack

Informed sources in Rabat, Morocco, said the Algerians counterattacked last night with strong reinforcements, supported by observation planes. These sources said fighting continued this afternoon around the two outposts and in a rather large surrounding area.

The government - dominated press and radio of Algeria seemed to be making an effort to whip up popular enthusiasm for the undeclared war.

Navy Wants Warships To Have Nuclear Power

about as much power as the eight reactors that propel the Enterprise.

He also said that the new type engines could use atomic fuel with more than double the life expectancy of those used in the Enterprise's engines.

Navy studies that followed showed that the costs of installing atomic power plants were dropping and are expected to drop even more. The nuclear engines also are expected to improve in output of power and in simplicity

Estimates Cut

The prospects are so hopeful that atomic experts in the AEC and the Navy are giving serious thought to the practicality of mounting nuclear engines in fighting ships as small as 4,500-ton guided missile destroyers.

McNamara's experts reportedly have estimated it would cost another $180 million to build the next carrier with atomic power. The Navy's calculations arrived at a figure nearly $60 million lower.

The Navy is believed to want enough atomic vessels to make up several carrier task groups These would include, in addition to a carrier, a guided missile frigate and perhaps three guided missile destroyers.

Eventually, the Navy likely would want to use nuclear warships to escort the Giant Forrestal class supercarriers which are oil-powered and now make up the backbone of the Navy's air striking punch.

Fleet May be Reduced

Bound up in the whole question is the future size of the Navy's powerful carrier forces.

There have been strong hints that key defense officials are inclined to cut the Navy attack carrier fleet from 15 vessels to perhaps 13.

They reason that the advent of ltng range missiles and Polaris missile-firing submarines has reduced the former importance of the carrier as a strategic weapon and that the cost of maintaining the carrier strike forces at their present levels is not justified by the contribution they can make to fighting limited war.

The Navy challenges this view contending that for the foreseeable future there is no readily available, powerful enough force comparable to the carrier task group to apply wu.s. might in overcoming brush fire crises in far flung areas of the globe.

McNamara's Proposal

McNamara is reported to have proposed keeping the attack carrier force at 15 ships into 1970, then dropping one carrier a year for two years and leveling off at 13.

The Navy was said to have balked at going below 14 carriers until the shape of things to come is clearer.

There was some evidence that the Navy might be willing to space out its carrier program as a means of staying within the Pentagon's cost limits.

Instead of getting approval and money for a new conventional carrier every two years, as has been the pattern, the Navy might agree to a new nuclear carrier every three years.

Polaris Subs Active

The Navy now maintains three carriers in the Far East and two in the Mediterranean. There is a possibility that the Mediterranean carrier force may be cut in half because Polaris submarin now are operating there.

As the Navy sees it, the admittedly heavy initial cost of constructing a nuclear-powered fleet of various types would be compensated for over the long life—perhaps 25 years — anticipated for atomic ships.

The Navy thinks there is no comparison between the fighting advantages of a nuclear warship and an oil-driven craft.

Besides the Enterprise, the wunited States has two other nuclear powered surface ships—the cruiser Los Angeles and the frigate Truxtun, is being built. It was authorized several years ago.

Byrd and Gore Allege Pressure Tactics Used

Dillon, the first public witness, came prepared with facts and figures to stress a need for urgency in approving the bill this year.

Said Dillon, "It is essential to the well-being of the nation that every effort be made to complete action on this bill before the end of the current year . . . the nation has waited too long for relief from the stifling burden of excess taxes."

Byrd, the Virginia Democrat called by many "the watchdog of the Treasury," opposes a tax cut without balancing cuts in spending. He prefers to hold up action on the cut until the 1964 session to put pressure on Kennedy to put the brakes on the budget.

Dillon argued strongly against this

"The need for a major program of tax reduction and revision is pressing," he said. "I firmly believe that to delay its passage would incur serious economic risks."

The President says the tax cut would give families extra money to buy dishwashers or make a down payment on a new car, plants money to buy new equipment, and free more money for investment. This, he and his advisers say, will put the economy in high gear, and also bring in more taxes ultimately.

In his statement, packed with charts on what the reduction would do for taxpayers, Dillon said the bill as approved by the House will do the job with one exception—the treatment of capital gains.

"Because of the urgency of prompt action, I recommend that the committee eliminate the provisions of the bill dealing with capital gains," said Dillon.

Typical Cuts

His comments were in a prepared statement If the bill becomes fully effective, it would remove 1.5 million low-income families from the tax rolls, and mean cuts of $100 for four-person families earning $5,000 a year, $202 for a simular family with a $10,000 a year income, $1,004 for a $30,000 a year family, and $5,278 for a $100,000 family.

Passed By House

Administration officials want the tax cut to be passed and adding more money to take-home pay by January's checks There's deep concern among them that a delay in the Finance Committee will bury the tax cut for this year under the dust of the forthcoming Senate battle over civil rights legislation.

The House, after months of hearings, passed the measure Sept 25 The next day Dillon offered to testify for it before Byrd's committee

Byrd put off the secretary's appearance and instead held closed door hearings for 20 days

The capital gains section that Dillon urged be dropped is complicated and it could generate a time-consuming controversy

Dillon said the proposed reduced rates should not be put into effect unless provision is made for placing a tax on capital gains which are passed on from a parent to a son or daughter Such capital gains are now tax free

A capital gain is an increase in value in property such as real estate or stocks

Byrd has allotted four days this week for administration officials and has announced that public witnesses will be heard beginning Monday

He has not said how long the hearings will run or how many witnesses will be heard.
